Soft Coal Production Reported As Nearing Normal Stage Today

By TROY GORDON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—Soft coal production, needed to replenish depleted stockpiles thruout the United States, approached normal stage today as the remaining thousands of miners went back to the coal pits.

Thus, two days after the official end of the four-week soft coal strike, full crews of diggers are back in the nation's mines.

Call Back Employes

Railroads which had furloughed thousands of men were calling them back to work as coal cars sped from the mine fields to industrial, commercial and domestic consumers.

Steel mills were recharging furnaces and summoning laid off workers to return to their jobs.

Meanwhile, UMW President John L. Lewis is ready to go after the $1.30 a day increase for the 70,000 anthracite miners in eastern Pennsylvania.

The hard coal diggers have been on a three-day week since Dec. 5 negotiations with operators have failed to show progress.

Lewis To Take Charge

Lewis will take personal charge of the talks in Washington at 2 p. m. today. The chances are good that the anthracite operators will fall in line with the contract signed by the rest of the industry. Lewis turned to the anthracite miners problem after dramatically celebrating his victory in the 10-month battle for terms for the bituminous diggers.

Lewis Seeks Contract For Hard Coal Miners

By JOHN BOOTH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

Hard coal negotiations, transferred to Washington from New York at the request of Lewis' United Mine Workers Union, are to resume at 2 p. m., EST.

These wage talks cover about 78,000 mine workers—a small number compared with the 370,000 soft coal miners whose month-long strike was terminated by a new contract over the weekend.

Moreover, the hard coal diggers have not left the pits although they have been working only three days a week as ordered by Lewis last December.

Expect Agreement

The anthracite operators are expected to come to terms quickly now that a wage pattern has been set in the soft coal contract—a daily pay boost of 70 cents and an increase in contributions to the miners' welfare fund from 20 cents to 30 cents per ton.

Lewis Seeks Contract For Hard Coal Miners

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 7—John L. Lewis faces hard coal operators today in a drive to close the last small gap in a wage compact with the industry.

Hard coal negotiations, transferred to Washington from New York at the request of Lewis' United Mine Workers Union, are to resume at 2 p. m., EST.

These wage talks cover about 78,000 mine workers—a small number compared with the 370,000 soft coal miners whose month-long strike was terminated by a new contract over the weekend.

Moreover, the hard coal diggers have not left the pits although they have been working only three days a week as ordered by Lewis last December.

Expect Agreement

The anthracite operators are expected to come to terms quickly now that a wage pattern has been set in the soft coal contract—a daily pay boost of 70 cents and an increase in contributions to the miners' welfare fund from 20 cents to 30 cents per ton.

Washington observers expected the details to be wrapped up in two or three days and by the end of the week at the latest.

One source said both sides hope

On board the Arromanches, the state visitors were received by the Duke of Gloucester, representing King George VI, and French Ambassador Rene Massigli, who represented the British suite especially assigned to the president for the visit.

Will Seek Hundred Million Dollars For U.S. Aid To Korea

WASHINGTON, March 7—(INS)—State Secretary Acheson and Marshall Plan Chief Hoffman ask an economy-bent Congress today to add 100 million dollars to the Foreign-Aid Bill for terror-gripped Korea.

Senate Foreign Relations committeemen, before whom they will appear, may quiz Acheson on dispatches about Guerilla raids in South Korea in which police reportedly are slaughtered and peasants shot without trial.

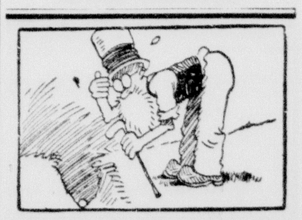

Congress recently approved—after the House reversed itself—a second 60 million dollars to bolster South Korea against Communist threats from the north. However, the aid was for the period ending June 30. The new request would be for the next fiscal year.

Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Connally (D) Tex., said the speech of King George before the British Parliament will make the Foreign Aid Bill easier to pass.

Large Crowd To Attend Dinner

Testimonial For Col. Rockwell At Cathedral Thursday

Between 700 and 800 diners will welcome Col. Willard F. Rockwell, March 9 in the Cathedral when a testimonial dinner will be held honoring the Pittsburgh industrialist.

At noon today the office of the Greater New Castle Association said the crowd would exceed 700 and might total 800 which will fill the Cathedral room comfortably. Reservations for the dinner rolled in all day Monday and it seems certain to be a fine success.

Arrive Thursday Morning

Col. Rockwell will arrive in New Castle Thursday morning and will be entertained at lunch by the directors of the Greater New Castle Association in The Castleton Hotel.

Between the conclusion of the lunch and four o'clock, he will inspect the industries in New Castle in which he is interested. These include the United Engineering and Foundry Company, the Standard Steel Spring Company and the Bossert Company. Because of the time limitations he may not get over all the properties.

Between four and six o'clock he will be entertained in The Castleton Hotel by the Standard Steel Spring Company and at six thirty the dinner in the Cathedral will start.

Dinner Program

The program for the dinner will be comparatively short. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, pastor of First Presbyterian church will invoke the blessing and Rev. Fr. Edwin Hoppel, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's church will deliver the benediction. Col. Rockwell will be presented to the crowd by Alex Crawford Hoyt, president of the First National Bank of Lawrence County and of the Union Trust Company of New Castle.

Special guests will be introduced and the only formal address of the evening will be that of Col. Rockwell.

The dinner is sponsored by the Greater New Castle Association and the Economic and Business Foundation with the various service clubs co-operating.

day filibuster punctuated by frequent fist-fights.

The anti-sabotage bill is designed to safeguard speedy delivery of American arms aid shipments to France by giving the government the power to jail Communist agitators.

The Paris transit strike was eased considerably today. All fifteen subway lines were reported operating in an almost normal fashion. The bus lines, however, were still strike-bound with only five regular lines running irregular schedules.

Emergency Buses

Three hundred emergency busses provided by the transport ministry also were in operation. All subway workers except those governed by the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor returned to their jobs.

The transport strike also spread to the provinces, crippling service in Marseille, Clermont-Ferrand, Mulhouse, Lille, Cannes and other cities.

Lille also was struck by the expanding textile strike and in Paris 1,500 additional airport workers quit work at Le Bourget, the capital's second airfield. A strike has been in progress at the Orly airport for several days.

Similar walkouts were threatened at Marseille and Toulouse.

The first sabotage report in the current strike wave came from St. Chamas where officials said they found heavy bolts in mixers at the state powder plant.

The mixers are used to process nitrate products. Officials said the bolts were discovered in time to avert what could have been "an extremely grave accident."

BIG THREE WILL PROBABLY HAVE SPRING MEETING

regarded as particularly important in France, where the government is regarded as shaky, and Britain, where the labor government has come in with a narrow margin of control.

In the U. S., various senators have urged another attempt to get agreement with Russia on effective control of atomic energy, the H-bomb, and a general reduction in armaments.

Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., has proposed that a new attempt to settle problems with Russia be made either by the Big Three, the North Atlantic Council or the United Nations. His proposals included one that the U. N. General Assembly meet in Moscow, with the proceedings broadcast universally.

Political Problems

The situation in the U. S. also involves political problems. The coming congressional elections have made the administration sensitive to popular demands.

However, the U. S. will be extremely cagey about any paper settsements with the Soviet Union. Acheson has repeatedly pointed out that agreement with the Soviets are futile until and unless there is some means of enforcing them.

While the State Department said that no agreement had been reached on the time or place, dispatches from London said it would be in that capital on April 12.

In Paris Foreign Minister Robert Schuman said that the situation in the Far East, particularly Indo-China, next threatened with the wildfire of communism, would be uppermost in the Big Three talks.

Also, he said, renewed discussions would be held on a German peace treaty which has been further complicated by the decision of the Big Three to give France Saar coal for the next 50 years.

absence of measures to end the housing shortage.

To the accompaniments of cheers, Churchill said:

"The Socialists no longer are able to ride roughshod over the other half of the country, or sweep away generations of toil in a second or boast 'we are masters now.'"

Rejects Coalition

In rejecting a Conservative-Laborite coalition, Churchill predicted that new elections "are not likely to end in parliamentary deadlock." He said the present situation—with the Laborites commending a majority of only seven seats in the House of Commons "is extremely detrimental to the country in this critical, dark and difficult time."

Churchill proposed that the government appoint a parliamentary committee to inquire into possibilities of electoral reform.

This was prompted by the extremely close balloting in the last election and which has left the Labor government with its extremely slim majority in the house.

CHURCH PLANS FOR EXPANSION

the new addition from the present building is planned.

In the basement plans are for a 28'x41' kitchen, ladies and gentlemen's rest rooms and a furnace room to be equipped with a gas or oil hot water furnace that will provide heat for the whole church.

Plan For Construction

Detail plans will be submitted to the State and when approved construction will begin.

Construction of the addition will be under the supervision of the Sub-committee on Construction consisting of Russel Kemp, chairman, George Wilson and John Meehan. The plans were drawn up by a sub-committee on plans with George Wilson, chairman, Russell Kemp, and John Meehan.

A finance-sub-committee with George Brown as chairman, is drawing up plans for financing further projects of building and remodeling as well as completing the financing of the present project. Other members of the General Building Committee which was elected by the congregation at their annual meeting on Jan. 8 are George Glasser, chairman, Marion Calvert Roy Mackey, Mrs. Sharp Johns, and Mrs. Jess Weingartner.

David Boyd opened the meeting and turned it over to Howard Rodgers, who introduced Lewis Dayton, Lawrence county farm agent, who was a special guest of the clubs; Fred Allen, visiting Rotarian from New Castle, and Gerald Newton, visiting Rotarian from Ellwood City.

After the introduction of the guests by the members the group moved to the main auditorium of the hall for the program.

Concert Choir

The choir, which is sponsored by the Ellwood City Kiwanis club, was accompanied to New Wilmington school by superintendent Ellis Bell.

It opened with "Beautiful Savior", followed by a novelty number, "Deaf Old Woman" and "The Lord's Prayer". A girl sextet from the choir sang "I'll See You In My Dreams" and "A Wonderful Guy".

The choir sang "You'll Never Walk Alone", "Dark Eyes" and concluded with a humorous number, "Country Style".

He said that the grange is opposed to farm subsidies because with subsidies wou have controls and controls lead to dictatorship. He gave the grange guideposts, talked about interest in voting and its importance to the people, and discussed farm legislation.

At the conclusion of Mr. Fullerton's talk, the meeting was closed by Howard Rodgers.

Pre-arranged Funerals

In recent years many people have found it a matter of commonsense to provide for funerals exactly as they provide insurance for other emergencies. Any individual may make such arrangements now and save his family untold difficulties at a time when they are least able to take on additional burdens. We will be pleased to explain our pre-arrangement plan at any time.

THIS PARTY WAS HONEST

Yes, we still feel that there are some honest people in New Castle. One of our lady tenants dropped her sweater in getting out of a car one night, in the street that goes past the side of our building. She put an advertisement in the paper that she had dropped this sweater. I am sorry to say I would have bet her several dollars that she never would see that sweater again, because it was a nice one. But behold the right party found it. An HONEST MAN came into my office as soon as he had read this Ad, stating that he had found this sweater, and didn't even want to take any reward the lady had offered. Then you say, "Isn't there still some honest people?"

Large Crowd To Attend Dinner

Testimonial For Col. Rockwell At Cathedral Thursday

Between 700 and 800 diners will welcome Col. Willard F. Rockwell, March 9 in the Cathedral when a testimonial dinner will be held honoring the Pittsburgh industrialist.

At noon today the office of the Greater New Castle Association said the crowd would exceed 700 and might total 800 which will fill the Cathedral room comfortably. Reservations for the dinner rolled in all day Monday and it seems certain to be a fine success.

Arrive Thursday Morning

Col. Rockwell will arrive in New Castle Thursday morning and will be entertained at lunch by the directors of the Greater New Castle Association in The Castleton Hotel.

Between the conclusion of the lunch and four o'clock, he will inspect the industries in New Castle in which he is interested. These include the United Engineering and Foundry Company, the Standard Steel Spring Company and the Bossert Company. Because of the time limitations he may not get over all the properties.

Between four and six o'clock he will be entertained in The Castleton Hotel by the Standard Steel Spring Company and at six thirty the dinner in the Cathedral will start.

Dinner Program

The program for the dinner will be comparatively short. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, pastor of First Presbyterian church will invoke the blessing and Rev. Fr. Edwin Hoppel, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's church will deliver the benediction. Col. Rockwell will be presented to the crowd by Alex Crawford Hoyt, president of the First National Bank of Lawrence County and of the Union Trust Company of New Castle.

Special guests will be introduced and the only formal address of the evening will be that of Col. Rockwell.

The dinner is sponsored by the Greater New Castle Association and the Economic and Business Foundation with the various service clubs co-operating.

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE MAKES BRITAIN VISIT

tendance. Lord Harris, vice-lieutenant for Kent, headed the welcome party on shore.

The king's color of the Chatham port division was paraded by seamen from the Chatham barracks. With men of the Queen's Own Royal West Kent regiment, they formed the guard of honor. The president inspected the guard before leaving for London by special train.

The Bank of Philadelphia, the first in the United States, was chartered March 1, 1780.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT IS BRACED FOR NEW STRIKES

day filibuster punctuated by frequent fist-fights.

The anti-sabotage bill is designed to safeguard speedy delivery of American arms aid shipments to France by giving the government the power to jail Communist agitators.

The Paris transit strike was eased considerably today. All fifteen subway lines were reported operating in an almost normal fashion. The bus lines, however, were still strike-bound with only five regular lines running irregular schedules.

Emergency Buses

Three hundred emergency busses provided by the transport ministry also were in operation. All subway workers except those governed by the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor returned to their jobs.

The transport strike also spread to the provinces, crippling service in Marseille, Clermont-Ferrand, Mulhouse, Lille, Cannes and other cities.

Lille also was struck by the expanding textile strike and in Paris 1,500 additional airport workers quit work at Le Bourget, the capital's second airfield. A strike has been in progress at the Orly airport for several days.

Similar walkouts were threatened at Marseille and Toulouse.

The first sabotage report in the current strike wave came from St. Chamas where officials said they found heavy bolts in mixers at the state powder plant.

The mixers are used to process nitrate products. Officials said the bolts were discovered in time to avert what could have been "an extremely grave accident."

DR. H. C. HARPER TAKEN BY DEATH

member of the staff of the Jameson Memorial Hospital.

Fraternal Affiliations

He was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, Valley of New Castle and the Zem Zem Temple, Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. He was one of the early members of Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, American Legion. Since coming to New Castle he had been a member of the First Methodist church.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Jennie McMaster Harper, a daughter, Mrs. Miriam Jacquish, and a brother-in-law, James D. McMasters, all of New Castle.

BIG THREE WILL PROBABLY HAVE SPRING MEETING

regarded as particularly important in France, where the government is regarded as shaky, and Britain, where the labor government has come in with a narrow margin of control.

In the U. S., various senators have urged another attempt to get agreement with Russia on effective control of atomic energy, the H-bomb, and a general reduction in armaments.

Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., has proposed that a new attempt to settle problems with Russia be made either by the Big Three, the North Atlantic Council or the United Nations. His proposals included one that the U. N. General Assembly meet in Moscow, with the proceedings broadcast universally.

Political Problems

The situation in the U. S. also involves political problems. The coming congressional elections have made the administration sensitive to popular demands.

However, the U. S. will be extremely cagey about any paper settsements with the Soviet Union. Acheson has repeatedly pointed out that agreement with the Soviets are futile until and unless there is some means of enforcing them.

While the State Department said that no agreement had been reached on the time or place, dispatches from London said it would be in that capital on April 12.

In Paris Foreign Minister Robert Schuman said that the situation in the Far East, particularly Indo-China, next threatened with the wildfire of communism, would be uppermost in the Big Three talks.

Also, he said, renewed discussions would be held on a German peace treaty which has been further complicated by the decision of the Big Three to give France Saar coal for the next 50 years.

CHURCHILL SAYS NO COALITION PLAN FAVORED

absence of measures to end the housing shortage.

To the accompaniments of cheers, Churchill said:

"The Socialists no longer are able to ride roughshod over the other half of the country, or sweep away generations of toil in a second or boast 'we are masters now.'"

Rejects Coalition

In rejecting a Conservative-Laborite coalition, Churchill predicted that new elections "are not likely to end in parliamentary deadlock." He said the present situation—with the Laborites commending a majority of only seven seats in the House of Commons "is extremely detrimental to the country in this critical, dark and difficult time."

Churchill proposed that the government appoint a parliamentary committee to inquire into possibilities of electoral reform.

This was prompted by the extremely close balloting in the last election and which has left the Labor government with its extremely slim majority in the house.

CHURCH PLANS FOR EXPANSION

the new addition from the present building is planned.

In the basement plans are for a 28'x41' kitchen, ladies and gentlemen's rest rooms and a furnace room to be equipped with a gas or oil hot water furnace that will provide heat for the whole church.

Plan For Construction

Detail plans will be submitted to the State and when approved construction will begin.

Construction of the addition will be under the supervision of the Sub-committee on Construction consisting of Russel Kemp, chairman, George Wilson and John Meehan. The plans were drawn up by a sub-committee on plans with George Wilson, chairman, Russell Kemp, and John Meehan.

A finance-sub-committee with George Brown as chairman, is drawing up plans for financing further projects of building and remodeling as well as completing the financing of the present project. Other members of the General Building Committee which was elected by the congregation at their annual meeting on Jan. 8 are George Glasser, chairman, Marion Calvert Roy Mackey, Mrs. Sharp Johns, and Mrs. Jess Weingartner.

Pre-arranged Funerals

In recent years many people have found it a matter of commonsense to provide for funerals exactly as they provide insurance for other emergencies. Any individual may make such arrangements now and save his family untold difficulties at a time when they are least able to take on additional burdens. We will be pleased to explain our pre-arrangement plan at any time.

THIS PARTY WAS HONEST

Yes, we still feel that there are some honest people in New Castle. One of our lady tenants dropped her sweater in getting out of a car one night, in the street that goes past the side of our building. She put an advertisement in the paper that she had dropped this sweater. I am sorry to say I would have bet her several dollars that she never would see that sweater again, because it was a nice one. But behold the right party found it. An HONEST MAN came into my office as soon as he had read this Ad, stating that he had found this sweater, and didn't even want to take any reward the lady had offered. Then you say, "Isn't there still some honest people?"

FAMILIES ARE LARGER

Well, there's been another survey. What would life be these days without surveys? And some of the information obtained is interesting, if not important.

The most recent effort concerns the size of the average American family. In recent years more than two children in a household was looked upon as unusual. This was especially true in cities, where most housing accommodations are small.

Now, according to the survey just mentioned, it is not uncommon for city families to have three, four, five or even more youngsters.

Doctors who sponsored the survey say they have no explanation for the change. They do say, however, that improved economic conditions resulting from the war should be given partial credit. A greater factor, they believe, is the establishment of homes by veterans, who are showing appreciation for a bountiful home life, after the terrors of war.

Larger families will bring new obligations. There must be more educational and recreational facilities and more hospitals. Markets for children's clothing will be increased. But more especially will society be enriched and life made more pleasant because of the change.

RUSSIA'S "WORD"

According to reports of an interview of President Truman by Arthur Krock, correspondent of the New York Times, the President declared that he has no hope the Russians will abide by any agreement which it would be good policy for the United States to seek. One might go further and say that Stalin will abide by no agreement-period.

It is good to know that President Truman has arrived at this conclusion about Communist Russia's good faith, although it would seem that the realization has dawned on his rather tardily.

Stalin has been violating agreements made with the United States ever since 1933. It was in that year President Roosevelt reversed the policy of President Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover and gave Communist Russia full recognition by the United States.

One part of the agreement made by Russia was that she would engage in no agitation or subversive work against the United States and that all "boring from within" would cease. That agreement was never kept and is not being kept now. The theft of atomic secrets by Klaus Fuchs, and other hostile acts bear eloquent evidence of this.

Stalin broke his agreement with all Western powers when he double-crossed Great Britain and France in 1939 and teamed up with his brother dictator Hitler.

But all of these evidences of lack of faith and integrity had little apparent effect on President Roosevelt or later on President Truman. They still looked upon the Russian Communist as an honest citizen. As a result agreements were entered into and concessions made to Stalin at Yalta and Teheran that have now given Russia possession of major parts of Asia and Europe and made Stalin the greatest menace to the rest of the world in modern history. And his agreements have not been kept.

So it would seem that it is about time the President should give up having faith in the Communsit Russian word. Let's hope it hasn't come too late.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION

Study of natural resources, mechanics, business practices, government, political science, geography and history helps children to prepare for life. All of these subjects are treated intelligently in textbooks. Yet there is much in this broad field that can be learned outside of the classroom.

Educators are eager to encourage study of these subjects through observation. Groups of school children are being given opportunities, with the aid of competent guides, to see for themselves what is back of the scenes. They are shown how resources are being used, how business is conducted, and how industries function.

School groups are frequently shown through manufacturing plants. Some are given the opportunity to see the courts and governing bodies in action, and also to visit historic shrines. It is reasonable to believe that each such tour, in addition to its cultural value, makes a lasting impression on the minds of the youngsters which will be helpful through life.

Aftermath Of British Election

The almost incredible permanence of British tradition in a world of change, mistrust and violence was brought home in striking fashion when Great Britain's new parliament assembled at Westminster on the Thames.

This initial session, destined to chart the difficult course of action that Prime Minister Clement Richard Attlee must follow in view of his scant election majority, was characteristic on every score.

Last week there was clamorous electioneering. Winston Churchill was moved in a moment of generosity to say that the campaign had been "sedate".

But in point of fact, many bitter words were exchanged and while there was no scandal there was a good deal of personal vilification. There had to be. Democratic election principles call for a certain amount of high blood-pressure.

Meticulous Decorum

But now, in the House of Lords where commons must sit until its own bombed-out chamber is rebuilt and reopened sometime this fall, everything was meticulous decorum and utmost politeness.

There were the mace-bearers and the bailiffs; attaches in brilliant uniforms; page-boys and lackeys to carry out minor but pleasing and colorful routines that date back centuries on end.

There was an almost back-breaking conformity to ritual and tradition that strangely enough grows in observation with the passing years rather than diminishes with them.

What made the colorful opening session interesting to case-hardened international observers was on the basis of last week's doings in the French national assembly.

There—in Paris—Communist deputies attempting to choke off American military material upon which the life of the country might depend in event of future conflict staged a gallic equivalent of a Donnybrook fair.

Rules Went By Boards

All parliamentary rules went by the board; fists were flung and feet kicked out, while broken noses and body injuries made hospital cases.

Those in the visitors' gallery and elsewhere in London's parliament could not help but recall that no fist had been arised in the House of Commons since some misguided zealot a few years ago tried to "steal the mace" from the government table and eventually was dismissed from sight as a harmless lunatic.

Prime Minister Attlee's cautious approach to his government's future problems as reflected in King George's speech is an epitome of how the British people as a whole have taken the election result in stride.

A survey of London newspapers and magazines received by air mail in the days immediately following the balloting displays an astonishing absence of sensationalism.

Unusual Aftermath

No conservation publication pronounced the labor government dead or doomed as a result of its slim victory.

No labor organ attempted to count the Conservatives out of politics because they failed to win themselves. The sole consensus as regards political "obituaries" was that if the Liberal party had stayed out of the race, either Laborites or Conservatives would have emerged with a comfortable working majority.

It is apparent that for the present at least, the British parliament, the British government and the British rank and file are going to proceed on the established principle that a government in power is just that—regardless of how few votes it may command on a crucial issue.

There was one Whig government a century or so ago that survived, functioned and legislated with a single House of Commons seat in its favor.

And when it finally was voted out of office this was done with a maximum of decorum and an absolute minimum of furore or vindictiveness.

A slowdown in British Socialization was inevitable since the initial election returns shot four Conservative candidates into office one after the other.

There will be no coalition or fusion of parties to achieve this aim—it simply will be an automatic, orderly process until the time comes for a new election a few months hence.

Spy sensations and political upsets notwithstanding, England seems determined to continue doing things in a quiet, methodical way. Nothing seems to change it, and apparently few persons want to.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SEE THAT CHILD GETS HIS MILK

The most essential single food is milk. No other food has such great nutritive value in comparison with its cost. The average person does not consume nearly enough milk. Most parents who know the dietary value of milk don't cultivate sufficient appetite for milk in the child and themselves to guarantee adequate consumption of milk. Most babies still on the bottle may choose sufficient milk, but may not thereafter. The conscientious mother may try to force milk into the child by commanding him to drink it and, before she knows it, she may nag this youngster so much and stir up such strong resistance in him to milk that he may, by and by, consume little or no milk at all in liquid form.

Then she may resort to giving him sweetened chocolate preparations of milk, feeling she is thus getting some milk into him. Fed this kind of milk for some while, this child may rarely or never choose pure milk thereafter. Besides the sugar in this milk may lessen the youngster's appetite for other desirable foods.

Liquid Milk

Or the mother may prepare all sorts of foods containing milk—again, better than no milk at all, she reasons. But if the child at two or ten chooses no plain liquid milk he hardly will consume nearly enough milk, in spite of the mother's skill at "smuggling" in milk through other foods. Moreover, she is going to an excessive amount of annoyance and trouble and the child knows she is. This moral effect on him hardly can be salutary.

Here are some suggestions for bringing up the child to enjoy liquid milk and choose to consume enough of it.

A Small Glass

1. You and Dad should choose to drink a small glass of milk at each meal for your own nutritive needs and for setting a good example to the child.

2. Unless you are sure the child 2, 6 or 10 will choose to drink enough milk at each meal, serve him a very small portion of milk, nothing else, at the beginning of each meal, with the understanding that he shall have no other food until this small portion of milk is consumed. Say not a word, show no concern that he shall drink the milk. Merely hold to this simple rule announced clearly just once.

Be sure the amount offered the child at first is very small—half a glass, quarter of a glass, or even less—depending on his obvious lack of appetite for milk. The main thing is that he shall learn to conform to the program. Don't be in haste to increase the size of serving probably after one or several weeks. If you can manage yourself well he soon will be begging for a larger serving, when you should seem to be a bit stingy.

If he should hold out long, just tell him he may leave the table if he likes without drinking the milk. But be sure he can have no other food (and certainly no sweets) before the next regular mealtime. Unless you can control matters here and your own emotions you will fail. Some parents who have got so wrought up over various eating problems might do well to wait a week or two until they have themselves under control, not saying a word to the child about food in the meanwhile, before beginning the proposed plan.

THERAPEUTIC DIET

A therapeutic diet is a tasteless
thing at best,
Comprising bits of nourishment
that easily digest.
The nicest thing about it, doesn't wear a hood of tin.
It's that tender look of pity on the nurse who brings it in.

And there's never any fragrance in
a therapeutic dish,
And there isn't any flavor left in a
therapeutic fish,
I am certain that's the reason why
the nurse who brings the tray
Drops it quickly on the table and then hurries on her way.

Those gleaming metal covers, I've decided, are to hide
The therapeutic chicken which is finely ground and dried.
"What would you like for dinner," asks the dietitian wise.
If you answer: "Filet mignon," she'll have tear drops in her eyes.

On a therapeutic diet I'd unhappy
be to live.
I don't like peas and carrots when they're pounded through a sieve.
Like the thin broth that's permitted, I'd grow thinner day by day.
For there's nothing less enticing
than a therapeutic tray.

Dogs Of Yesteryear?

By HENRY McLEMORE

Where are the dogs of yesteryear?

I mean those pooches who didn't know the difference between a veterinarian and an investment banker but who managed to live to a ripe old age.

The dogs of today are as sensitive as a spinster at a wedding, and spend so much time at the "vet's" that many of them know how to use a stethoscope and take their own temperature.

When I was a youngster the back yard was always filled with a "passel" of dogs, and there were always two or three sleeping in the shade of the front steps. If there were any "vets" operating in the neighborhood none of us knew about it, and yet our dogs usually died of old age at a good old age. And most of them hunted right up to the end, ranging the fields and scrub for quail and rabbit.

Those Dogs Of Yesteryear

They ate—those dogs of yesteryear—table scraps and what they could forage on their wanderings about town. But the dogs of today have to have a diet that is as carefully supervised as that of Bonnie Prince Charlie of England. Their food must contain all the vitamins in the alphabet, cod liver oil, garlic, and various other items to keep them from falling apart at the seams. Let them have nothing but the food left from dining room tables and they would go into a decline within a week.

And the clothes they wear! Yes, clothes. There are thousands of dogs in the U. S. with wardrobes as extensive as those of movie queens or international playboys. Heavy sweaters for cold weather, light panties and jackets for weather less bracing, and boots to protect their feet against rain, slush and ice.

And their food must be served from specially-designed platters to prevent them from getting their ears greasy or their muzzles untidy. I have read ads, so help me, for jeweled clips for the ears of floppy-eared types such as the cocker, the bloodhound, and the setter.

Spend Time At "Vets's"

My own dogs, Dinah and Bumble, spend so much time at the "vet's" that they have acquired quite a good bedside manner, and when they find the "vet' out on a call they treat themselves. They both have become terrible hypochondriacs, and looking through their pen the other day I found a shelf-ful of medicine they had purchased with their bone allowance.

What has caused this change in dogs? My guess is that the high-pressure life of the modern-day world has gotten them down. Loving their masters so much they have taken it upon themselves to fret about the taxes their masters have to pay, the danger offered by the A-and-H-Bombs, the never-ending speed of business life.

One of these nights I am going to eavesdrop outside the pen and listen to what Dinah and Bumble talk about. Ill be sure to let all you dog lovers and dog owners know what I hear.

There is a chance that by not letting them listen to the radio or look at television and taking away thtir newspapers we will be able to reutrn the dog to his former sturdy state.

THE GENERAL WELFARE

The people of this country, in considering their general welfare, should be warned against putting all their eggs in one basket. If we place all our hopes for general welfare in any one human agency, be it government, industry, social service organization, or the individual, a break down of that agency would bring disaster to all our hopes.

If we apportion all our hopes to each agency according to its ability to realize our hopes—not placing in organizations hopes that only individuals can realize, and not placing in the state hopes that voluntary organizations economic and social, can realize, we shall have a society in which each organization is an implement of, no organization a substitute for, the organism which is the community.

And the state, as a substitute, by making all members dependent on it for their welfare, robs them of the liberty without which there can be no sense of obligation.

In The Name Of Peace

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—Not often in this sophisticated town do you see idealism score a clean win over worldliness and boredom—but this happened the other day on Capitol Hill, and it was a moving experience.

Into Room 1501 of the new House Office Buildings came a small group of pilgrims from West Virginia. They were in Washington to testify for a seemingly hopeless proposal (H. R. 4005) to create a new seat in the President's Cabinet—the Department of Peace.

Right away you sensed an atmosphere of polite ennui among the members of the subcommittee on Expenditures in the Executive Department which was conducting the hearing. After all, such proposals are a dime a dozen these days. Idealists are always oversimplifying world problms and suggesting that "there ought to be a law." They're always criticizing the existing set-up and the incumbent officials, always advising Congress that a change of method and personnel would sweep away the evils of our time. To idealists, the solution to cosmic troubles is as simple as that.

Begin Familiar Refrain

Well, this group began to chant the familiar refrain. Its leader was R. M. Davis, a Morgantown, (W. Va.) coal merchant, and he talked for 20-some-minutes in the tired monotone of an elderly man. What the country needed, said Davis, was this Department of Peace with the sole duty of staving off a World War III.

The subcommittee, chaired by Rep. Lanham (D., Ga.) was not impressed. The questioning of Davis showed that the committeemen had heard all this before. Why a new department? Why increase bureaucracy when the Hoover Commission was trying to decrease it? Didn't the Voice of America express our will to peace? Didn't UNESCO (the United Nations' Educational, Social and Cultural Organization) do everything possible to spread good will among nations? But Davis refused to be shaken. There was no substitute for a Peace Department, he replied. And as he left the witness chair, he said solemnly:

"I will never give up as long as I live."

Paid Close Attention

This quiet determination had its effect. The committee paid closer attention to the three pilgrims who'd accompanied Davis up from Morgantown—an ex-Congressman, a professor of political economy, a Methodist minister. A fourth West Virginian, Rep. Staggers who had introduced the bill, was there as an additional witness. As these four testified, the idea of a Peace Department began to crystallize. Melvin C. Snyder, the ex-Congressman who wore a Pure Heart emblem in his buttonhole, said that the people who fought wars were sick of doing so. The Peace Department, as he conceived it, would represent the ordinary people of the world, not their political leaders. Karl Frasure, the professor, said that the Peace Department should properly handle all such peace-promoting agencies as the Voice, UNESCO, the Fulbright fellowships and even the National Science Foundation. T. Leroy Hooper, the minister, emphasized the need to train young leaders in the cause of peace, something which the past and present generations had badly bungled. Rep. Staggers pointed out that every nation had its War Department, none had a Peace Department, and that the emphasis should be changed.

Atmosphere of Boredom Clears

Slowly, almost imperceptibly, the atmosphere of boredom and can't-be-done worldliness had cleared away. These pilgrims had a solid idea. Why, after all, should peace be a mere by-product of government? The State Department's real purpose was diplomacy, passports, commercial treaties and overseas politics. Peace-keeping was incidental. Nowhere in this multi-billion dollar Federal establishment was there an agency with the sole, 24-hour duty of exploring and exploiting the means of preserving peace.

Then Chairman Lanham noticed the presence of some unusually interested spectators. Coming in late, a group of college boys and co-eds had been listening with rapt attention while their elders discussed thse hopes of world survival.

"We're glad to have you with us," said Lanham in a strangely self-conscious voice.

Then something happened which I never saw before at a Congressional hearing. Somebody suggested a prayer. We all stood up and the Rev. Hooper prayed that these deliberations would bear fruit in the mercy of God.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

You are probably more interested in trying to interpret your own dreams than in reading about mine.

But I must tell you about the dream I had last night.

I was standing outdoors, ready to go for a walk.

But everything was different from the way it had been before.

There wasn't a house anywhere in sight. My own house was gone. The one across the road was gone. To the right of me, to the left of me—all gone.

I walked a way to discuss this strange phenomenon with the neighbors.

There were on neighbors. No automobiles anywhere. Not a sign of human life, of human presence.

I was going to go inside and phone the police to inquire what had happened.

But there was no inside—because there was no house. And naturally there was no telephone.

However, the birds were still flying and singing their song. The trees were still there and the shrubs, and the blue sky and the good earth.

Just no human beings and not one thing that the human being had ever done.

Only the things that Nature had wrought.

Then there was a lapse in my dream.

Next thing I remember, I was in a great hall. All marble and gold and silver, inlaid with precious stones, tapestried with beautiful draperies.

Over the portal of the magnificent structure these words were cut into the stone: "HALL OF THE PAST."

Strolling about in this hall were all sorts of strange people dressed in all kinds of clothes, such as we have seen in the pictures of many books describing all the different periods of Civilization.

There were white men and black men, yellow men, red men and brown men. With them were their women, likewise of many types, colors and racial characteristics.

One of the men came up to me and held out his hand.

"You are a stranger here, I see," he said. "Allow me to introduce myself.

"My name is Socrates. I lived in Greece around 400 B. C. I was a philosopher and brought into being the idea that government should aim to make it possible to live the best sort of life. But from what I understand, I have not been very successful."

Then he took me around and introduced me to a number of others. Most of them had lived long before him. Many had been famous. Many had gone down into history.

I met a man who lived in 25,000 B. C. and who told me that in his time the needle was invented and people began to make clothes.

I met a chap who said that in 2500 B. C. in his country, Babylonia, they had bookkeepers and clerks and capitalists who lent out money at twenty per cent interest.

Another fellow told me that 'way back in 6000 B. C. they were building brick houses in the Euphrates Valley.

The alarm clock rang. I got up. I went out for my morning paper. On the front page there was another one ow those speeches about our great civilization, our great progress, our great modern age, our great "WE."

---

And I wondered how great "WE" will be considered five thousand years from today.

FAMILIES ARE LARGER

Well, there's been another survey. What would life be these days without surveys? And some of the information obtained is interesting, if not important.

The most recent effort concerns the size of the average American family. In recent years more than two children in a household was looked upon as unusual. This was especially true in cities, where most housing accommodations are small.

Now, according to the survey just mentioned, it is not uncommon for city families to have three, four, five or even more youngsters.

Doctors who sponsored the survey say they have no explanation for the change. They do say, however, that improved economic conditions resulting from the war should be given partial credit. A greater factor, they believe, is the establishment of homes by veterans, who are showing appreciation for a bountiful home life, after the terrors of war.

Larger families will bring new obligations. There must be more educational and recreational facilities and more hospitals. Markets for children's clothing will be increased. But more especially will society be enriched and life made more pleasant because of the change.

RUSSIA'S "WORD"

According to reports of an interview of President Truman by Arthur Krock, correspondent of the New York Times, the President declared that he has no hope the Russians will abide by any agreement which it would be good policy for the United States to seek. One might go further and say that Stalin will abide by no agreement-period.

It is good to know that President Truman has arrived at this conclusion about Communist Russia's good faith, although it would seem that the realization has dawned on his rather tardily.

Stalin has been violating agreements made with the United States ever since 1933. It was in that year President Roosevelt reversed the policy of President Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover and gave Communist Russia full recognition by the United States.

One part of the agreement made by Russia was that she would engage in no agitation or subversive work against the United States and that all "boring from within" would cease. That agreement was never kept and is not being kept now. The theft of atomic secrets by Klaus Fuchs, and other hostile acts bear eloquent evidence of this.

Stalin broke his agreement with all Western powers when he double-crossed Great Britain and France in 1939 and teamed up with his brother dictator Hitler.

But all of these evidences of lack of faith and integrity had little apparent effect on President Roosevelt or later on President Truman. They still looked upon the Russian Communist as an honest citizen. As a result agreements were entered into and concessions made to Stalin at Yalta and Teheran that have now given Russia possession of major parts of Asia and Europe and made Stalin the greatest menace to the rest of the world in modern history. And his agreements have not been kept.

So it would seem that it is about time the President should give up having faith in the Communsit Russian word. Let's hope it hasn't come too late.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION

Study of natural resources, mechanics, business practices, government, political science, geography and history helps children to prepare for life. All of these subjects are treated intelligently in textbooks. Yet there is much in this broad field that can be learned outside of the classroom.

Educators are eager to encourage study of these subjects through observation. Groups of school children are being given opportunities, with the aid of competent guides, to see for themselves what is back of the scenes. They are shown how resources are being used, how business is conducted, and how industries function.

School groups are frequently shown through manufacturing plants. Some are given the opportunity to see the courts and governing bodies in action, and also to visit historic shrines. It is reasonable to believe that each such tour, in addition to its cultural value, makes a lasting impression on the minds of the youngsters which will be helpful through life.

Aftermath Of British Election

The almost incredible permanence of British tradition in a world of change, mistrust and violence was brought home in striking fashion when Great Britain's new parliament assembled at Westminster on the Thames.

This initial session, destined to chart the difficult course of action that Prime Minister Clement Richard Attlee must follow in view of his scant election majority, was characteristic on every score.

Last week there was clamorous electioneering. Winston Churchill was moved in a moment of generosity to say that the campaign had been "sedate".

But in point of fact, many bitter words were exchanged and while there was no scandal there was a good deal of personal vilification. There had to be. Democratic election principles call for a certain amount of high blood-pressure.

Meticulous Decorum

But now, in the House of Lords where commons must sit until its own bombed-out chamber is rebuilt and reopened sometime this fall, everything was meticulous decorum and utmost politeness.

There were the mace-bearers and the bailiffs; attaches in brilliant uniforms; page-boys and lackeys to carry out minor but pleasing and colorful routines that date back centuries on end.

There was an almost back-breaking conformity to ritual and tradition that strangely enough grows in observation with the passing years rather than diminishes with them.

What made the colorful opening session interesting to case-hardened international observers was on the basis of last week's doings in the French national assembly.

There—in Paris—Communist deputies attempting to choke off American military material upon which the life of the country might depend in event of future conflict staged a gallic equivalent of a Donnybrook fair.

Rules Went By Boards

All parliamentary rules went by the board; fists were flung and feet kicked out, while broken noses and body injuries made hospital cases.

Those in the visitors' gallery and elsewhere in London's parliament could not help but recall that no fist had been arised in the House of Commons since some misguided zealot a few years ago tried to "steal the mace" from the government table and eventually was dismissed from sight as a harmless lunatic.

Prime Minister Attlee's cautious approach to his government's future problems as reflected in King George's speech is an epitome of how the British people as a whole have taken the election result in stride.

A survey of London newspapers and magazines received by air mail in the days immediately following the balloting displays an astonishing absence of sensationalism.

Unusual Aftermath

No conservation publication pronounced the labor government dead or doomed as a result of its slim victory.

No labor organ attempted to count the Conservatives out of politics because they failed to win themselves. The sole consensus as regards political "obituaries" was that if the Liberal party had stayed out of the race, either Laborites or Conservatives would have emerged with a comfortable working majority.

It is apparent that for the present at least, the British parliament, the British government and the British rank and file are going to proceed on the established principle that a government in power is just that—regardless of how few votes it may command on a crucial issue.

There was one Whig government a century or so ago that survived, functioned and legislated with a single House of Commons seat in its favor.

And when it finally was voted out of office this was done with a maximum of decorum and an absolute minimum of furore or vindictiveness.

A slowdown in British Socialization was inevitable since the initial election returns shot four Conservative candidates into office one after the other.

There will be no coalition or fusion of parties to achieve this aim—it simply will be an automatic, orderly process until the time comes for a new election a few months hence.

Spy sensations and political upsets notwithstanding, England seems determined to continue doing things in a quiet, methodical way. Nothing seems to change it, and apparently few persons want to.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SEE THAT CHILD GETS HIS MILK

The most essential single food is milk. No other food has such great nutritive value in comparison with its cost. The average person does not consume nearly enough milk. Most parents who know the dietary value of milk don't cultivate sufficient appetite for milk in the child and themselves to guarantee adequate consumption of milk. Most babies still on the bottle may choose sufficient milk, but may not thereafter. The conscientious mother may try to force milk into the child by commanding him to drink it and, before she knows it, she may nag this youngster so much and stir up such strong resistance in him to milk that he may, by and by, consume little or no milk at all in liquid form.

Then she may resort to giving him sweetened chocolate preparations of milk, feeling she is thus getting some milk into him. Fed this kind of milk for some while, this child may rarely or never choose pure milk thereafter. Besides the sugar in this milk may lessen the youngster's appetite for other desirable foods.

Liquid Milk

Or the mother may prepare all sorts of foods containing milk—again, better than no milk at all, she reasons. But if the child at two or ten chooses no plain liquid milk he hardly will consume nearly enough milk, in spite of the mother's skill at "smuggling" in milk through other foods. Moreover, she is going to an excessive amount of annoyance and trouble and the child knows she is. This moral effect on him hardly can be salutary.

Here are some suggestions for bringing up the child to enjoy liquid milk and choose to consume enough of it.

A Small Glass

1. You and Dad should choose to drink a small glass of milk at each meal for your own nutritive needs and for setting a good example to the child.

2. Unless you are sure the child 2, 6 or 10 will choose to drink enough milk at each meal, serve him a very small portion of milk, nothing else, at the beginning of each meal, with the understanding that he shall have no other food until this small portion of milk is consumed. Say not a word, show no concern that he shall drink the milk. Merely hold to this simple rule announced clearly just once.

Be sure the amount offered the child at first is very small—half a glass, quarter of a glass, or even less—depending on his obvious lack of appetite for milk. The main thing is that he shall learn to conform to the program. Don't be in haste to increase the size of serving probably after one or several weeks. If you can manage yourself well he soon will be begging for a larger serving, when you should seem to be a bit stingy.

If he should hold out long, just tell him he may leave the table if he likes without drinking the milk. But be sure he can have no other food (and certainly no sweets) before the next regular mealtime. Unless you can control matters here and your own emotions you will fail. Some parents who have got so wrought up over various eating problems might do well to wait a week or two until they have themselves under control, not saying a word to the child about food in the meanwhile, before beginning the proposed plan.

THERAPEUTIC DIET

A therapeutic diet is a tasteless
thing at best,
Comprising bits of nourishment
that easily digest.
The nicest thing about it, doesn't
wear a hood of tin.
It's that tender look of pity on the nurse who brings it in.

And there's never any fragrance in
a therapeutic dish,
And there isn't any flavor left in a
therapeutic fish.
I am certain that's the reason why
the nurse who brings the tray
Drops it quickly on the table and then hurries on her way.

Those gleaming metal covers, I've decided, are to hide
The therapeutic chicken which is finely ground and dried.
"What would you like for dinner," asks the dietitian wise.
If you answer: "Filet mignon," she'll have tear drops in her eyes.

On a therapeutic diet I'd unhappy
be to live.
I don't like peas and carrots when they're pounded through a
sieve.
Like the thin broth that's permitted, I'd grow thinner day by day.
than a therapeutic tray.

NEW BLOOD IN THE OIL BUSINESS

Dogs Of Yesteryear?

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

Where are the dogs of yesteryear?

I mean those pooches who didn't know the difference between a veterinarian and an investment banker but who managed to live to a ripe old age.

The dogs of today are as sensitive as a spinster at a wedding, and spend so much time at the "vet's" that many of them know how to use a stethoscope and take their own temperature.

When I was a youngster the back yard was always filled with a "passel" of dogs, and there were always two or three sleeping in the shade of the front steps. If there were any "vets" operating in the neighborhood none of us knew about it, and yet our dogs usually died of old age at a good old age. And most of them hunted right up to the end, ranging the fields and scrub for quail and rabbit.

Those Dogs Of Yesteryear

They ate—those dogs of yesteryear—table scraps and what they could forage on their wanderings about town. But the dogs of today have to have a diet that is as carefully supervised as that of Bonnie Prince Charlie of England. Their food must contain all the vitamins in the alphabet, cod liver oil, garlic, and various other items to keep them from falling apart at the seams. Let them have nothing but the food left from dining room tables and they would go into a decline within a week.

And the clothes they wear! Yes, clothes. There are thousands of dogs in the U. S. with wardrobes as extensive as those of movie queens or international playboys. Heavy sweaters for cold weather, light panties and jackets for weather less bracing, and boots to protect their feet against rain, slush and ice.

And their food must be served from specially-designed platters to prevent them from getting their ears greasy or their muzzles untidy. I have read ads, so help me, for jeweled clips for the ears of floppy-eared types such as the cocker, the bloodhound, and the setter.

Spend Time At "Vets's"

My own dogs, Dinah and Bumble, spend so much time at the "vet's" that they have acquired quite a good bedside manner, and when they find the "vet' out on a call they treat themselves. They both have become terrible hypochondriacs, and looking through their pen the other day I found a shelfful of medicine they had purchased with their bone allowance.

What has caused this change in dogs? My guess is that the high-pressure life of the modern-day world has gotten them down. Loving their masters so much they have taken it upon themselves to fret about the taxes their masters have to pay, the danger offered by the A-and-H-Bombs, the never-ending speed of business life.

One of these nights I am going to eavesdrop outside the pen and listen to what Dinah and Bumble talk about. Ill be sure to let all you dog lovers and dog owners know what I hear.

There is a chance that by not letting them listen to the radio or look at television and taking away thtir newspapers we will be able to reutrn the dog to his former sturdy state.

THE GENERAL WELFARE

The people of this country, in considering their general welfare, should be warned against putting all their eggs in one basket. If we place all our hopes for general welfare in any one human agency, be it government, industry, social service organization, or the individual, a break down of that agency would bring disaster to all our hopes.

If we apportion all our hopes to each agency according to its ability to realize our hopes—not placing in organizations hopes that only individuals can realize, and not placing in the state hopes that voluntary organizations economic and social, can realize, we shall have a society in which each organization is an implement of, no organization a substitute for, the organism which is the community.

And the state, as a substitute, by making all members dependent on it for their welfare, robs them of the liberty without which there can be no sense of obligation.

In The Name Of Peace

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—Not often in this sophisticated town do you see idealism score a clean win over worldliness and boredom—but this happened the other day on Capitol Hill, and it was a moving experience.

Into Room 1501 of the new House Office Buildings came a small group of pilgrims from West Virginia. They were in Washington to testify for a seemingly hopeless proposal (H. R. 4005) to create a new seat in the President's Cabinet—the Department of Peace.

Right away you sensed an atmosphere of polite ennui among the members of the subcommittee on Expenditures in the Executive Department which was conducting the hearing. After all, such proposals are a dime a dozen these days. Idealists are always oversimplifying world problms and suggesting that "there ought to be a law." They're always criticizing the existing set-up and the incumbent officials, always advising Congress that a change of method and personnel would sweep away the evils of our time. To idealists, the solution to cosmic troubles is as simple as that.

Begin Familiar Refrain

Well, this group began to chant the familiar refrain. Its leader was R. M. Davis, a Morgantown, (W. Va.) coal merchant, and he talked for 20-some-minutes in the tired monotone of an elderly man. What the country needed, said Davis, was this Department of Peace with the sole duty of staving off a World War III.

The subcommittee, chaired by Rep. Lanham (D., Ga.) was not impressed. The questioning of Davis showed that the committeemen had heard all this before. Why a new department? Why increase bureaucracy when the Hoover Commission was trying to decrease it? Didn't the Voice of America express our will to peace? Didn't UNESCO (the United Nations' Educational, Social and Cultural Organization) do everything possible to spread good will among nations? But Davis refused to be shaken. There was no substitute for a Peace Department, he replied. And as he left the witness chair, he said solemnly:

"I will never give up as long as I live."

Paid Close Attention

This quiet determination had its effect. The committee paid closer attention to the three pilgrims who'd accompanied Davis up from Morgantown—an ex-Congressman, a professor of political economy, a Methodist minister. A fourth West Virginian, Rep. Staggers who had introduced the bill, was there as an additional witness. As these four testified, the idea of a Peace Department began to crystallize. Melvin C. Snyder, the ex-Congressman who wore a Pure Heart emblem in his buttonhole, said that the people who fought wars were sick of doing so. The Peace Department, as he conceived it, would represent the ordinary people of the world, not their political leaders. Karl Frasure, the professor, said that the Peace Department should properly handle all such peace-promoting agencies as the Voice, UNESCO, the Fulbright fellowships and even the National Science Foundation. T. Leroy Hooper, the minister, emphasized the need to train young leaders in the cause of peace, something which the past and present generations had badly bungled. Rep. Staggers pointed out that every nation had its War Department, none had a Peace Department, and that the emphasis should be changed.

Atmosphere of Boredom Clears

Slowly, almost imperceptibly, the atmosphere of boredom and can't-be-done worldliness had cleared away. These pilgrims had a solid idea. Why, after all, should peace be a mere by-product of government? The State Department's real purpose was diplomacy, passports, commercial treaties and overseas politics. Peace-keeping was incidental. Nowhere in this multi-billion dollar Federal establishment was there an agency with the sole, 24-hour duty of exploring and exploiting the means of preserving peace.

Then Chairman Lanham noticed the presence of some unusually interested spectators. Coming in late, a group of college boys and co-eds had been listening with rapt attention while their elders discussed thse hopes of world survival.

"We're glad to have you with us," said Lanham in a strangely self-conscious voice.

Then something happened which I never saw before at a Congressional hearing. Somebody suggested a prayer. We all stood up and the Rev. Hooper prayed that these deliberations would bear fruit in the mercy of God.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

You are probably more interested in trying to interpret your own dreams than in reading about mine.

But I must tell you about the dream I had last night.

I was standing outdoors, ready to go for a walk.

But everything was different from the way it had been before.

There wasn't a house anywhere in sight. My own house was gone. The one across the road was gone. To the right of me, to the left of me—all gone.

I walked a way to discuss this strange phenomenon with the neighbors.

There were on neighbors. No automobiles anywhere. Not a sign of human life, of human presence.

I was going to go inside and phone the police to inquire what had happened.

But there was no inside—because there was no house. And naturally there was no telephone.

However, the birds were still flying and singing their song. The trees were still there and the shrubs, and the blue sky and the good earth.

Just no human beings and not one thing that the human being had ever done.

Only the things that Nature had wrought.

Then there was a lapse in my dream.

Next thing I remember, I was in a great hall. All marble and gold and silver, inlaid with precious stones, tapestried with beautiful draperies.

Over the portal of the magnificent structure these words were cut into the stone: "HALL OF THE PAST."

Strolling about in this hall were all sorts of strange people dressed in all kinds of clothes, such as we have seen in the pictures of many books describing all the different periods of Civilization.

There were white men and black men, yellow men, red men and brown men. With them were their women, likewise of many types, colors and racial characteristics.

One of the men came up to me and held out his hand.

"You are a stranger here, I see," he said. "Allow me to introduce myself.

"My name is Socrates. I lived in Greece around 400 B. C. I was a philosopher and brought into being the idea that government should aim to make it possible to live the best sort of life. But from what I understand, I have not been very successful."

Then he took me around and introduced me to a number of others. Most of them had lived long before him. Many had been famous. Many had gone down into history.

I met a man who lived in 25,000 B. C. and who told me that in his time the needle was invented and people began to make clothes.

I met a chap who said that in 2500 B. C. in his country, Babylonia, they had bookkeepers and clerks and capitalists who lent out money at twenty per cent interest.

Another fellow told me that 'way back in 6000 B. C. they were building brick houses in the Euphrates Valley.

The alarm clock rang. I got up. I went out for my morning paper. On the front page there was another one ow those speeches about our great civilization, our great progress, our great modern age, our great "WE."

---

And I wondered how great "WE" will be considered five thousand years from today.

Seek To Control World Illicit Drug Traffic

By FELIX COTTEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 7—An unprecedented world control plan aimed at strangling illicit drug traffic was reported today to be near approval.

U. S. Narcotics Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger said he understands that Soviet Russia "has no objection" to the plan, already agreed upon by major drug producing countries.

Anslinger predicted that the program will be approved and set up by the United Nations economic and social council after its commission on narcotics studies the control plan at Lake Success, N. Y., next April 10.

Limit Opium Production

The program would exert one of its chief effects on illicit drug trade by limiting opium production to a legal believed necessary only for the world's medical needs.

Anslinger said the main source of the world's illicit drug supply now stems from over-production of opium by major producing countries, chiefly Iran and Turkey.

He explained that the control plan would reduce world opium output about 50 per cent—from the present level of about 1,000 tons to only 500 tons a year. Anslinger added:

"With the plan in effect, only the illicit production would get into the drug traffic. It would be up to each producing country to suppress this output."

Meanwhile, the government reported that it has checked a serious upswing in cocaine smuggling but warned that marihuana continues as the nation's number one illicit dope problem.

The treasury department also said that the number of arrests for narcotics and marihuana violations increased more than 35 per cent last year.

Total fire damage during the month of February was the heaviest in many years, due to the two big fires in the Dean Block and then Clendenin Building, total fire damage being estimated at $185,735 by Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink.

A total of 36 alarms were answered during the month, of which 17 were still alarms, six for grass fires, and five for auto fires. There was only one false alarm sounded during the month.

A total of 11,300 feet for two and a half inch hose was used, along with 800 feet of one and a half inch hose and 100 feet of one inch hose. There was also 201 feet of ladders used in fighting these blazes.

Valuation of buildings involved was $362,400 and contents, $279,000. The damage to buildings being placed at $102,645; and to the contents, $83,075. Fires involved one manufacturing establishment, four mercantile buildings; 15 dwellings, one club, one church, and one hotel. Auto fire damaged accounted for $15 of the loss.

Seek To Control World Illicit Drug Traffic

By FELIX COTTEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 7—An unprecedented world control plan aimed at strangling illicit drug traffic was reported today to be near approval.

U. S. Narcotics Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger said he understands that Soviet Russia "has no objection" to the plan, already agreed upon by major drug producing countries.

Anslinger predicted that the program will be approved and set up by the United Nations economic and social council after its commission on narcotics studies the control plan at Lake Success, N. Y., next April 10.

Limit Opium Production

The program would exert one of its chief effects on illicit drug trade by limiting opium production to a legal believed necessary only for the world's medical needs.

Anslinger said the main source of the world's illicit drug supply now stems from over-production of opium by major producing countries, chiefly Iran and Turkey.

He explained that the control plan would reduce world opium output about 50 per cent—from the present level of about 1,000 tons to only 500 tons a year. Anslinger added:

"With the plan in effect, only the illicit production would get into the drug traffic. It would be up to each producing country to suppress this output."

Meanwhile, the government reported that it has checked a serious upswing in cocaine smuggling but warned that marihuana continues as the nation's number one illicit dope problem.

The treasury department also said that the number of arrests for narcotics and marihuana violations increased more than 35 per cent last year.

Anthracite Miners Seek New Contract

By JOHN BOOTH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Mar 7.—Soft coal miners returned to work under a new two-year contract and John L. Lewis turned his attention to getting the same $1.30 a day increase for anthracite miners.

The hard coal negotiations, covering 72,000 miners, will reopen in Washington at 2 p. m. EST, today, after 14 unsuccessful weeks of bargaining between the union and anthracite owners in New York.

The anthracite miners continued at work during the recent soft coal strike on a three-day-a-week basis.

Terms of any new hard coal agreement, which probably will be finished by the end of the week, are expected to conform to the pattern laid down in the bituminous industry.

Lewis held a two-hour "victory" session with the United Mine Workers' 200-man policy committee Monday in which he again declared that the 370,000 soft coal miners had discredited the Taft-Hartley law.

Before adjourning the policy group gave a rising vote of thanks to Lewis and other union officers "for a job well done."

Drop Damage Suits

As part of Sunday's settlement of the ten-month-old soft coal wage fight, the bituminous mine owners agreed to drop 13 million dollars worth of damage suits filed against the union.

Lewis also is expected to make an effort soon to unfreeze money from the 1948 UMW welfare fund and resume benefit payments which were halted last September.

The UMW president is expected to seek a meeting with Sen. Bridges (R) N. H., neutral trustee of the old fund, to get operations going again. Bridges will not be a trustee of the 1950 fund.

It also was disclosed that more than 3,000 independent coal companies, employing 45,000 miners, which signed contracts with Lewis during the strike, will now sign the new bituminous settlement made by major producers.

The contracts signed by the independent firms called for a 95 cents a day pay boost and a 35 cents a ton contribution to the welfare fund. Under the Lewis agreement with the major producers, the pay boost is 70 cents a day and welfare royalty 30 cents a ton.

Behavior Studied For Human Benefit

Bar Harbor, Me., March 7.—Old dogs may teach human beings new tricks.

Dog behavior studies at Jackson Memorial laboratory here have indicated that animals paired apparently copy each other in their attempts to reach the same goal, such as food.

The experiments gave rise to a theory that it might be possible to speed the development of a slow child by pairing him with a quicker one for some routine task. Still to be proved, the theory opens the possibility that mimicry rather than competition might help the slower child.

New Buildings Planned At Pitt

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—(INS)—The University of Pittsburgh has borrowed five million dollars to pay off its football stadium debt and defray the cost of constructing a field house, student center and gymnasium.

Chancellor Dr. Rufus H. Fitzgerald announced yesterday the money had been loaned by the New York Life Insurance company.

Private Eye No. 41144 At Manchester

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 7.—One-armed paper-hanger with the hives is scarcely busier at the moment than Private Eye No. 41144, who spends his days disguised as a reporter covering the Sander mercy murder trial and his nights trailing suspicious agents of a foreign power.

As a matter of fact, coverage of the Sander trial for ten hours a day is the least of the writing done by the particular gumshoe.

After he has rounded out an average of 5,000 words daily concerning Manchester's cause celebre, this private eye not only has to case the countryside for no-good characters, but write voluminous reports back to his chief in New York.

The chief, a tough taskmaster, is Dickie Kollmar, Jr., 7, or Secret Operator 71144, who is the brain or director of a far-flung net of flatfoots extending as far north as Manchester.

Undercover Man

His undercover man here is James (Jimmy) Kilgallen, or Private Eye No. 41144.

Sometimes Dickie forgets and class Mr. Kilgallen, who is the pride of International News Service, "Grandpa." But not too often, as Master Mind 71144 does not allow familiarity or nepotism to corrupt his strict relations with Private Eye 41144.

Mr. Kilgallen, a slim, dapper, prematurely gray gentleman, is dean of the press corps covering the Sander trial and has forgotten more about crime reporting than most of us will ever learn.

However, his grandson is sore disappointed in Mr. K. as a private eye. He has just written him a sharp note—in code, natch!—telling him to "get on the ball" and run some suspects to earth up here or else come home and turn in his badge.

So, after polishing off 10 to 12 hours of daily toil in the courtroom and over a hot typewriter, Private Eye 41144 now pussyfoots back to his hotel room as quickly as possible, pausing only to peer into any suspicious alleys or turn over any bodies encountered on the way.

Writes Report

Once in his room, Private Eye 41144 inserts paper in his beat-up old portable, which was shot out battle front where he served as from under him on every European correspondent in World War II, and sits down to write his daily report to Agent 71144.

Not only must this secret agent write in code but he has to make his stuff convincing as Dickie Kollmar, Jr., is no novice in gang-busting. He represents the second generation of a family that has long been proving that crime does not pay, except on the radio.

Dickie's old man is Dick Kollmar, Sr., who has been playing the title role in "Boston Blackie" in this radio serial long enough to have jugged an army of desperate felons, thugs and general no-goods.

However, neither Dickie's father nor his mother, Dorothy Kilgallen Kollmar, are members of this undercover outfit. They are not in on the password which used to be "hocus-pocus, animosity."

There is now a new password, and—cad that I am—I am about to give it away. "Rockets in your pockets" will now get you past the door when the Brain (No. 71144) meets with his trusted henchman, No. 41144.

No. 71144, writing in code, has just informed No. 41144 that he has a suspect under observation, the said suspect being the butler, Julius, who has suddenly turned tough and won't talk. However, intrepid 71144 has frisked his man, found nothing on him, but is undaunted.

"I will catch the rat with his guard down one of these days," he informed No. 41144.

In the meantime, the brain puts it on the line to No. 41144: Fish or cut bait.

The Grandpa who is slightly preoccupied in Manchester with a murder trial had just been ominously warned:

"Get a disparate suspeck or else. Remember what happens to agents that fail."

As a result, Mr. K. is now out beating the woods for Judge Carter.

House Will Probably Favor Admittance Of Hawaii As State

WASHINGTON, March 7—(INS)—The House will probably go on record today as favoring the admittance of Hawaii as the 50th state.

A final vote is set for this afternoon on the Hawaiian Statehood Bill and a substantial majority for the measure is anticipated.

A similar bill was approved by the House in 1947 by a 196 to 133 vote, but died in the Senate.

The House voted 186 to 146 last Friday to admit Alaska as the 49th state. Both measures will require Senate action.

Little opposition was expressed to Hawaiian statehood during yesterday's two-hour debate. What opposition there was, was based on (1) Hawaii's distance from continental United States, (2) Allegations that it was permeated with Communists, (3) The charge that if Hawaii and Alaska were admitted, then Congress would have to follow suit with Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Samoa, etc.

Supporters lauded the territory as (1) An outpost of Americanism, (2) A self-supporting group of islands whose statehood is long since overdue, and (3) Essential to American security.

The Alaskan Statehood Bill is being held up in the Senate interior and insular affairs committee pending House action on Hawaii.

Full Alaskan participation in the government as a state gained strong support from Sen. Lehman (D) N. Y., who said he hoped Alaska would be admitted as a state "in this session of Congress."

No Swimming At Washington High

There will be no swimming classes at George Washington junior high school Tuesday and Thursday of this week, it was announced by Rees Flannery, recreation chairman.

Lockers at the pool are unavailable this week and thus classes have been postponed.

START CONVENTION PLANS

HARRISBURG, March 7.—(INS)—Preliminary plans for the state Veterans of Foregin Wars annual encampment at Harrisburg July 13-15 call for precision co. petition of musical organizations to be held on the night of July 14.

Headquarters announced that the competition will be staged on the Catholic high school athletic field in East Harrisburg.

The VFW's colorful parade will be held on the afternoon of the final day of the convention. Former Harrisburg Police Chief George J. Shoemaker will be marshal.

Peace Talk Is World Need

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—(INS)—Percy Hodgson, Rotary International president, said today the world needs less war talk and more peace talk because "the psychological effect would be very beneficial to all peoples."

Hodgson arrived in Pittsburgh today. Tonight he will address Rotarians at a banquet.

His current tour included a world mission to arange for an international exchange of students under a $750,000 scholarship fund the Rotary established last June. He has traveled through 45 nations and 34 states. "I think," he said, "It's time . . . to stop talking war . . . all peoples of the world . . . want peace

Hodgson commented that "barring unforeseen strikes or something unusual" the country's economy "will keep on an even keel through the end of the year."

He is the operator of a yarn mill and dairy farm, employer of 14,000 workers and an associate of eight banks.

Lilienthal Suggests American People Have More Optimism

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—(INS)—David Lilienthal believes the American people should be more optimistic about atomic bombs and atomic energy.

"We're not a people to brood," the former chairman of the atomic energy commission said. "We've licked dangers before."

Lilienthal told a Philadelphia forum yesterday that atomic energy already has brought civilian benefits and declared "It is a dangerous fallacy to believe that atomic energy and atomic weapons are the same."

Lilianthal said he did not think the atomic bomb frightens Russia.

"Men who rule with iron will hardly scare that easily," he said.

He added that the United States did its best to get an atomic control agreement with Russia and we "should have no pangs of conscience."

LEW LEHR DIES

BROOKLINE, Mass., March 7.—Lew Lehr, newsreel comedian, died Monday.

Lehr attained fame as a newsreel commentator with his remark "Monkeys are the funniest people." He made his home in New Canaan, Conn., with his wife, the former Anna Leonhardt. Besides his wife he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Glorianne Webster, also of New Canaan.

Anthracite Miners Seek New Contract

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Mar 7.—Soft coal miners returned to work under a new two-year contract and John L. Lewis turned his attention to getting the same $1.30 a day increase for anthracite miners.

The hard coal negotiations, covering 72,000 miners, will reopen in Washington at 2 p. m. EST, today, after 14 unsuccessful weeks of bargaining between the union and anthracite owners in New York.

The anthracite miners continued at work during the recent soft coal strike on a three-day-a-week basis.

Terms of any new hard coal agreement, which probably will be finished by the end of the week, are expected to conform to the pattern laid down in the bituminous industry.

Lewis held a two-hour "victory" session with the United Mine Workers' 200-man policy committee Monday in which he again declared that the 370,000 soft coal miners had discredited the Taft-Hartley law.

Before adjourning the policy group gave a rising vote of thanks to Lewis and other union officers "for a job well done."

Drop Damage Suits

As part of Sunday's settlement of the ten-month-old soft coal wage fight, the bituminous mine owners agreed to drop 13 million dollars worth of damage suits filed against the union.

Lewis also is expected to make an effort soon to unfreeze money from the 1948 UMW welfare fund and resume benefit payments which were halted last September.

The UMW president is expected to seek a meeting with Sen. Bridges (R) N. H., neutral trustee of the old fund, to get operations going again. Bridges will not be a trustee of the 1950 fund.

It also was disclosed that more than 3,000 independent coal companies, employing 45,000 miners, which signed contracts with Lewis during the strike, will now sign the new bituminous settlement made by major producers.

The contracts signed by the independent firms called for a 95 cents a day pay boost and a 35 cents a ton contribution to the welfare fund. Under the Lewis agreement with the major producers, the pay boost is 70 cents a day and welfare royalty 30 cents a ton.

Behavior Studied For Human Benefit

Bar Harbor, Me., March 7.—Old dogs may teach human beings new tricks.

Dog behavior studies at Jackson Memorial laboratory here have indicated that animals paired apparently copy each other in their attempts to reach the same goal, such as food.

The experiments gave rise to a theory that it might be possible to speed the development of a slow child by pairing him with a quicker one for some routine task. Still to be proved, the theory opens the possibility that mimicry rather than competition might help the slower child.

New Buildings Planned At Pitt

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—(INS)—The University of Pittsburgh has borrowed five million dollars to pay off its football stadium debt and defray the cost of constructing a field house, student center and gymnasium.

Chancellor Dr. Rufus H. Fitzgerald announced yesterday the money had been loaned by the New York Life Insurance company.

The Mellon National Bank and Trust company of Pittsburgh was named trustee under the mortgage.

An authority says that 12 per cent of the words used by Tennyson and 10 per cent of those used by Shakespeare are of foreign derivation.

Private Eye No. 41144 At Manchester

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 7.—One-armed paper-hanger with the hives is scarcely busier at the moment than Private Eye No. 41144, who spends his days disguised as a reporter covering the Sander mercy murder trial and his nights trailing suspicious agents of a foreign power.

As a matter of fact, coverage of the Sander trial for ten hours a day is the least of the writing done by the particular gumshoe.

After he has rounded out an average of 5,000 words daily concerning Manchester's cause celebre, this private eye not only has to case the countryside for no-good characters, but write voluminous reports back to his chief in New York.

The chief, a tough taskmaster, is Dickie Kollmar, Jr., 7, or Secret Operator 71144, who is the brain or director of a far-flung net of flatfoots extending as far north as Manchester.

Undercover Man

His undercover man here is James (Jimmy) Kilgallen, or Private Eye No. 41144.

Sometimes Dickie forgets and class Mr. Kilgallen, who is the pride of International News Service, "Grandpa." But not too often, as Master Mind 71144 does not allow familiarity or nepotism to corrupt his strict relations with Private Eye 41144.

Mr. Kilgallen, a slim, dapper, prematurely gray gentleman, is dean of the press corps covering the Sander trial and has forgotten more about crime reporting than most of us will ever learn.

However, his grandson is sore disappointed in Mr. K. as a private eye. He has just written him a sharp note—in code, natch!—telling him to "get on the ball" and run some suspects to earth up here or else come home and turn in his badge.

So, after polishing off 10 to 12 hours of daily toil in the courtroom and over a hot typewriter, Private Eye 41144 now pussyfoots back to his hotel room as quickly as possible, pausing only to peer into any suspicious alleys or turn over any bodies encountered on the way.

Writes Report

Once in his room, Private Eye 41144 inserts paper in his beat-up old portable, which was shot out battle front where he served as from under him on every European correspondent in World War II, and sits down to write his daily report to Agent 71144.

Not only must this secret agent write in code but he has to make his stuff convincing as Dickie Kollmar, Jr., is no novice in gang-busting. He represents the second generation of a family that has long been proving that crime does not pay, except on the radio.

Dickie's old man is Dick Kollmar, Sr., who has been playing the title role in "Boston Blackie" in this radio serial long enough to have jugged an army of desperate felons, thugs and general no-goods.

However, neither Dickie's father nor his mother, Dorothy Kilgallen Kollmar, are members of this undercover outfit. They are not in on the password which used to be "hocus-pocus, animosity."

There is now a new password, and—cad that I am—I am about to give it away. "Rockets in your pockets" will now get you past the door when the Brain (No. 71144) meets with his trusted henchman, No. 41144.

No. 71144, writing in code, has just informed No. 41144 that he has a suspect under observation, the said suspect being the butler, Julius, who has suddenly turned tough and won't talk. However, intrepid 71144 has frisked his man, found nothing on him, but is undaunted.

"I will catch the rat with his guard down one of these days," he informed No. 41144.

In the meantime, the brain puts it on the line to No. 41144: Fish or cut bait.

The Grandpa who is slightly preoccupied in Manchester with a murder trial had just been ominously warned:

"Get a disparate suspeck or else. Remember what happens to agents that fail."

As a result, Mr. K. is now out beating the woods for Judge Carter.

House Will Probably Favor Admittance Of Hawaii As State

WASHINGTON, March 7—(INS)—The House will probably go on record today as favoring the admittance of Hawaii as the 50th state.

A final vote is set for this afternoon on the Hawaiian Statehood Bill and a substantial majority for the measure is anticipated.

A similar bill was approved by the House in 1947 by a 196 to 133 vote, but died in the Senate.

The House voted 186 to 146 last Friday to admit Alaska as the 49th state. Both measures will require Senate action.

Little opposition was expressed to Hawaiian statehood during yesterday's two-hour debate. What opposition there was, was based on (1) Hawaii's distance from continental United States, (2) Allegations that it was permeated with Communists, (3) The charge that if Hawaii and Alaska were admitted, then Congress would have to follow suit with Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Samoa, etc.

Supporters lauded the territory as (1) An outpost of Americanism, (2) A self-supporting group of islands whose statehood is long since overdue, and (3) Essential to American security.

The Alaskan Statehood Bill is being held up in the Senate interior and insular affairs committee pending House action on Hawaii.

No Swimming At Washington High

There will be no swimming classes at George Washington junior high school Tuesday and Thursday of this week, it was announced by Rees Flannery, recreation chairman.

Lockers at the pool are unavailable this week and thus classes have been postponed.

START CONVENTION PLANS

HARRISBURG, March 7.—(INS)—Preliminary plans for the state Veterans of Foregin Wars annual encampment at Harrisburg July 13-15 call for precision co. petition of musical organizations to be held on the night of July 14.

Headquarters announced that the competition will be staged on the Catholic high school athletic field in East Harrisburg.

The VFW's colorful parade will be held on the afternoon of the final day of the convention. Former Harrisburg Police Chief George J. Shoemaker will be marshal.

Peace Talk Is World Need

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—(INS)—Percy Hodgson, Rotary International president, said today the world needs less war talk and more peace talk because "the psychological effect would be very beneficial to all peoples."

Hodgson arrived in Pittsburgh today. Tonight he will address Rotarians at a banquet.

His current tour included a world mission to arange for an international exchange of students under a $750,000 scholarship fund the Rotary established last June. He has traveled through 45 nations and 34 states. "I think," he said, "It's time . . . to stop talking wa . . . all peoples of the world . . . want peace

Hodgson commented that "barring unforeseen strikes or something unusual" the country's economy "will keep on an even keel through the end of the year."

He is the operator of a yarn mill and dairy farm, employer of 14,000 workers and an associate of eight banks.

Lilienthal Suggests American People Have More Optimism

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—(INS)—David Lilienthal believes the American people should be more optimistic about atomic bombs and atomic energy.

"We're not a people to brood," the former chairman of the atomic energy commission said. "We've licked dangers before."

Lilienthal told a Philadelphia forum yesterday that atomic energy already has brought civilian benefits and declared "It is a dangerous fallacy to believe that atomic energy and atomic weapons are the same."

Lilianthal said he did not think the atomic bomb frightens Russia.

"Men who rule with iron will hardly scare that easily," he said.

He added that the United States did its best to get an atomic control agreement with Russia and we "should have no pangs of conscience."

Due to numerous requests made at the YWCA for an evening class in sewing, Miss Marion Campbell and Mrs. A. L. Hoffmaster, board members in charge of classes, announce that one will be organized on Tuesday, March 13, provided there is sufficient response.

Mrs. Robert DuPont will be the teacher for the eight weeks course which will include the making of garments ni general. Women by the thousand are sewing these days because they realize that to sew is to save.

Registrations for the class should be made in advance. For further details call the YWCA.

LEW LEHR DIES

BROOKLINE, Mass., March 7.—Lew Lehr, newsreel comedian, died Monday.

Lehr attained fame as a newsreel commentator with his remark "Monkeys are the funniest people." He made his home in New Canaan, Conn., with his wife, the former Anna Leonhardt. Besides his wife he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Glorianne Webster, also of New Canaan.

Agriculture Exports Are Near Dead End

WASHINGTON, March 7—(INS) Agriculture Secretary Brannan said today that U. S. agriculture is running head-on into a dead-end as far as exports are concerned.

Brannan, in his annual report to the president, stated that agricultural exports are declining in their proportion to total exports. Farm exports at present represent 30 per cent of total shipments.

A lack of dollars in the pockets of importing countries is contributing to the tight agricultural export picture. When those nations do have dollars they prefer to buy U. S. factory products rather than farm commodities, Brannan said.

When the U. S. foreign aid program quits furnishing dollars to underwrite foreign buying, there will be less of a market for U. S. crops, he stated.

In addition, farm production throughout the world is picking up rapidly and farm trade tends to flourish between countries where dollars aren't necessary, thus putting another crimp in U. S. exports.

Brannan said the solution to the shrinking farm export—and other export too—could be solved by lower tariffs and long-term U. S. dollar lending.

The office of foreign agricultural relations reports that at the same time the Soviet Union revalued the ruble February 28 price cuts were made on a number of food items.

The price cuts, OFAR said, will tend to increase the purchasing power of Russian city folk.

The most significant cut was on bread. Despite 25 to 30 per cent reductions on bread, OFAR said, its price is still double the prewar price. Bread is the staple of the Russian diet.

OFAR also said there have been no indications of any increase of "the very low" prices paid by the Soviet government to farmers for compulsory delivery of grain.

World production of fats and oils in 1949—up five per cent over 1948—topped prewar production for the first time since the end of hostilities.

The agriculture department estimated total production last year from all important vegetable and animal sources at just over 22 million tons. That compares with less than 21 million in 1948.

Generally, the department said, last year marked the end of the acute shortage of the world's supply of fats and oils. The situation should improve further this year, the department said.

Cash Income Of Farmers Is Reduced

HARRISBURG, March 7.—(INS)—Pennsylvania farmers sustained a $61,597,000 reduction in 1949 cash income due to a fall in prices from the 1948 level, the state agriculture department reported today.

Federal-state surveys place last year's cash receipts from farm marketings at $762,414,000, or 7.5 per cent below the record $824,011,000 for 1948.

Farmers of the entire nation faced a 10 per cent decline in prices from $30,500,000,000 in 1948 to $27,500,000,000 in 1949.

A reduction of farm cash income resulted in spite of little change in price of labor, food and other supplies and services, Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst pointed out.

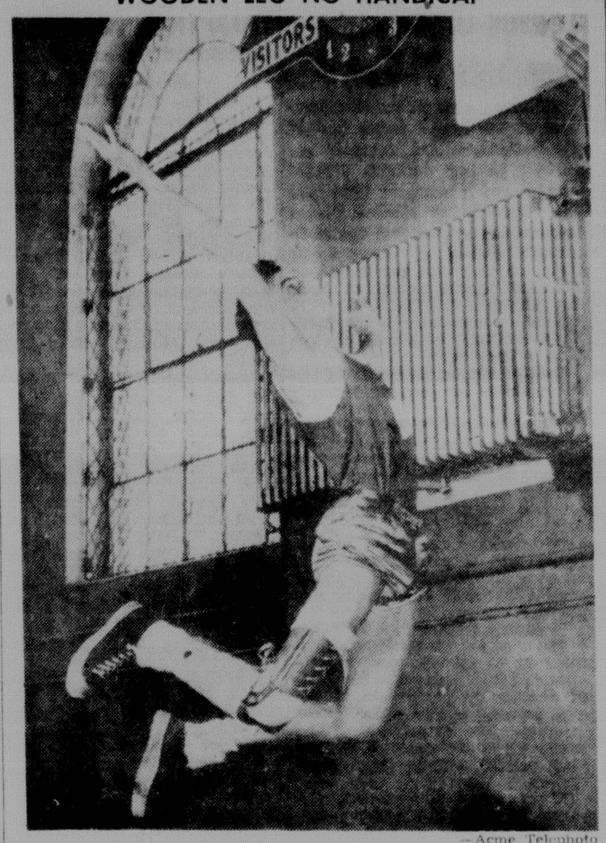

An average drop of 17 per cent in net income of people on farms all over the United States was cited by Horst.

Last year's drop in per capita income of farmers was the first since 1938, Horst added, but in relation to the non-farm average the per capita income of farmers has dropped since 1947.

NORTHEY BELTS

CINCINNATI—(INS)—Ron Northey, acquired by the Reds from the Cardinals during the off-season, delivered the crucial blow in the longest 1-0 game in modern major league history to be decided by a home run. Ron accomplished this feat when he homered off Boston's Al Javery to provide the winning margin in the Philadelphia Phillies 1-0 15-inning victory over Boston on June 22, 1944.

WOODEN LEG NO HANDICAP

—Acme Telephoto

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.—Lauren Phelps, 17, has developed into a star forward for his high school basketball team despite the fact that he wears an artificial leg. Phelps lost his leg last May in an auto accident. He became a starting player on the varsity team although he has only been using his leg since September. Some coaches have rated him one of the most valuable player in the league while his own coach says he is the best defensive player on the team besides being a dead shot. Phelps also intends to play baseball this spring.

VETERAN COWBOY

WALSENBURG, Colo.—(INS)—Seventy-three-year-old Harry Capps of Walsenburg, who has been riding herd since he was six, is a contender for the honor of being named oldest cowboy in the southern Colorado region. His father, Samuel J. Capps, moved to southern Colorado in 1872, and established a ranch at Santa Clara, near Pryor, Colo. Five years later, when Capps established a ranch at the foot of the east Spanish Peaks, and here the son learned to ride almost as soon as he learned to walk.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

THERE'S ALWAYS A REASON

Of this we can be sure. No matter how unreasonable a child's attitude or behavior may seem, there always are causes for the way he feels and the way he acts.

No child ever is "just bad" or shows "pure stubbornness". No youngster was "born mean" or "inherited" his father's temper. All things are caused.

Naturally, we can't always see the motive at once. Sometimes the child, himself, is not aware of why he acts or feels as he does. It's our pobs as parents and as teachers to do our level best to seek out the reasons. Only then can we expect to be able to help a child overcome feelings that get in the way of his happy adjustment and to modify the behavior that gets him into trouble.

It's not an easy thing to do—to figure out why Mary Ann is acting so "brattish" when we'd like to hop all over her. But it will pay off in the long run.

Agriculture Exports Are Near Dead End

WASHINGTON, March 7—(INS) Agriculture Secretary Brannan said today that U. S. agriculture is running head-on into a dead-end as far as exports are concerned.

Brannan, in his annual report to the president, stated that agricultural exports are declining in their proportion to total exports. Farm exports at present represent 30 per cent of total shipments.

A lack of dollars in the pockets of importing countries is contributing to the tight agricultural export picture. When those nations do have dollars they prefer to buy U. S. factory products rather than farm commodities, Brannan said.

When the U. S. foreign aid program quits furnishing dollars to underwrite foreign buying, there will be less of a market for U. S. crops, he stated.

In addition, farm production throughout the world is picking up rapidly and farm trade tends to flourish between countries where dollars aren't necessary, thus putting another crimp in U. S. exports.

Brannan said the solution to the shrinking farm export—and other export too—could be solved by lower tariffs and long-term U. S. dollar lending.

The office of foreign agricultural relations reports that at the same time the Soviet Union revalued the ruble February 28 price cuts were made on a number of food items.

The price cuts, OFAR said, will tend to increase the purchasing power of Russian city folk.

The most significant cut was on bread. Despite 25 to 30 per cent reductions on bread, OFAR said, its price is still double the prewar price. Bread is the staple of the Russian diet.

OFAR also said there have been no indications of any increase of "the very low" prices paid by the Soviet government to farmers for compulsory delivery of grain.

World production of fats and oils in 1949—up five per cent over 1948—topped prewar production for the first time since the end of hostilities.

The agriculture department estimated total production last year from all important vegetable and animal sources at just over 22 million tons. That compares with less than 21 million in 1948.

Generally, the department said, last year marked the end of the acute shortage of the world's supply of fats and oils. The situation should improve further this year, the department said.

Cash Income Of Farmers Is Reduced

HARRISBURG, March 7.—(INS)—Pennsylvania farmers sustained a $61,597,000 reduction in 1949 cash income due to a fall in prices from the 1948 level, the state agriculture department reported today.

Federal-state surveys place last year's cash receipts from farm marketings at $762,414,000, or 7.5 per cent below the record $824,011,000 for 1948.

Farmers of the entire nation faced a 10 per cent decline in prices from $30,500,000,000 in 1948 to $27,500,000,000 in 1949.

A reduction of farm cash income resulted in spite of little change in price of labor, food and other supplies and services, Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst pointed out.

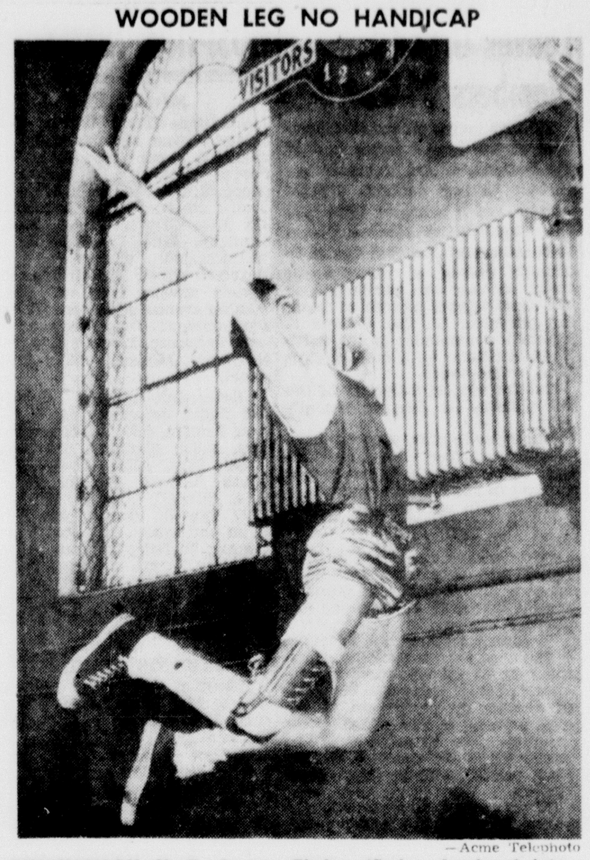

An average drop of 17 per cent in net income of people on farms all over the United States was cited by Horst.

Last year's drop in per capita income of farmers was the first since 1938, Horst added, but in relation to the non-farm average the per capita income of farmers has dropped since 1947.

NORTHEY BELTS

CINCINNATI—(INS)—Ron Northey, acquired by the Reds from the Cardinals during the off-season, delivered the crucial blow in the longest 1-0 game in modern major league history to be decided by a home run. Ron accomplished this feat when he homered off Boston's Al Javery to provide the winning margin in the Philadelphia Phillies 1-0 15-inning victory over Boston on June 22, 1944.

WOODEN LEG NO HANDICAP

—Acme Telephoto

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.—Lauren Phelps, 17, has developed into a star forward for his high school basketball team despite the fact that he wears an artificial leg. Phelps lost his leg last May in an auto accident. He became a starting player on the varsity team although he has only been using his leg since September. Some coaches have rated him one of the most valuable player in the league while his own coach says he is the best defensive player on the team besides being a dead shot. Phelps also intends to play baseball this spring.

VETERAN COWBOY

WALSENBURG, Colo.—(INS)—Seventy-three-year-old Harry Capps of Walsenburg, who has been riding herd since he was six, is a contender for the honor of being named oldest cowboy in the southern Colorado region. His father, Samuel J. Capps, moved to southern Colorado in 1872, and established a ranch at Santa Clara, near Pryor, Colo. Five years later, when Capps established a ranch at the foot of the east Spanish Peaks, and here the son learned to ride almost as soon as he learned to walk.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

THERE'S ALWAYS A REASON

Of this we can be sure. No matter how unreasonable a child's attitude or behavior may seem, there always are causes for the way he feels and the way he acts.

No child ever is "just bad" or shows "pure stubbornness". No youngster was "born mean" or "inherited" his father's temper. All things are caused.

Naturally, we can't always see the motive at once. Sometimes the child, himself, is not aware of why he acts or feels as he does. It's our pobs as parents and as teachers to do our level best to seek out the reasons. Only then can we expect to be able to help a child overcome feelings that get in the way of his happy adjustment and to modify the behavior that gets him into trouble.

It's not an easy thing to do—to figure out why Mary Ann is acting so "brattish" when we'd like to hop all over her. But it will pay off in the long run.

Leaders Will Make Report On Chrsyler Strike

DETROIT, March 7.—(INS)—Leaders of the CIO-United Auto Workers go before the membership today to report on negotiations aimed at settling the 42-day-old Chrysler strike.

Robert W. Conder, Chrysler's Labor Relations director, declined a union invitation to appear at the rally, saying the corporation feels the dispute can be "settled around the bargaining table." The strikers are to meet at the State Fair Coliseum at 2 p. m. (EST).

Offer Not Yet Received

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said he has not yet received John L. Lewis' offer of a one-million-dollar strike loan from the United Mine Workers' treasury and refused to comment until he does. The 89,000 strikers have lost more than 34 million dollars in wages because of the work stoppage.

Lewis announced in Washington yesterday that the mine workers' national policy committee had approved the action. Auto workers solicited funds and food for needy miners' families during the coal strike.

Basic Issue Involved

The basic issue behind the Chrysler stoppage is the union's demand for a 10-cent-an-hour pension and hospital-medical insurance program.

Chrysler has proposed a retirement formula but the union rejected it on the grounds that it does not conform to the "10-cent pattern" set at Ford.

The Chrysler strike has idled thousands of other wage earners in the corporation's supplier plants and affects some 10,500 dealers and salesmen.

Management has not computed its financial losses, but the loss in automobiles and trucks averages 7,000 units daily.

The corporation places the daily cost in wages to the strikers at more than $1,188,000.

FARE HIKE DEFERRED

HARRISBURG, March 7.—The Public Utility Commission on Monday suspended for six months to September 14 a rate increase proposed by the Philadelphia Tranportation company, pending an investigation.

The vote by the five-man commission was unanimous. The PTC had asked last month to increase its fares March 14, without public hearing or delay, from 10 cents to 13 cents for a single ride, or two fares for 25 cents. The cost of a transfer would be cut to two cents.

Folks Of Fame

Hannibal, a great general of ancient times, was born in 247, B.C., in Carthage. Before taking him to Spain when he was nine, his father made him swear eternal hatred for the Romans. At 25 he assumed command of the army. He launched the first Punic war—one of the most terrible of antiquity—and descended into Italy through an Alpine pass, prepared to attack. Due to his brilliant strategy he was immensely successful at first. At one time he forced Rome to abandon all northern Italy. After a number of brilliant victories, however, the long war drained his armies' strength. In the last decisive Battle of Zama, he was defeated. Even his elephants, which he used to protect his flank, were ineffectual against the Romans. He was forced to sue for peace. He returned to Carthage, where his people admired him so much that they made him head of the government. Rome charged him with conspiring against peace, however, and he fled. Later he took part in a number of foreign wars, but when defeated and, through the treachery of a supposed ally, he was taken prisoner in 183 B. C. He died from poison which he always carried on his person for just such an emergency.

El Greco was born in Candia, Crete, circa 1542, but is known as a Spanish painter and changed his name. He was a pupil of Titian in Rome. Two of his early pictures are The Healing of the Blind and Christ Driving the Money Changers From the Temple. He then moved to Spain, where, in Toledo, he designed the architecture and sculpture and painted the pictures for a church. A great deal of his work is of a religious nature, but he also painted portraits. As a painter of women his The Lady With the Flower and The Lady With the Mantilla are examples. The Assumption for a Toledo church was done a few months before his death at an advanced age. He was interred like a noble in a Spanish church April 7, 1614.

Four-Year-Old Boy Is Burned To Death

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—(INS)—James McCorkle, 4, burned to death yesterday in Pittsburgh.

His mother, Mrs. Lavenea McCorkle, 33, who rescued two of her sisters and a brother, could not get through the flames to save him. Four other McCorkle children were in school when the blaze swept through the two-story McCorkle frame home and spread quickly to an adjoining house.

James was trapped in an upstairs room.

Four families, including 17 children, were made homeless.

Dr. Sander Case Is Nearing End

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 7.—The verdict— that's the big, dramatic highlight soon to come in the unprecedented "mercy killing" trial of Dr. Hermann N. Sander.

Dr. Sander has told his story of the "air bubble" death of his 59-year-old cancer patient, Mrs. Abbie Borroto, and from now on everything wil be more or less anti-climatic until the all-male jury files in with its verdict.

Soon the announcement will come: "The defense rests." Its case is now nearing a close.

Two important defense witnesses remain to be heard. They are, in the order of public interest:

1.—Mrs. Alice Dewitt Sander, loyal wife of the defendant, and

2.—Dr. Richard Ford, brilliant pathologist and head of Harvard u..iversity's Legal Medicine department.

After the defense rests, and a possible rebuttal witness or two, closing arguments will follow. Then will come the charge of Judge Harold Wescott and the jury will file out to deliberate the fate of the handsome, intellectual-looking doctor whose story from the witness stand thrilled all who heard it.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Solomon Levi, the Cambridge tailor who became so rooted in Harvard tradition that a song was written about him, encountered one student who succeeded in outwitting him. The student had bought a suit a full year previous for thirty dollars, and consistently refused to pay for it. Levi's lawyer asked, "What reason does he give for not honoring his debt?" "That's what bothers me," admitted Levi. "His reason seems fool-proof. He says he's owed me the money so long the interest has eaten it all up."

The Greenfield, Mass., Recorder-Gazette ran this revealing item the other day, wisely concluding, evidently, that no editorial comment was necessary. "The bride wore an aquamarine gown with fuchsia trimming and carried an old-fashioned." Things certainly have changed in Massachusetts since I was a boy!

Leaves Urged For Members Of Guard

Military leaves for reserve members of the armed forces and of the National Guard is highly important in our national defense scheme, and it behooves employers who employ either reserve officers or members of National Guard to arrange leaves of absence for them, so they can participate in the short apnual periods of training provided, Lt. Col. George F. Mitchell, commander of the 229th Field Atrillery, with headquarters here, stated today.

On this subject Secretary of Defense Louis A. Johnson recently said:

"In order to allow reserve members of the armed forces and members of the National Guard to participate in short annual periods of training with military pay, I urge all who employ army, navy, air force, Marine Corps or Coast Guard reserve personnel or National Air Guard personnel, to adopt a liberal policy in granting special leaves of absence for this purpose.

"I cannot emphasize too strongly the need for favorable action on the part of all employers on requests of their employees for leave of absence to participate in annual training in the armed forces reserves. The strength, skill and teamwork of our reserves depend upon participation in training activities.

"Your cooperation as an employer in adopting a policy favoring the granting of requests of reservists desiring leaves of absence to engage in reserve training is fundamental to our national defense. In this way you can help to maintain the organized, well-trained enthusiastic military reserve force so vital to the security of our country."

Fail To Find Trace Of Plane

ALBION, Okla., March 7.—(INS)—A police search party returned from the rugged Kiamichia mountains near Albion early today and said its search for a plane reported down in the area was stymied by a forest fire.

The five-man group combed the side of "Big Mountain" on foot but could not find a trace of a plane wreck. A Talihina, Okla., policeman, who accompanied four state highway patrolmen in the hunt, said:

"There's a forest fire burning up there over a five-mile area. If there is a plane in the fire we can't find it.

Earlier another search party returned and reported it found no trace of any plane.

Wage Tax Law Is Explained

While the matter has been explained before, there still seems to be some misapprehension in New Castle about the collection of wage tax for school purposes from non-residents.

Asked to clarify the status of non-residents, School Solicitor Robert L. Wallace said today:

"Residents of other districts who work here and whose home districts are not collecting a wage tax cannot be taxed for school purposes by the New Castle district.

"They can be taxed by the city for general purposes, upon the theory that the city provides facilities which the non-residents use. They cannot be taxed for school purposes because the school district does not render them service.

"As an example, a resident of another city, township or borough, who works in New Castle can be taxed 6½ mills for city purposes. He cannot be assessed the 3½ wage tax for schools.

"This, of course, does not apply to townships in Lawrence county which are collecting 10 milles wage tax. This 10 mills is collected by the city and turned over to the home district of the worker.

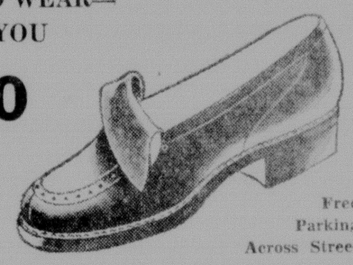

"But," said Mr. Wallace, "a non-resident who works here cannot be assessed the 3½ wage tax for schools.

LAWRENCE, Kan. — (INS) — Student scholarships and fellowships at the University of Kansas reached an all-time high last year, Dr. J. H. Nelson, chairman of the committee on aids and awards, announced that 591 students received awards amounting to $149,459.

Leaders Will Make Report On Chrsyler Strike

DETROIT, March 7.—(INS)—Leaders of the CIO-United Auto Workers go before the membership today to report on negotiations aimed at settling the 42-day-old Chrysler strike.

Robert W. Conder, Chrysler's Labor Relations director, declined a union invitation to appear at the rally, saying the corporation feels the dispute can be "settled around the bargaining table." The strikers are to meet at the State Fair Coliseum at 2 p. m. (EST).

Offer Not Yet Received

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said he has not yet received John L. Lewis' offer of a one-million-dollar strike loan from the United Mine Workers' treasury and refused to comment until he does. The 89,000 strikers have lost more than 34 million dollars in wages because of the work stoppage.

Lewis announced in Washington yesterday that the mine workers' national policy committee had approved the action. Auto workers solicited funds and food for needy miners' families during the coal strike.

Basic Issue Involved

The basic issue behind the Chrysler stoppage is the union's demand for a 10-cent-an-hour pension and hospital-medical insurance program.

Chrysler has proposed a retirement formula but the union rejected it on the grounds that it does not conform to the "10-cent pattern" set at Ford.

The Chrysler strike has idled thousands of other wage earners in the corporation's supplier plants and affects some 10,500 dealers and salesmen.

Management has not computed its financial losses, but the loss in automobiles and trucks averages 7,000 units daily.

The corporation places the daily cost in wages to the strikers at more than $1,188,000.

FARE HIKE DEFERRED

HARRISBURG, March 7.—The Public Utility Commission on Monday suspended for six months to September 14 a rate increase proposed by the Philadelphia Tranportation company, pending an investigation.

The vote by the five-man commission was unanimous. The PTC had asked last month to increase its fares March 14, without public hearing or delay, from 10 cents to 13 cents for a single ride, or two fares for 25 cents. The cost of a transfer would be cut to two cents.

Folks Of Fame

Hannibal, a great general of ancient times, was born in 247, B.C., in Carthage. Before taking him to Spain when he was nine, his father made him swear eternal hatred for the Romans. At 25 he assumed command of the army. He launched the first Punic war —one of the most terrible of antiquity—and descended into Italy through an Alpine pass, prepared to attack. Due to his brilliant strategy he was immensely successful at first. At one time he forced Rome to abandon all northern Italy. After a number of brilliant victories, however, the long war drained his armies' strength. In the last decisive Battle of Zama, he was defeated. Even his elephants, which he used to protect his flank, were ineffectual against the Romans. He was forced to sue for peace. He returned to Carthage, where his people admired him so much that they made him head of the government. Rome charged him with conspiring against peace, however, and he fled. Later he took part in a number of foreign wars, but when defeated and, through the treachery of a supposed ally, he was taken prisoner in 183 B. C. He died from poison which he always carried on his person for just such an emergency.

El Greco was born in Candia, Crete, circa 1542, but is known as a Spanish painter and changed his name. He was a pupil of Titian in Rome. Two of his early pictures are The Healing of the Blind and Christ Driving the Money Changers From the Temple. He then moved to Spain, where, in Toledo, he designed the architecture and sculpture and painted the pictures for a church. A great deal of his work is of a religious nature, but he also painted portraits. As a painter of women his The Lady With the Flower and The Lady With the Mantilla are examples. The Assumption for a Toledo church was done a few months before his death at an advanced age. He was interred like a noble in a Spanish church April 7, 1614.

Four-Year-Old Boy Is Burned To Death

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—(INS)—James McCorkle, 4, burned to death yesterday in Pittsburgh.

His mother, Mrs. Lavenea McCorkle, 33, who rescued two of her sisters and a brother, could not get through the flames to save him. Four other McCorkle children were in school when the blaze swept through the two-story McCorkle frame home and spread quickly to an adjoining house.

James was trapped in an upstairs room.

Four families, including 17 children, were made homeless.

Dr. Sander Case Is Nearing End

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 7.—The verdict— that's the big, dramatic highlight soon to come in the unprecedented "mercy killing" trial of Dr. Hermann N. Sander.

Dr. Sander has told his story of the "air bubble" death of his 59-year-old cancer patient, Mrs. Abbie Borroto, and from now on everything will be more or less anti-climatic until the all-male jury files in with its verdict.

Soon the announcement will come: "The defense rests." Its case is now nearing a close.

Two important defense witnesses remain to be heard. They are, in the order of public interest:

1.—Mrs. Alice Dewitt Sander, loyal wife of the defendant, and

2.—Dr. Richard Ford, brilliant pathologist and head of Harvard u..iversity's Legal Medicine department.

After the defense rests, and a possible rebuttal witness or two, closing arguments will follow. Then will come the charge of Judge Harold Wescott and the jury will file out to deliberate the fate of the handsome, intellectual-looking doctor whose story from the witness stand thrilled all who heard it.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Solomon Levi, the Cambridge tailor who became so rooted in Harvard tradition that a song was written about him, encountered one student who succeeded in outwitting him. The student had bought a suit a full year previous for thirty dollars, and consistently refused to pay for it. Levi's lawyer asked, "What reason does he give for not honoring his debt?" "That's what bothers me," admitted Levi. "His reason seems fool-proof. He says he's owed me the money so long the interest has eaten it all up."

The Greenfield, Mass., Recorder-Gazette ran this revealing item the other day, wisely concluding, evidently, that no editorial comment was necessary. "The bride wore an aquamarine gown with fuchsia trimming and carried an old-fashioned." Things certainly have changed in Massachusetts since I was a boy!

Leaves Urged For Members Of Guard

Military leaves for reserve members of the armed forces and of the National Guard is highly important in our national defense scheme, and it behooves employers who employ either reserve officers or members of National Guard to arrange leaves of absence for them, so they can participate in the short apnual periods of training provided, Lt. Col. George F. Mitchell, commander of the 229th Field Atrillery, with headquarters here, stated today.

On this subject Secretary of Defense Louis A. Johnson recently said:

"In order to allow reserve members of the armed forces and members of the National Guard to participate in short annual periods of training with military pay, I urge all who employ army, navy, air force, Marine Corps or Coast Guard reserve personnel or National Air Guard personnel, to adopt a liberal policy in granting special leaves of absence for this purpose.

"I cannot emphasize too strongly the need for favorable action on the part of all employers on requests of their employees for leave of absence to participate in annual training in the armed forces reserves. The strength, skill and teamwork of our reserves depend upon participation in training activities.

"Your cooperation as an employer in adopting a policy favoring the granting of requests of reservists desiring leaves of absence to engage in reserve training is fundamental to our national defense. In this way you can help to maintain the organized, well-trained enthusiastic military reserve force so vital to the security of our country."

Fail To Find Trace Of Plane

ALBION, Okla., March 7.—(INS)—A police search party returned from the rugged Kiamichia mountains near Albion early today and said its search for a plane reported down in the area was stymied by a forest fire.

The five-man group combed the side of "Big Mountain" on foot but could not find a trace of a plane wreck. A Talihina, Okla., policeman, who accompanied four state highway patrolmen in the hunt, said:

"There's a forest fire burning up there over a five-mile area. If there is a plane in the fire we can't find it.

Flying Saucer Reports From North Africa

TUNIS, March 7.—(INS)—Flying saucers, having looked over the U. S. and Europe, are now beginning to flash their way through North African skies.

The celestial phenomena, which have been variously described as the aftermath of A-bomb explosions, space ships from Mars and the product of mass hypnotism, have been sighted both in Tunisian and Algerian skies.

Several witnesses reported today having seen a "very brilliant disk-shaped object with two short tails" skating along between Tunis Bizerte.

Father Blanc, a priest who has a local reputation as an astronomer and man of science, said it was traveling much too slow to have been a shooting star.

"The disk was in sight for nearly a full minute while it described a trajectory between Tunis and Bizerte, a distance of some 35 miles," he said, "whereas a shooting star is rarely visible for more than two seconds."

The chances of quadruplets occurring are one in 599,921.

Arrest 16 Dog Owners In Ward

Hearings in these cases will be held on March 15 at 2:30 p. m. before Alderman T. C. Rainey.

With only 8,500 canines licensed so far this year, prosecutions will be continued in other parts of the city, where owners have neglected to comply with the law, and their license will cost them many times the amount specified by law, Mr. McLure warns.

Seeking State Site For New Institution

HARRISBURG, March 7.—(INS)—State Welfare department officials today were looking for a site in central Pennsylvania for a proposed $7,000,000 institution for juvenile mental defectives.

Welfare Secretary William C. Brown suggested the central area because two similar institutions at opposite ends of the state are over crowded. One of the schools is at Pennhurst, Chester county and the other at Polk, Venango county.

Brown said there is a waiting list of 1,100 mentally defective children who have been approved for admittance to state institutions unable to accommodate them.

There is a possibility the general hospital at Valley Forge, soon to be abandoned by the army, may be used as a stop-gap until the new institution is built.

Frew Company Gets Contracts

Local Concern Given Harrisburg And Sharon Contracts

Two large contracts have been awarded to the J. R. Frew Company, Inc., it was announced today.

The Harrisburger Hotel of Harrisburg, Pa., has awarded the company a $250,000 contract for a guest room renovation program which will start immediately. The Frew Company has been handling the Harrisburg account for ten years.

The second contract is for the interior decoration of the new Shenango Inn, a hotel now under way in Sharon. The Sharon Industrial Development Association has engaged the Frew Company to plan the interior, lay out color schemes, write specifications and supervise the complete furnishing of the hotel.

Shenango Inn is located in the Buhl Park district of Sharon and will include 65 guest rooms, a large dining room, seating 150 guests, two lobbies, a large cocktail lounge and a ballroom to accommodate 200 people. The hotel will open about September 1.

In the Harrisburg contract, six sample guest rooms have recently been completely redecorated and furnished by the Frew Company, four of which have been approved by the board of directors. The Harrisburger is operated by the American Hotels Corporation.

Congress Still Thinks That Bryan Was Wrong

WASHINGTON, March 7—(INS)—The United States may not be on the gold standard, but congress still thinks that Bryan was wrong—silver will not substitute for gold.

The senate judiciary committee approved a relief bill awarding Solly Manasse of Las Cruces, N. M., $343 for the loss of gold teeth in a Jap prison camp.

Solly already had the army's approval on replacements for the teeth he lost as a result of malnutrition, but he insisted he had gold fillings, not the silver kind the army puts out.

A bill giving him gold was introduced by Sen. Chavez (D) N. M., was approved by the committee.

Russia Balks At U.N. Probe Of Forced Labor

By PIERRE J. HUSS

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 7.—The U. N. Economic and Social council winds up its tenth session today, smarting under Russia's obstruction of any U. N. investigation behind the iron curtain into forced labor.

The 18-nation council had before it written Soviet notification that any decision on forced labor would be ignored by the Russian government.

Forced Labor Situation

The closed huors hetfos e. B- B

The closed hours of the session were marked, nevertheless, by a United States pledge to continue the fight against forced labor despite Soviet obstructionism inside and outside of U. N.

U. S. Delegate Walter Kotschnig heavily underscored the seriousness of the forced labor question, said to involve 16,000,000 persons in Russia alone, by urging a special consideration of the matter.

Kotschnig admitted that nothing can be done to wipe out compulsory labor without Russia's cooperation. However, he insisted that the forced labor item be retained on the council's agenda for possible action at a future date. The council meanwhile approved circulation of a questionnaire by the special committee on slavery on slave conditions in all countries.

The American at the same time warned against the introduction of propaganda into U. N. debates by pro-Communist agencies in the absence of the Soviet bloc.

Kotschnig declared that indiscriminate action by such organizations as the left-wing World Federation of Trade Unions could result in U. N. organs being turned into propaganda "tools" for "all kinds of elements." He urged private, rather than public, hearings of U. N. bodies by the special committee on slavery.

Although most of the council's time at its five-week session at Lake Success was devoted to economic matters, the forced labor question evoked the greatest controversy and debate. Much of this was due to the American Federation of Labor's charges that forced labor had increased in Russia and that it was being used to bolster Soviet economy, particularly the five-year-plan.

Sub-District Pastors Convene On Monday

First Methodist church was the scene Monday of the monthly subdistrict meeting of the Methodist pastors. The ministers assembled for lunch at 12:15. Rev. James A. Gaiser, president, conducted the business period.

Rev. A. C. Howe told of the Methodist Youth Fellowship rally to be conducted Sunday evening in the Epworth church at 7:30 o'clock. Arrangements for the meeting were made prior to the announcement of the Methodist revival series. Speaker for the hour will be Jeffrey Hopper, student at Allegheny college, Meadville. Rev. Howe will speak at the Croton church during the progress of the meeting.

Rev. Harry Johnson expressed his appreciation for the prayers that had been offered for him during his recent illness. Rev. Shields announced the Methodist youth rally, which would take place on Thursday, March 16. Announcement was made of the ministers' retreat to take place at Harrisville on Monday, March 20.

The sub-district pastors joined ministers of the Grove City district at 2 p. m. to hear an inspirational address on Lent given by Dr. Robert F. Galbreath of First Presbyterian church. He reviewed the incidents in the life of Christ until his crucifixion and resurrection, applying what these incidents should mean to the Christian world today.

Flying Saucer Reports From North Africa

TUNIS, March 7.—(INS)—Flying saucers, having looked over the U. S. and Europe, are now beginning to flash their way through North African skies.

The celestial phenomena, which have been variously described as the aftermath of A-bomb explosions, space ships from Mars and the product of mass hypnotism, have been sighted both in Tunisian and Algerian skies.

Several witnesses reported today having seen a "very brilliant disk-shaped object with two short tails" skating along between Tunis Bizerte.

Father Blanc, a priest who has a local reputation as an astronomer and man of science, said it was traveling much too slow to have been a shooting star.

"The disk was in sight for nearly a full minute while it described a trajectory between Tunis and Bizerte, a distance of some 35 miles," he said, "whereas a shooting star is rarely visible for more than two seconds."

The chances of quadruplets occurring are one in 599,921.

Rotary Hears Of Past, Future

Club Addressed By Rhoads, Rev. Rose

New Castle Rotary club heard echoes from the past and a word for the future at the week luncheon of the club in The Castleton Monday noon.

S. H. Rhoads, speaking of the past, told his fellow-Rotarians that in the days immediaetly following the turn of the century, such meetings as Rotary was enjoying did not come into being until 1905, and that New Castle Rotoary was not founded until 1913. It in turn fathered Rotary club at Sharon, New Wilmington, Grove City and Bessemer.

Its immediate function was largely social, but in turn it made its voice felt in national and world affairs, resulting in improved trade conditions, better care for under-privileged children, and became international in scope.

Today, Rotary embraces 7,000 clubs, with 350,000 members in 82 countries.

Sees Best Yet To Come

Rev. J. Calvin Rose, pastor of the Second U. P. church, speaking of the future, stated that "the best is yet to come. If I had the powers of prophecy such as Jeremiah and the men of his time, you men would not believe me any more than did the men of their generation."

Science will undoubtedly provide us with power not yet dreamed of; the best in philosophy has already been given us, and I might give you a prophecy of doom for the future, as depicted by the new terrible weapons which men are on the verge of discovering.

Men seem to love pleasure more than they do religion, as witnessed by the money spent on liquor, tobacco and other things which tempt the appetite, rather than on religion.

He stated that, in his belief, the churches of the community must organize in a spirit of unity and cooperation in order to go forward. He reiterated his belief in the World Council of Churches which is bringing a ray of hope to those countries behind the iron curtain, who hope some day to regain their freedom.

Must Pray Together

Men must change their basic attitude toward man, and get away from the "what is there in it for me attitude". They must minister, rather than be ministered unto. Churches of all denominations must pray together and work together for the good of the community.

Rev. Rose praised the attitude of The News in refusing as a matter of principle to public advertisements for liquor, which tend only to debase the young people of the community, rather than to uplift them.

He stated that he would like to see the Rotary club take an interest in such movements as the Hoover commission, to bring economy in government and in those things which would benefit all mankind.

In conclusion, he stated that in our own hearts we must regard each other as brothers and practice what we preach as Rotarians. We must march together, not only to meet a new age, but to create it.

F.B.I. Undercover Agent Tells Spy Probers About Reds

WASHINGTON, March 7—(INS)—An FBI undercover agent told House spy probers today that Communists used his music and jewelry shop in Pittsburgh for six years as a secret meeting place.

The agent, George E. Dietze, was called into a closed session of the House un-American activities committee to give full details of his work as a secret government informant.

Before the session, Dietze told newsmen that he joined the party in 1944 and made regular reports to the FBI on Communist activities in Western Pennsylvania.

He said he ended his double life as a secret agent Saturday to "put an end to the insults and abuse I'd been getting as a Communist."

The 51-year-old witness identified himself as a music teacher and an engraver.

He related that top officials of the party used his shop, now located at 943 Liberty street, as a secret meeting place during his activities in the Communist party.

Dietze also said that he met almost daily with Matthew Cvetic, another FBI agent planted in the party, but that neither knew the other was assisting the government.

Housewife's Ear Detects Split Rail

ELIZABETH, N. J., March 7—An alert housewife was credited today with detecting by ear a broken rail section on a freight track near her home.

A Pennsylvania Railroad spokesman said police and railroad workers found the break shortly after receiving a call from Mrs. Neil Olsen, of 120 Rahway avenue, that a passing train made a peculiar banging noise.

The break was a seven-inch section on the railroad's westbound freight track at the Pearl street bridge.

Mrs. Olsen told police she heard the banging noise as she was going about her daily housework routine.

High School Girl Holds Council Post

HARVEYSBURG, O. — A high school girl is serving as a member of the village council here and local residents believe she may be the only student in the Nation holding such a job.

Age was no barrier to the election of Miss Jane Ellen Fite to the council, since she's 25 years old. Miss Fite returned to school here last September after dropping out seven years ago. She's a senior now.

Despite her age, Miss Fite is taking an active part in high school affairs and has been accepted by both pupil and teachers.

Urges Veterans To Spur Registrations

HARRISBURG, March 7.—(INS)—Veterans of Foreign Wars state commander G. Lynn Brotherson of Erie has advised the state's 800 posts to wage an active campaign to register veterans and other citizens to vote in the primary election May 16.

According to Brotherson, the combined VFW membership and auxiliary is in personal contact with 1,000,000 adult Pennsylvanians, representing approximately 25 per cent of the state's voters.

The VFW will carry its drive into every community in the state, he said, as part of its "good citizenship program".

Report New Stone Crushing Plant To Be Started Here

While no specific details are available today, it was learned from an authoritative source that a new stone crushing plant will be located in Shenango township soon.

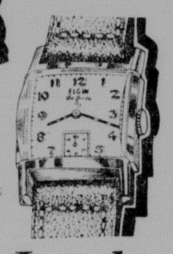

The information received is that Gallagher and Nelson, who have been operating in Madison, Wisconsin, have purchased 90 acres of land in the Hog Hollow district, of Shenango township, and will install crushing materials and necessary buildings within the near future.

Construction of Highway 422, the new turnpike, and probable improvements of Route 18 and other highways in this district will create a market for stone. Apparently seeing a market here in the next few years the company has decided to locate in Lawrence County.

No act committed by any person under seven years of age is considered a crime.

HOLLYWOOD, March 7. — A whole host of Hollywood talent scouts are eating breast of crow, under glass, these days.

These scouts are characters supposedly with quivering nostrils and nothing less than 20-20 vision so they can beat bushes for future movie stars.

If "to err is human," these scouts certainly are qualified as homo sapiens.

And for every crimson-visaged scout hiding in glamourville, there is a big-name star who guffaws everytime he thinks about his own "dismal flop."

Like Baseball Scouts

The Hollywood scouts are like so many baseball scouts who turn thumbs-down on a sandlot youngster only to see him develop later into a Joe DiMaggio or Ted Williams.

John Lund, the handsome actor, is a good case in point. Several years ago Lund was striving for a start on the stage. A major studio figured he was leading man material. Screen tests were shot in New York. The big brains viewed Mr. Lund on celluloid and said that if John was an actor they were diamond cutters.

Lund had to wait four more years to get another test. He passed it with colors flying.

Today he is the male star of "My Friend Irma Goes West."

Many movie fans have an idea that "This Gun for Hire," which catapulted Alan Ladd to stardom, was his first film. Actually Ladd appeared in 55 "quickie" movies before he got his big break. Today he is one of the biggest box office names in the movie dodge.

Montgomery Clift suffered a similar fate. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer had him under contract but he got lost in the shuffle.

Then Howard Hawks gave him a chance in "Red River." When he became an overnight sensation and an idol of the bobby sox brigade, M-G-M bosses were astounded to learn that he once belonged to them.

Keefe Brasselle originally was signed by Eagle-Lion. In one year all he did was appear in a brief scene as a hold-up man. He was fired and turned to selling shoes and peddling used cars.

Ida Lupino gave him a part in "Not Wanted." Today the studios which ignored him are bidding hot and heavy for his services.

Fred Astaire, probably the world's greatest dancer, still chuckles when he remembers the report that was scribbled across his first movie test:

"This man can't act. Slightly bald. Can dance a little."

Club Addressed By Rhoads, Rev. Rose

New Castle Rotary club heard echoes from the past and a word for the future at the week luncheon of the club in The Castleton Monday noon.

S. H. Rhoads, speaking of the past, told his fellow-Rotarians that in the days immediaetly following the turn of the century, such meetings as Rotary was enjoying did not come into being until 1905, and that New Castle Rotoary was not founded until 1913. It in turn fathered Rotary club at Sharon, New Wilmington, Grove City and Bessemer.

Its immediate function was largely social, but in turn it made its voice felt in national and world affairs, resulting in improved trade conditions, better care for under-privileged children, and became international in scope.

Today, Rotary embraces 7,000 clubs, with 350,000 members in 82 countries.

Sees Best Yet To Come

Rev. J. Calvin Rose, pastor of the Second U. P. church, speaking of the future, stated that "the best is yet to come. If I had the powers of prophecy such as Jeremiah and the men of his time, you men would not believe me any more than did the men of their generation."

Science will undoubtedly provide us with power not yet dreamed of; the best in philosophy has already been given us, and I might give you a prophecy of doom for the future, as depicted by the new terrible weapons which men are on the verge of discovering.

Men seem to love pleasure more than they do religion, as witnessed by the money spent on liquor, tobacco and other things which tempt the appetite, rather than on religion.

He stated that, in his belief, the churches of the community must organize in a spirit of unity and cooperation in order to go forward. He reiterated his belief in the World Council of Churches which is bringing a ray of hope to those countries behind the iron curtain, who hope some day to regain their freedom.

Must Pray Together

Men must change their basic attitude toward man, and get away from the "what is there in it for me attitude". They must minister, rather than be ministered unto. Churches of all denominations must pray together and work together for the good of the community.

Rev. Rose praised the attitude of The News in refusing as a matter of principle to public advertisements for liquor, which tend only to debase the young people of the community, rather than to uplift them.

Thirty Cases For Grand Jury

Pleas Expected In Many Before Court

Thirty bills of indictment were handed up to the grand jury Monday morning by District Attorney Sherman K. Levine. The number of bills does not indicate the number of defendants.

In one case a defendant is charged on 12 bills of indictment with forgery. Other defendants have from two to four indictments against them.

It is anticipated there will be about 18 defendants, of which it is thought some will plead guilty before the opening of criminal court on Monday, March 13.

Elizabeth Nesbitt, housekeeper, of Neshannock township was appointed foreman of the grand jury when it was convened Monday morning.

ASKS ACCOUNTING

In an equity suit filed by Jay G. Rudolph he asks an accounting of the Ellwood Service Center, Inc., and the return of $3,162.72 he claims is due him.

The suit is directed against Louis A. Orlando and the Ellwood Service Center, Inc. In the suit Mr. Rudolph claims that on October 30, 1945, he entered into a partnership with Mr. Orlando to conduct a service and sales agency in Ellwood City.

They conducted a partnership until August 31, 1949. In the meantime Mr. Rudolph claims real estate was transferred to Mr. Orlando to the value of approximately $10,000. Of this amount at least $7,000 is claimed by Mr. Rudolph. It is set out that $5,000 has been returned "belatedly" to Mr. Rudolph but there is still due him $3,162.72.

Mr. Rudolph claims Mr. Orlando has taken in another partner, that he is conducting business with the books of the former partnership and asks that a receiver be appointed and an accounting made.

P.H.C. Installs Elected Officers

Members and guests of the Protected Home Circle, number 5, met in the I.O.O.F. hall recently for their regular business and formal installation of officers.

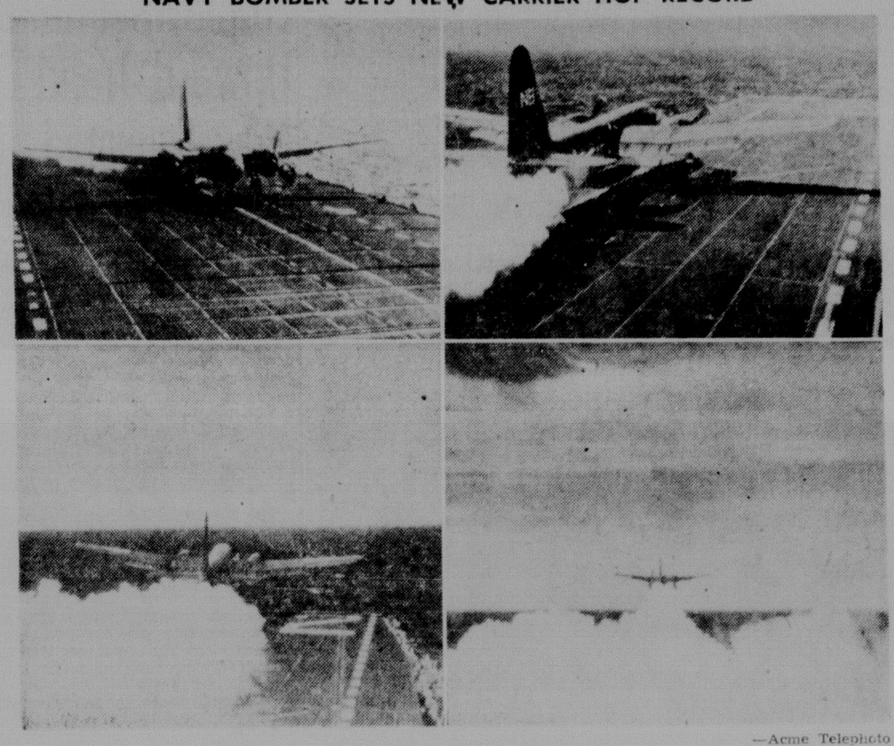

Mrs. Helen Hall was elected president; Mrs. Irene Emerick, vice president; Mrs. Mary Patterson, chaplain; Belle Kennedy, guardian; Mrs. Maude Forrester, secretary; Mrs. Bess Lutz, treasurer; Mrs. Donna Long, guide; J. W. Cartwright, accountant; Mrs. Helen Fobes, companion; Mrs. Avis McGriff, sentinel; Miss Mary Hammil, watchman; Mrs. Mae Hammond, pianist; and Mrs. Edna Osborne, past president.

Mrs. Helen Hall, the re-elected president, formed a circle about the altar and presented her officers with a gift for their congenial cooperation the past term. She also presented gifts to the Supreme Deputy, V. C. Stevens and wife, and District Deputy, T. V. Radford and wife. In return, the officers gave Mrs. Hall a beautiful corsage and other personal gifts.

A special feature of the evening was the presentation of the installing officer, V. C. Stevens and wife of Greenville, to the group, by the guide and companion. The couple were given a lovely gift in honor of their forty-sixth wedding anniversary.

Delicious refresments were later served by the guardian, Mrs. Kennedy, and her committee.

NAVY BOMBER SETS NEW CARRIER HOP RECORD

Hospital For Aged Urged By Dewey

NEW YORK, March 7.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey proposed today that New York "again lead the nation" by establishing a state hospital devoted mainly to combating diseases of the aged.

Medical advances are prolonging life and creating an "aging society," Dewey said. He wants New York to be the first state to sponsor research specifically in the chronic illness of age so "the added years science is conferring on us will be worth living."

In a speech at the 65th annual meeting of the Hebrew Sheltering and Emigrant Aid society, the governor revealed he would submit his proposal to the legislature in 10 days in his supplemental budget. The hospital would be located at Buffalo.

The first American almanac written by William Pierce of Cambridge, Mass., was published in 1639.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

In one case a defendant is charged on 12 bills of indictment with forgery. Other defendants have from two to four indictments against them.

It is anticipated there will be about 18 defendants, of which it is thought some will plead guilty before the opening of criminal court on Monday, March 13.

Of this amount at least $7,000 is claimed by Mr. Rudolph. It is set out that $5,000 has been returned "belatedly" to Mr. Rudolph but there is still due him $3,162.72.

Mr. Rudolph claims Mr. Orlando has taken in another partner, that he is conducting business with the books of the former partnership and asks that a receiver be appointed and an accounting made.

Hospital For Aged Urged By Dewey

NEW YORK, March 7.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey proposed today that New York "again lead the nation" by establishing a state hospital devoted mainly to combating diseases of the aged.

Medical advances are prolonging life and creating an "aging society," Dewey said. He wants New York to be the first state to sponsor research specifically in the chronic illness of age so "the added years science is conferring on us will be worth living."

In a speech at the 65th annual meeting of the Hebrew Sheltering and Emigrant Aid society, the governor revealed he would submit his proposal to the legislature in 10 days in his supplemental budget. The hospital would be located at Buffalo.

The first American almanac written by William Pierce of Cambridge, Mass., was published in 1639.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Woman's Club Names Officers

Piano Quartet And Speaker On Program

An election of new officers highlighted the meeting of the Woman's club on Monday afternoon at the Highland U. P. church.

The new president is Mrs. Wilbur Flannery; first vice president, Mrs. C. R. Brenner; second vice president, Mrs. G. Wilfert Thomas; recording secretary, Mrs. Louis Sandler; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. L. Thompson; treasurer, Mrs. Floyd Perrine; historian, Mrs. John Ingham; and parliamentarian, Mrs. W. L. Strawbridge.

Mrs. C. R. Brenner introduced Mrs. Ralph Cooper, program chairman for the meeting. "We are fortunate," said Mrs. Cooper, "to have outstanding musicians in New Castle. I am pleased to present a piano quartet composed of Mrs. Jay L. Reed, Mrs. Paul A. Welsh, Miss Barabra Schultz, and Mrs. S. Glenn McCracken."

Many Numbers

"We shall present a variety of numbers, including selections from the romantic period, folk songs and modern numbers," said Mrs. Welsh. The first number by the quartet was the "Valse Brilliante", by Moszkowski, reflecting a gay spirited mood. The "Turkish March" from the Ruins of Athens by Beethoven, is a perfect example of how poetry and action can be combined in music. One can clearly imagine the marching feet of many soldiers.

Granger's "Country Gardens" won many friends at the meeting with its captivating grace and beauty. The "Romance and Valse" from the Arensky Suite for two pianos, was presented by Mrs. McCracken and Mrs. Reed. Expressing varied moods, at one time it displayed tenderness and the developed with dramatic fire. As a closing number, the "Prayer to Our Lady" from the Suite Gothique by Boellmann, proved to be a favorite with the club. Its quiet, lovely strains seemed to make everyone oblivious to the world about her. The applause was a definite "thank you" for the gracious manner in which the program was presented.

Mrs. Cooper then introduced A. H. Butler of New Castle, a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. "There are special qualifications that one must meet to become a member of the F.B.I. He must have attended and been graduated from a credited law school and be an attorney. But besides the regular members of the Bureau, there are many informers, for the public is the eyes and ears of the F.B.I."

F. B. I. Born

"The organization was begun in 1908, but became known as the F.B.I. in 1924 when Harlan Stone became attorney general. J. Edgar Hoover became its director. The Identification Division was soon initiated, with over 113,000,000 prints now on file. There are in two groups, the criminal and non-criminal, with one card for every twenty people in the United States in the criminal division."

"The National Academy was originated on July 25, 1935, and became a school for police officers. The twelve weeks' course brought a closer relationship between the police and F.B.I. agents. This cooperation was shown at the attack of Pearl Harbor, when, seventy-two hours after the bombing, over 1300 potential dangerous enemy aliens were captured."

Several interesting cases were cited by Mr. Butler before the discussion was brought to a close.

A list of new club members was then read by Mrs. Earl Henderson, including Mr. Hyman Frank, Mrs. Eva Leohner Gerould, Mrs. Carl Muth, Mrs. John Meehan, Mrs. Alfred Mellor, Mrs. B. M. Mott, Mrs. Louis E. Pondy, Mrs. W. Henry Rodgers, Mrs. S. A. Rosen, and Mrs. Frank Hanna.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Harold Leach, Mrs. U. A. Leivo, Mrs. T. A. Lewis, and Mrs. Harry Marshall.

Cleveland Has $300,000 Fire

CLEVELAND, March 7.—(INS)—Firemen were still fighting today to extinguish the smoldering remains of a five-alarm fire that demolished a four-story brick building on the southern edge of downtown Cleveland.

The blaze, which caused an estimated $300,000 damage, was brought under control one hour after it started late last night.

Some 30,000 gallons of water per minute were poured on the flames during the peak of the fire, as gusty winds blew smoke and ashes over the downtown district.

Fire Chief Elmer M. Cain said the fire apparently started in the quarters occupied by the David Lombardy Co., wholesale grocers on the first floor.

The shields of Roman soldiers had iron borders, and where also studded with iron.

Delay Action On 'Point Four' In Truman's Plan

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The threat of a major administration defeat on foreign policy has pushed President Truman's "point four" program for aid to backward countries close to the legislative discard.

Congressional sources said today that a decision has been reached to postpone action on the legislation until later in the session.

It may be called up after the House has disposed of the new European recovery program authorization, but the possibility was not entirely ruled out that it may never be acted upon by this Congress.

Innumerable Delays

Although the president has repeatedly pressed for speedy action on his program to extend economic and technical aid to backward foreign areas, innumerable delays have held up the legislation.

Now the leadership has decided to play it safe and take no action for the time being. It is afraid if it pressed for a vote, it might not only go down to defeat, but the adverse vote might jeopardize the more important ERP legislation.

Two point four bills have been ready for House consideration. One was reported at the last session by the Banking and Currency committee, while a second was approved by the Foreign Affairs committee February 21. Neither bill has been pressed since then.

To Place Embargo

The House leadership was understood to have decided to place an embargo on further foreign aid legislation until after the House has acted on the three billion dollar ERP measure.

Two adverse notes this session on foreign aid bills caused the leadership to take this action. On January 11 the House voted 193 to 191 against a $60,000,000 Korean aid bill, while last week the House voted 265 to 103 against a minor measure authorizing the expenditure of one and one-fourth million dollars for European libraries.

The House reversed itself on the Korean aid bill, but only after the administration capitulated to the extent of including token aid for the Chinese Nationalist regime in order to pick up more votes.

There has been pending since Last October 10 a bill authorizing the appropriation of funds for various international organizations to which this country belongs. The leadership has not called this bill up because it is convinced it would be defeated in the House's present mood.

INCOME TAX PROBLEMS?

NEWARK, N. J., March 7.—(INS)—If you think you've got income tax problems, consider the case of Rudolph Friedman.

Every time Friedman, 75, starts getting money together to pay Uncle Sam his due on March 15 he gets held up.

It happened last night for the fifth time when two teen-aged boys held him up at gunpoint and fled with $50.

Churchill To Start Debate On Program

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, March 7.—Winston Churchill is expected to set the stage for Tory opposition to the Socialist legislative program when debate is resumed today in Commons.

The wartime British premier will center his attack on the program's alleged failure to offer specific proposals to alleviate the housing shortage and on the Socialist stand to nationalize the iron and steel industry.

The Socialist speech, drafted by Prime Minister Clement Attlee and his cabinet, was read to Parliament yesterday by King George VI.

"Mild Proposals"

It contained a number of non-controversial "mild proposals" and made no mention of pursuing the nationalization program stringly opposed by the Conservatives.

Attlee during debate served notice his government intends to bring about steel nationalization if it stays in power. Steel nationalization is scheduled to start operating next January unless it is repealed beforehand.

The Conservatives introduced two resolutions challenging the Socialists on the steel nationalization and housing program—a challenge, which if successful might involve the resignation of the government.

The Conservative leadership indicated strongly that it expected repeal of the steel nationalization law in view of labor's slim seven seat majority in Commons.

Boy's Torn Shirt Leads To School Kicking Incident

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—(INS)—A boy's torn shirt led to a kicking incident between his mother and his teacher which resulted in the mother being held for court on assault and battery and surety of the peace charges.

Mrs. Doris Cobb Smith, 30, of nearby Heidelberg told Alderman Leonard A. Civill last night in Pittsburgh that she kicked Mrs. Vera Bernauer because her son's shirt had been torn in the classroom.

Mrs. Bernauer, however, denied tearing the shirt and said she merely had twisted Harry, a 13-year-old eighth grade pupil, about before taking him to the principal's office for disciplinary action.

Principal Joseph Wynnik, in an attempt to settle the matter peaceably, had offered to pay for mending Harry's shirt when his mother visited the school.

According to Harry's teacher, that's when the kicking occurred.

Legion Auxiliary Listens To Reports

Membership Chairman Clara Speed gave a report on membership. Activity Chairman Maud Forrester, planned several activities for the unit, one of which will be a social time to be held March 20, at 8 o'clock in the Legion Home, to which the general public is invited, which will take the form of a card party.

Education of war orphans chairman Dorothy Boyle, brought a report on our orphan at Scotland school. She read a letter which he wrote, thanking the unit for birthday gift and spending money we had sent him. Pan-American chairman Lillian Hartman gave an outline of Pan-American study.

The unit voted to send a check to the Red Cross Drive. Mrs. Elizabeth Miller gave her report on National Defense Dinner on February 20.

Next business meeting April 3, at 8 p. m., in the Legion Home.

Commercial airline operations were begun May 17, 1920, by a Dutch airline still operating.

The first Atlantic cable was laid between Cape Breton, N. S., and Newfoundland in 1885.

'Mercy-Killing' Trial Tops Famed Cases In Reader Interest

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 7.—(INS)—The Dr. Sander "mercy-killing" trial has topped the famed Hauptman murder trial in reader interest.

Coverage of the Bruno Hauptmann trial for the kidnaping and murder of Charles Lindberg's baby son reached a climax with a record of 300,0000 words of "press" filed in one day. But today, the trial of Dr. Hermann N. Sander, accused of the slaying of a cancer-ridden patient, Mrs. Abbie Borroto, 59, overshadowed that file.

Western Union, alone, handled an estimated 275,000 words of press yesterday when the accused country physician took the witness stand in his own defense and told his own story of the death of his patient and dear friend.

International News Service, on its own wires direct from Hillsborough county courthouse, sent 15,000 words. Two other major Press associations telephoned similar sized reports of the day's action to their nearest offices.

and and father who put his practice above everything, to the extent the family had virtually no home life.

Believed Woman Dead

Dr. Sander, charged with the air injection killing of a cancer patient, Mrs. Abbie Borroto, climaxed his own case yesterday with a dramatic appearance on the witness stand.

He testified he believed the woman dead when he pumped air into her veins, but couldn't explain why he did it, saying something "snapped" in his mind when he looked upon the woman's face, frozen in suffering.

Mrs. Sander is expected to be one of the last witnesses for the defense as the case nears a wind-up.

The case may go to the jury tomorrow.

FARMER ADVICE

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(INS)—Agricultural economist L. H. Brown predicted "the next few years will be a poor time" for a young farmer to get a start "on a shoe string". The Michigan State college economist explained the country apparently is entering a period of declining farm prices. Brown advised "a young man with limited capital would probably do better to invest his capital in machinery and livestock and rent a good farm on a 50-50 livestock and a share lease.

Employment Upward Trend Now Expected

WASHINGTON, March 7—(INS)—Unemployment showed a slight increase in February but government officials said today they believe the two-month upward trend in jobless ranks may be reversed this month.

The census bureau estimated that 4,684,000 persons were out of work during its survey week in early February. This was the highest figure since August, 1941, when employment amounted to 5,620,000.

Last month's raise was comparatively mild, totaling 204,000. Census said it stemmed from the entrance of new workers into the labor force who were unable to find jobs.

The bureau added that its survey was not affected by the soft coal shutdown since the impact of the strike had not yet spread to other industries to any appreciable extent.

Also, the unemployment figure did not include striking members of the United Mine Workers Union since they are counted as having jobs but not at work.

Commerce Secretary Sawyer and the bureau explained that the February increase was seasonal. Sawyer said:

"The latest census bureau estimate show that non-farm employment seems to be holding steady this year in contrast to last year.

"The slight rise in unemployment between January and February appears to be due mainly to a seasonal increase in the labor force and not to any cutbacks in employment."

State Bonus Checks Are Being Written

HARRISBUR, March 7.—(INS)—The first block of 30,000 bonus checks will start through the check writing machine at the Veterans Compensation Bureau today.

The machine will make up the checks from punched cards of veterans whose applications have been approved for payment.

More than 322,000 applications have been started through the processing mill and papers are going into the hopper at the rate of 12,000 a day. More than a million were mailed to the bureau less than a month after forms were distributed.

A target of 300,000 has been fixed for approval by March 17, the first day checks go out. It is expected 118,000 will be approved by next Monday.

charged that she possessed government secrets "lawfully or unlawfully."

The foreman explained that in the mimeographed copy of the indictment given the jurors the prefix "un" had been marked out in pencil.

Judge Ryan explained that the word was to read "lawfully."

Defense attorney Leonard Boudin immediately moved for a dismissal of the second count and for a directed verdict of acquittal. He declared that the defense had conducted its case on the basis that the government charged his client with having papers unlawfully.

After considerable argument Judge Ryan denied the motion.

Went To Jury Monday Afternoon

The case went to the jury at 4:34 p.m. yesterday in the 24th day of the trial. The actual deliberations took up four hours and 49 minutes.

Judge Ryan permitted both defendants their liberty on bail. Miss Coplon in $40,000 and the little male defendant in $100,000.

He said he was permitting them to be free so they could examine their files for the original indictment.

Miss Coplon, who has been sentenced to 40 months to 10 years in a previous trial in Washington could be sentenced to a total of 35 years and fined $20,000 if found guilty on all three counts.

Gubitchev, who was indicted on two counts, faces a maximum 15-year prison term and fines of $20,000.

While the jury was deliberating Gubitchev, sitting in the courtroom, looked out of the windws with seeming unconcern or closed his eyes as if asleep. Once he went into the foyer to talk with friends and newsmen.

Miss Coplon, a Barnard college honor graduate, talked and joked with her lawyers. Early in the evening she took her shoes off.

Miss Coplon, wearing a maroon skirt and mustard colored sweater did not look at Gubitchev nor he at her.

In its summation the defense had pictured the couple as lovers meeting furtively against a background of the cold war in which their countries were involved.

The prosecution charged there was no evidence of a love affair and that the pair's clandestine meetings were arranged with intent to commit espionage.

School Fund Now $119,746

Fifth Report Made At Meeting

The fifth report of the St. Vitus church parochial school fund gave the total to date as $119,746, with the total pledges being 1,315.

Monday evening's report held in the church hall was attended by approximately 125 workers. Last evening's new pledges amounted to 257 subscriptions which in all amounted to $13,588.

Alfonso Scarazzo, general chairman presided during the meeting. Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, pastor of St. Vitus church gave the invocation.

Enthusiastic Meeting

It was an enthusiastic meeting held Monday evening, and the workers, together with their pastor and general chairman, have every hope that the campaign will soon reach its goal.

The school will cost $250,000. The campaign drive is striving to reach the goal of collecting $150,000. There is already $100,000 on hand. The committee feels gratified that of the $150,000, an amount of $119,746 has been reached, and it will not be long before the entire $150,000 will be collected.

The announcement was made that there will be only two more report meetings held. The sixth report meeting will be on Thursday, March 9, and the seventh, on Monday, March 13. By then the committee feels that the goal will have been reached.

Woman's Club Names Officers

Piano Quartet And Speaker On Program

An election of new officers highlighted the meeting of the Woman's club on Monday afternoon at the Highland U. P. church.

The new president is Mrs. Wilbur Flannery; first vice president, Mrs. C. R. Brenner; second vice president, Mrs. G. Wilfert Thomas; recording secretary, Mrs. Louis Sandler; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. L. Thompson; treasurer, Mrs. Floyd Perrine; historian,, Mrs. John Ingham; and parliamentarian, Mrs. W. L. Strawbridge.

Mrs. C. R. Brenner introduced Mrs. Ralph Cooper, program chairman for the meeting. "We are fortunate," said Mrs. Cooper, "to have outstanding musicians in New Castle. I am pleased to present a piano quartet composed of Mrs. Jay L. Reed, Mrs. Paul A. Welsh, Miss Barabra Schultz, and Mrs. S. Glenn McCracken."

Many Numbers

"We shall present a variety of numbers, including selections from the romantic period, folk songs and modern numbers," said Mrs. Welsh. The first number by the quartet was the "Valse Brilliante", by Moszkowski, reflecting a gay spirited mood. The "Turkish March" from the Ruins of Athens by Beethoven, is a perfect example of how poetry and action can be combined in music. One can clearly imagine the marching feet of many soldiers.

Granger's "Country Gardens" won many friends at the meeting with its captivating grace and beauty. The "Romance and Valse" from the Arensky Suite for two pianos, was presented by Mrs. McCracken and Mrs. Reed. Expressing varied moods, at one time it displayed tenderness and the developed with dramatic fire. As a closing number, the "Prayer to Our Lady" from the Suite Gothique by Boellmann, proved to be a favorite with the club. Its quiet, lovely strains seemed to make everyone oblivious to the world about her. The applause was a definite "thank you" for the gracious manner in which the program was presented.

Mrs. Cooper then introduced A. H. Butler of New Castle, a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. "There are special qualifications that one must meet to become a member of the F.B.I. He must have attended and been graduated from a credited law school and be an attorney. But besides the regular members of the Bureau, there are many informers, for the public is the eyes and ears of the F.B.I."

F. B. I. Born

"The organization was begun in 1908, but became known as the F.B.I. in 1924 when Harlan Stone became attorney general. J. Edgar Hoover became its director. The Identification Division was soon initiated, with over 113,000,000 prints now on file. There are in two groups, the criminal and non-criminal, with one card for every twenty people in the United States in the criminal division."

"The National Academy was originated on July 25, 1935, and became a school for police officers. The twelve weeks' course brought a closer relationship between the police and F.B.I. agents. This cooperation was shown at the attack of Pearl Harbor, when, seventy-two hours after the bombing, over 1300 potential dangerous enemy aliens were captured."

Several interesting cases were cited by Mr. Butler before the discussion was brought to a close.

A list of new club members was then read by Mrs. Earl Henderson, including Mr. Hyman Frank, Mrs. Eva Leohner Gerould, Mrs. Carl Muth, Mrs. John Meehan, Mrs. Alfred Mellor, Mrs. B. M. Mott, Mrs. Louis E. Pondy, Mrs. W. Henry Rodgers, Mrs. S. A. Rosen, and Mrs. Frank Hanna.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Harold Leach, Mrs U. A. Leivo, Mrs. T. A. Lewis, and Mrs. Harry Marshall.

Cleveland Has $300,000 Fire

CLEVELAND, March 7.—(INS)—Firemen were still fighting today to extinguish the smoldering remains of a five-alarm fire that demolished a four-story brick building on the southern edge of downtown Cleveland.

The blaze, which caused an estimated $300,000 damage, was brought under control one hour after it started late last night.

Some 30,000 gallons of water per minute were poured on the flames during the peak of the fire, as gusty winds blew smoke and ashes over the downtown district.

Fire Chief Elmer M. Cain said the fire apparently started in the quarters occupied by the David Lombardy Co., wholesale grocers on the first floor.

Delay Action On 'Point Four' In Truman's Plan

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The threat of a major administration defeat on foreign policy has pushed President Truman's "point four" program for aid to backward countries close to the legislative discard.

Congressional sources said today that a decision has been reached to postpone action on the legislation until later in the session.

It may be called up after the House has disposed of the new European recovery program authorization, but the possibility was not entirely ruled out that it may never be acted upon by this Congress.

Innumerable Delays

Although the president has repeatedly pressed for speedy action on his program to extend economic and technical aid to backward foreign areas, innumerable delays have held up the legislation.

Now the leadership has decided to play it safe and take no action for the time being. It is afraid if it pressed for a vote, it might not only go down to defeat, but the adverse vote might jeopardize the more important ERP legislation.

Two point four bills have been ready for House consideration. One was reported at the last session by the Banking and Currency committee, while a second was approved by the Foreign Affairs committee February 21. Neither bill has been pressed since then

The House leadership was understood to have decided to place an embargo on further foreign aid legislation until after the House has acted on the three billion dollar ERP measure

Two adverse notes this session on foreign aid bills caused the leadership to take this action. On January 11 the House voted 193 to 191 against a $60,000,000 Korean aid bill, while last week the House voted 265 to 103 against a minor measure authorizing the expenditure of one and one-fourth million dollars for European libraries.

The House reversed itself on the Korean aid bill, but only after the administration capitulated to the extent of including token aid for the Chinese Nationalist regime in order to pick up more votes.

There has been pending since Last October 10 a bill authorizing the appropriation of funds for various international organizations to which this country belongs. The leadership has not called this bill up because it is convinced it would be defeated in the House's present mood.

INCOME TAX PROBLEMS?

NEWARK, N. J., March 7.—(INS)—If you think you've got income tax problems, consider the case of Rudolph Friedman.

Every time Friedman, 75, starts getting money together to pay Uncle Sam his due on March 15 he gets held up.

It happened last night for the fifth time when two teen-aged boys held him up at gunpoint and fled with $50.

Churchill To Start Debate On Program

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, March 7.—Winston Churchill is expected to set the stage for Tory opposition to the Socialist legislative program when debate is resumed today in Commons.

The wartime British premier will center his attack on the program's alleged failure to offer specific proposals to alleviate the housing shortage and on the Socialist stand to nationalize the iron and steel industry.

The Socialist speech, drafted by Prime Minister Clement Attlee and his cabinet, was read to Parliament yesterday by King George VI.

"Mild Proposals"

It contained a number of non-controversial "mild proposals" and made no mention of pursuing the nationalization program stringly opposed by the Conservatives.

Attlee during debate served notice his government intends to bring about steel nationalization if it stays in power. Steel nationalization is scheduled to start operating next January unless it is repealed beforehand.

The Conservatives introduced two resolutions challenging the Socialists on the steel nationalization and housing program—a challenge, which if successful might involve the resignation of the government.

The Conservative leadership indicated strongly that it expected repeal of the steel nationalization law in view of labor's slim seven seat majority in Commons.

Boy's Torn Shirt Leads To School Kicking Incident

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—(INS)—A boy's torn shirt led to a kicking incident between his mother and his teacher which resulted in the mother being held for court on assault and battery and surety of the peace charges.

Mrs. Doris Cobb Smith, 30, of nearby Heidelberg told Alderman Leonard A. Civill last night in Pittsburgh that she kicked Mrs. Vera Bernauer because her son's shirt had been torn in the classroom.

Mrs. Bernauer, however, denied tearing the shirt and said she merely had twisted Harry, a 13-year-old eighth grade pupil, about before taking him to the principal's office for disciplinary action.

Principal Joseph Wynnik, in an attempt to settle the matter peaceably, had offered to pay for mending Harry's shirt when his mother visited the school.

According to Harry's teacher, that's when the kicking occurred.

Legion Auxiliary Listens To Reports

Membership Chairman Clara Speed gave a report on membership. Activity Chairman Maud Forrester, planned several activities for the unit, one of which will be a social time to be held March 20, at 8 o'clock in the Legion Home, to which the general public is invited, which will take the form of a card party.

Education of war orphans chairman Dorothy Boyle, brought a report on our orphan at Scotland school. She read a letter which he wrote, thanking the unit for birthday gift and spending money we had sent him. Pan-American chairman Lillian Hartman gave an outline of Pan-American study.

The unit voted to send a check to the Red Cross Drive. Mrs. Elizabeth Miller gave her report on National Defense Dinner on February 20.

'Mercy-Killing' Trial Tops Famed Cases In Reader Interest

MANCHESTER, N. H ,March 7.—(INS)—The Dr. Sander "mercy-killing" trial has topped the famed Hauptman murder trial in reader interest.

Coverage of the Bruno Hauptmann trial for the kidnaping and murder of Charles Lindberg's baby son reached a climax with a record of 300,0000 words of "press" filed in one day. But today, the trial of Dr. Hermann N. Sander, accused of the slaying of a cancer-ridden patient, Mrs. Abbie Borroto, 59, overshadowed that file.

Western Union, alone, handled an estimated 275,000 words of press yesterday when the accused country physician took the witness stand in his own defense and told his own story of the death of his patient and dear friend.

International News Service, on its own wires direct from Hillsborough county courthouse, sent 15,000 words. Two other major Press associations telephoned similar sized reports of the day's action to their nearest offices.

and and father who put his practice above everything, to the extent the family had virtually no home life.

Believed Woman Dead

Dr. Sander, charged with the air injection killing of a cancer patient, Mrs. Abbie Borroto, climaxed his own case yesterday with a dramatic appearance on the witness stand.

He testified he believed the woman dead when he pumped air into her veins, but couldn't explain why he did it, saying something "snapped" in his mind when he looked upon the woman's face, frozen in suffering.

Mrs. Sander is expected to be one of the last witnesses for the defense as the case nears a wind-up.

The case may go to the jury tomorrow.

FARMER ADVICE

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(INS)—Agricultural economist L. H. Brown predicted "the next few years will be a poor time" for a young farmer to get a start "on a shoe string". The Michigan State college economist explained the country apparently is entering a period of declining farm prices. Brown advised "a young man with limited capital would probably do better to invest his capital in machinery and livestock and rent a good farm on a 50-50 livestock and a share lease.

Power Company Annual Report Shows Progress

Importance of electricity in the home is evident in the annual report to stockholders of Pennsylvania Power Company for 1949, which has just been issued. This is emphasized on the front cover, which features a colored photograph of Mrs. James C. Bradford and her daughter, Barbara, of New Castle, in their attractive kitchen.

The use of resdential electricity by the company's customers continued to increase, amounting to an average of 2,044 kilowatt hours per customer in 1949, compared with 1,905 in 1948. The average price deceased to 2.68 cents per kilowatt hour from 2.77 in 1948.

The farm electrification program has made extensive progress with 96% of the farms in the area connected to the company's lines.

Of the 614 employees on the payroll, 24% have 20 years or more of service. It is also interesting to note that of 86 vacancies filled during the year, 83 were by promotion from within the company organization.

The company's extensive construction program required a total expenditure of $2,614,805. The projects included the starting of construction of the 85,000-kilowatt addition to the New Castle power plant, and a program of transmission and distribution improvements throughout the system.

Under the heading of "Area Shows Important Progress," the report presents pertinent facts on residential and industrial progress in the area served by the company. New homes connected to the company's lines totaled 1,336, compared with 1,183 in 1947 and 1,417 in 1948. Industrial progress was shown by reference to official figures of the U. S. Census of Manufacturers. Comparing 1939 and 1947 (the latest available), the percentage increase in "number of industrial production workers" and in "value added in manufacturing" was greater in this area than in either the state or the nation as a whole.

During World War II the Salvation Army's 3,000 Red Shield canteens and 1,000 mobile canteens served fighting men of the Allies on 26 fronts around the world.

Tie Up All Dogs Gardener Urges

WENATCHEE, Wash.—Otis McNelly has asked the city council to pass an ordinance requiring that dogs be tied up during the flower growing season.

This is his complaint: He uses bone meal for fertilizer in his flower garden. The dogs smell the bone and descend on his place in droves. They dig and dig and dig—but no bones.

They're so persistent, McNelly said, his place looks like a battleground.

A favorite dish in the French province of Champagne is dandelion and bacon salad.

Billions Needed For New Schools

ATLANTIC CITY, March 7.—An official of the U. S. Office of Education said the nation must spend $13,500,000,000 in the next 10 years to construct new elementary and high schools.

Ray L. Hamon, chief of the school of housing section of the Office of Education, said "many thousands of children are now housed in obsolete, unsafe and totally unsuited facilities."

He spoke to a discussion group at the closing of the annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators.

Hamon said 550,000 new elementary and high school classrooms are required to meet the peak load of enrollment expected in 1958. At that time, he said, there will be 40,500,000 children in school. There are now about 30,000,000 school children in the nation.

Hamon said: "The nation is faced with the most critical educational plant shortage in history. A shortage exists in both public and non-public facilities for elementary and secondary schools and for institutions of higher education.

"There are thousands of children in every state today who are required by law to attend school in buildings that are totally unsatisfactory. Other thousands are attending school in overcrowded and in makeshift classrooms, and thousands of pupils are attending school on a half-time basis."

The cost of construction is so large it cannot be financed from community and state taxation, Haman said.

LEEVINING, Cal., March 7.—The remnants of California's original herd of 500,000 antelope are being given a chance to hold their own against civilization. The state has transferred 50 of the animals from their home in Lassen county to the less-crowded wilds of southeastern Mono county.

Morella All-Stars And East Brook Boosters Will Meet For Title

Prepare For Largest Crowd Of Year To See Finals

East Brook Boosters and Morellas, winners in last night's semi-final games, meet tonight for the Optimist tournament championship—and mythical county championship—at the George Washington junior high school gym.

Mt. Jackson Indies and the Hank A.C., losers in last night's games meet in a consolation game at 7:30. The championship game is scheduled for 8:30.

East Brook Boosters defeated the Mt. Jackson Indies 62-46 and Morellas topped the Hank A.C. 61-41 in last night's action.

The Boosters took over the lead early in the first period and never gave it up. At the end of the first quarter they led 17-11 and by the end of the first half they stretched it to 35-18.

The Indies held their own in the second half but the damage had already been done.

Bill Emery opened the ball game with a one handed bucket from the right of the bankboard to give Mt. Jackson a temporary 2-0 lead. Two foul shots by Carl Jameson evened it up and another by Norb Borowicz put East Brook out in front.

Another fielder by Emery put Mt. Jackson in the lead 4-3—for the last time. George Wright swished one for the Boosters to put them back into the lead, where they stayed for the rest of the game.

The entire East Brook team played good basketball and all shared in the scoring. Fran Webster and Bill Emery were again best for the Indies.

Morellas Down Hanks

Morella All-Stars downed the Hank A.C. 61-41 in the second game of the evening. The Hank's were badly off their game and mid-way in the second period Morellas pulled out in front by a good margin.

The first quarter was close with the lead changing hands several times and the Hank's finally leading at the end of the frame 13-12.

Kenny Cathcart, lanky ex-New Wilmington high school ace, started the second quarter off with a fielder to put Morellas back into the lead 14-13, but Chuck Rea followed up for the Hank's to make it 15-14.

This was the last time the Hank A.C. was in the lead as Don Reed evened the score with a foul shot and Chuck Tanner put Morellas out in front with a field goal. At the end of the half it was 35-23 in favor of Morellas.

"Rags" Gennock played an important part in the win for the Morellas with his fine all around play. He finished the evening off in fine fashion by sinking a field goal from over half the length of the floor as the final buzzer sounded.

"Buck" Kerr was best for the Hank's, but was forced out on fouls early in the final frame.

V.F.W. 315 Defeats North Side, 68-40

VFW 315 defeated the North Side of Ellwood City 68-40 last night in a District Basketball league game at the Shelby gym in Ellwood City.

Tanner was high for the winners with 19, followed by Procopio with 18. Ellefson paced the losers in scoring with 11.

Press Box Mutterings

THE ALSO RANS

In every league, whether it be basketball, football, baseball or what have you, there is only one champion and six or seven times as many also rans.

Sometimes the also rans are just about as good as the league champions and more often they are not quite as good—but always they are just as important to the welfare of the league and to sports.

Now as it usually turns out about the end of the season of every sport these also rans are pretty well forgotten and attention is focused on the league champion, who in many cases enters a playoff tournament with the champions of other leagues.

Such is the case in WPIAL circles, recreation circles, church, industrial and other such leagues.

Among the also rans in Lawrence county this year is the East Brook high school basketball team that finished second to Wampum in Section 24 play.

.750 Percentage

In the 1950 Section 24 race East Brook won nine games and lost three for a .750 percentage. In the ten years previous to this season East Brook teams had won 29 games while dropping 98 for a .228 percentage.

In this ten-year period, only twice—in 1941 and 1942—did an East Brook team have a .500 or better percentage and in both of those seasons they just hit it on the nose. In 1948 they came close with a 6-8 record.

In the other seven years in the '40's, however, the Eagles either finished in the basement or the nearest position to the basement.

But this year made up for all of those lean years of East Brook basketball. The people of East Brook and vicinity are proud of this year's team and rightfully so. It is a terrific team.

One of the reasons for the success of the Eagles this year is the fact that they had six capable performers—Bud Mayberry, Bob Smith, Bill Pontius, Ralph Manzo, Darrell Rung and Clyde McCummins.

Of this group Bud Mayberry was voted center on the all-section first team and Bob Smith and Bill Pontius won positions on the second team.

Gavilan Wins Over Graham

Kid Wins Split Decision In Philadelphia Ring

PHILADELPHIA, March 7. — (INS)—The name of Gerardo (Kid) Gavilan loomed brighter in welterweight circles today after the Cuban's 10-round decision over Otis Graham last night at the Philadelphia Arena.

The Kid was a bit disappointed by the decision, nevertheless. It was a split one—with two judges giving Gavilan six rounds and Referee Zack Clayton casting a 5-4-1 for Graham. Spectator reaction indicated agreement with Clayton.

Strong Finish

Graham got going in the fourth with hard rights to the head and maintained his pace with good lefts and rights in the sixth. The seventh was the fiercest frame for both.

Gavilan gathered steam in the eighth with power socks to the body of his Philadelphia opponent. In the last two rounds, Gavilan poured it on with the help of his characteristic shift and bull rushes.

Gavilan weighed 148 and Graham 149½.

City Circuit Meets Tonight

Managers of City Baseball League teams will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at Carm's place, West Washington street, according to Loop Secretary Arthur Alexander. The meeting is important, he states.

Dick Kryhoski is being given the first base job with the Detroit Tigers. Art McConnell of Little Rock is rated a chance to win a position on the Tigers' brilliant pitching staff. He was a 17-game wnner last year.

Titans Thrash F.&M., 108-76; Set Win, And Scoring Record

To Meet Millersville State Teachers College In Tough Tussle Tonight

LANCASTER, March 7—Westminster's powerful Titans went on a scoring rampage here last night to defeat Franklin and Marshall 108-76 and set a new all-time record of wins in a single season, and also a new scoring record for Titan teams.

Not since basketball was organized on the campus in 1898 has a Westminster team equaled the present victory record of 23 games.

The Titans opened up a smashing offensive attack soon after the opening whistle and led all the way. They ran up a 28-13 lead in the initial period and were ahead 63-33 at the halfway mark.

Use Reserves

Eearly in the second period Coach Washabaugh pulled out his starting lineup and shoved in his reserves. The reserves accounted for 46 of the points accumulated. The first stringers saw service for a few minutes at the opening of the second half but watched from the sidelines for much of the game.

Bruce Wagner paced the Titan scorers with 26 points on 11 field goals and four free throws. Eleven Titans hit the scoring column and six accummulated 10 or more points. Hartman was high for the losers with 26 points followed closely by Zink with 22 markers.

Tonight the high flying Titans will be out to strengthen their lead in tri-state district standings when they meet Millersville State Teachers at Millersville.

McCullough Injured

The Titans will enter the contest tonight with two men on the injured list. Allen McCullough, all-state center and workhorse for the Titan outfit, who suffered an injured ankle in the Carnegie Tech game, may not be able to go the distance tonight. Washabaugh used him sparingly last night in an effort to condition his ankle for tonight's game. Gerald Sybert, reserve guard, is definitely out of the contest due to a badly swollen ankle.

Following tonight's game the Titans will take on their third foe in three consecutive nights when they move up to Lewisburg Wednesday to close out the regular season in a tilt with Bucknell.

Wampum Juniors Lose; Runners-Up In Tournament

Wampum junior high school lost to Youngstown Hayes 59-45 Monday night in the championship game of the Struthers Junior High tournament.

The Little Indians got off to an 8-6 lead in the first period but were outscored 22-9 in the second to give Hayes its margin of victory. Wampum played on even terms with the winners for the third and fourth frames but the damage was done in the second.

Both teams played good basketball, with Hayes' height playing an important part in the outcome of the game. The winners had a big and experienced squad and the Little Indians earned the respect of the packed Struthers field house in spite of losing.

The Wampum team was presented with a nice trophy for being runner-up in the tournament and each member of the squad was presented with a jewel medal for his play.

Wampum defeated some of the best junior high school basketball teams in the district in fighting its way into the finals—including Niles Washington, Salem and Mahoning.

McHenry Retains Rifle Club Title

Ray McHenry, shooting a brilliant 95 out of a 100 possible, retained his club championship last night when the Colonel Charles Young Post held its weekly rifle match at the local Armory.

This is the first week that the title did not change hands. Den Walker was runnerup with an 86 card.

Manager Jack Onslow of the Chicago White Sox believes his best rookies are pitchers Ken Holcombe and Bob Cain and shortstop Al Carrasquel.

Penn Seeking Mike Milligan

Penn Offers Deposed Pitt Coach Job As Assistant To Munger

PHILADELPHIA, March 7. — (INS)—The possibility of Mike Milligan, former University of Pittsburgh head football coach, may join George Munger's staff at the University of Pennsylvania was heightened today.

The Penn coach admitted yesterday that the university would like to obtain "a man of Milligan's ability" to enlarge its current staff.

"However, I am not sure that the university can make an offer large enough to attract a coach of Milligan's caliber," Munger added.

Could Use Mike

Munger said that under the platoon system he believed Penn needed another coach to augment its staff consisting of Rae Crowther, Paul Riblett and Jackie Welsh.

Milligan's Pitt team defeated Penn, 22-21, in the final minute at Franklin Field last fall. He resigned at Pitt last January 27 rather than accept a one-year contract.

Milligan has been reported under consideration for jobs at Alliance college at Cambridge Springs, Pa., and Penn State and Amherst.

Button Retains Skating Crown

The 20-year-old Olympic champion, undefeated since winning the world skating title in 1948, piled up a big margin yesterday in the compulsory section of championships.

He scored 824.71 points to 778.86 for Ed Kirley of Hungary.

Philly Pitcher Suffers Injury

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 7.—(INS) — Steve Ridzik, promising Phillie's righthander, suffered a fractured kneecap and is en route today to Philadelphia for treatment.

Ridzik, who won 15 and lost 12 for Utica in the Eastern League last season and then went to Toronto, broke the kneecap while pitching to Bill Nicholson in Sunday's intra-squad game.

Citizens Baseball Inc., Will Meet Wednesday

New Castle Citizens Baseball Inc., stockholders will be introduced to the man who will guide their team this year in the Mid-Atlantic league, Wednesday evening in the Hotel New Penn at 8 o'clock.

The newly appointed playing-manager Charles "Chuck" Cronin will come here from his home in Tiffin, Ohio, to greet the stockholders and outline what he expects to do here this summer.

Will Be Formally Signed

As a climax to the meeting tomorrow night President Al Scarazzo and the officers of the Citizens Baseball, Inc., will sign Cronin to a formal contract for the 1950 season.

Cronin comes here with a record in baseball of some years, dating back to his entrance into organized baseball with Tiffin, in the Ohio State league in 1936 and 1937. In 1938 Cronin was with Johnstown in the Mid-Atlantic league, in 1939 and 1940 with Springfield, Illiois, in 1941 with Fostoria in the Ohio State League, the next four years were spent in the army, then in 1946 was with Wenatchee, Washington in the Western International league, a Class B loop, as a pitcher winning 15 and losing 11 with a championship team, in 1947, he started with Sacramento in the Pacific Coast league and in midseason was sent to manage Wenatchee the rest of the season, was manager at Wenatchee in 1948 and 1949 managed Raleigh, North Carolina to a third place finish after taking over in June.

Pleasing Personality

Cronin a right-hand pitcher, is 32 years old, and possesses a pleasing personality and a most likeable disposition. He is very good at developing young ball players, and comes here highly recommended.

Cronin has stated unless somebody can beat him out of a job on the mound that he will take his regular turn as a starting hurler,

CHARLES CRONIN

and most certainly will be a handy relief man, something New Castle has lacked for the past two years.

Scarazzo Urges Turnout

Scarazzo has invited all stockholders to meet Cronin tomorrow night and any others who care to attend.

Shares of stock are still being sold, at $10.00 per share, no more than 100 shares to an individual, group or faction.

It is hoped that several hundred baseball fans will be on hand Wednesday to meet Cronin, and show him that New Castle is back of him as he takes over the Senators.

Avalon Won Title In Previous Years

Wampum high school's foe tonight in the WPIAL Class B eliminations is not a newcomer to tournament basketball. Avalon copped the Class B crown in 1944, and again in 1946.

Wampum won the sectional title both of those years but didn't advance far enough in the tourney to meet the Section 13 champions.

One team will halt advancing tonight after the contest on the Dormont high gym beginning at eight o'clock.

Coach Butler Hennon's boys confidently expect to give the Avalon club a good ball game, but the local Redmen also know that they will be facing one of the tourney favorites that is considered a better team than won the WPIAL tournament centender in 1944, and 1946.

Wampum staged its last practice yesterday for the big game and is prepared to go all out. A large delegation of county fans will accompany the Indians to Dormont and many more that do not make the game will be rooting for the locals to come through.

23 Cars Entered In Speedway Race

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 7. —(INS)—The entry list for the 34th annual 500-mile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway next May 30 was boosted to 23 today by addition of four more cars.

Myron Fohr of Milwaukee, Wis., will pilot the same racer he drove to fourth place for the Marchese Brothers Engineering Co., of Milwaukee last year. Duke Dinsmore, of Dayton, O., will be at the wheel of a new car entered by Verlin Brown of the Brown Motor Co., Richmond, Ind.

The other racers entered today are a six-cylinder, super-charged model owned by Ray Brady of Morristown, Pa., and a conventional, four-cylinder special owned by Milt Marion of Jericho, N. Y.

HAM SHOOT THURSDAY

New Wilmington American Legion No. 728 will hold a ham shoot Thursday evening from seven to twelve at the Old Forge grounds in New Wilmington. There will be free coffee, it is announced.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

WHILE STROLLING through the rural district, drinking in Sunday's pre-spring air, Here & There met the Harlansburg outdoorsman, Jim Hodge, who will be an octogenarian within the next few years. Had he not shouted a cheerful greeting he would have been passed by as a stranger, because his face was covered with a hirsute 'foliage' grown during cold weather months. In fact, his beard reposed on his chest. However, his eyes are yet eagle-like and there's yet a lot of 'zip' in his legs.

"See anything unusual around here recently?" he was asked.

"I noticed seven deer up yonder yesterday," replied Hodge, pointing to an orchard atop a hill.

Just then he nudged the ground with the 'toe' of his rubber boot. The movement turned up what appeared a caterpiller, which proved a 'hairy' worm.

"Appears spring is not far off when you see those things," he stated.

From his pocket he fetched forth a jaw-bone.

"Ever see the teeth of a deer?" he asked, after which he explained: "The front teeth are inter-locked, and at each end, is a large tooth which explains why a deer can chew off a limb.

"Saw a gray fox while going over the farm a little while ago."

Later, met Sam Campbell, Volant farmer.

Sam has a Collie which is a hunter.

"Although he's no hunting dog, he get ground-hogs. One day he brought in five and laid 'em in the front yard," said Campbell.

"How does he do it?"

"He goes out into a field where he knows there are holes, lays down, then when a ground-hog comes along, he beats 'em to the hole," he explained.

"'Tis nothing for me to take him with me squirrel hunting. He's good on squirrels," the farmer replied.

A few hours later Here & There heard a story, which was humorous to him, but not so to the owner of a lot of chickens.

It seems the man, who resides in Mercer county, was awakened at night by a strange noise in his chicken coop.

Not waiting to fully dress, he seized a twin-barrel shotgun, went outside and, unknowingly, was trailed by his dog.

He opened the door of the coop, and pointing the shotgun, peered into the darkness of the coop.

The twin blast killed 26 chickens.

Fiz Rodenbaugh, who years ago cavorted as a pitcher and shortstop, recalls that as yet no Youngstown hurler has ever equalled his record of pitching 41 consecutive innings without being scored on. He accomplished the record while with the Bartram White Trucks in 1922. . . . They say that Mrs. Gypsy Joe who accompanies her gypsy hubby to all his bouts, because of Nomadic attire, ear-rings, spangles plus vivid attire, is the cynosure of feminine eyes. Gypsy Joe tackles the durable Pierre LaBelle, Friday evening in The Arena. . . . Bob Baker, Pittsburgh, who boxed in the local Arena, will battle Johnny Flynn of Rochester, March 14, in Pittsburgh. . . . Howard Price and Mike Fazzone are heading team which are staging a hectic race to sell the most LCSA membership tickets.

Rick Rollers Schedule Match

The J. R. Rick roller-hockey team will battle the Elliotts of Pittsburgh at The Arena floor Saturday night at 8 o'clock, it was announced today by Coach Lee Stoops who also announced that there wil be a meeting of the team at The Arena tonight at 8 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the Saturday night game and to have a workout.

Rough Matches Here Friday

Gypsy Joe And Pierre In Main

Indications point to a rough night for wrestlers in The Arena, Friday night, and it behooves those with qualms about rough stuff to carry along a handkerchief with which they may cover their eyes to black out rough going.

The main bout is between Gypsy Joe, who is said by those who have seen him in televized bouts to be one of the roughest of the rough while the Flying Frenchman, Pierre LaBelle, who is short in stature, is also a rough grappler.

The Gypsy wears all of the ornaments so fond to a Nomad. He will be accompanied by his wife, who attires her lobes with huge ear-rings, fingers with rings and wears vari-colored, and decidedly vivid attire.

Pancho Valentino who has also exhibited a lot of unethical stuff in The Arena will take on Tom Bradley, in a 30-minute match, the main bout being docketed for one hour unless it is abruptly ended by a fall.

Owing to the appearance of Gypsy Joe, Gardini, Palmer and Montana in televised matches, the Jefferson A. C. efforts to pack the place may prove successful Friday night.

Gustine Quits At Waynesburg

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 7.—(INS)—Frankie Gustine last night resigned his head basketball coaching job at Waynesburg college because he thought the strain of two separate sports careers was too much.

Gustine, a third baseman with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs and now with the St. Louis Browns, guided Waynesburg to 45 victories and 22 losses in three years.

He was traded from the Philadelphia Athletics to the Browns this winter.

Gustine has not yet come to terms with the St. Louis nine but claims he is not a holdout—just resting after a tough basketball campaign.

Pettit Joins New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, March 7. — (INS)—Baseball's $100,000 prize rookie, Paul Pettit, starts workout today with eighteen other pitchers and four catchers of the New Orleans club.

Pettit flew into the Crescent City from San Bernardino, Calif., "feeling fine." He said he made three trips to the mound for three innings each at the Pittsburgh Pirates' spring camp on the west coast. The smiling 18-year-older conceded he "didn't do too badly."

John Joe Barry Wins Mile Race

MONTREAL, March 7.—(INS)—John Joe Barry, young Irish distance runner enrolled at Villanova college, won the Canadian Legion mile last night in the slow time of 4:19.1.

Horace Ashenfelter, formerly of Penn State, was second, Bob Weaver of Syracuse third and F. Schoeffler of Tufts fourth.

Tom Wright won the American Association batting crown with a .368 average a year ago and is the number one candidate to join Ted Williams and Domenic DiMaggio in the Boston outfield.

Mel Orr hit more home runs than any other player in National league history and holds several slugging records to be a bona fide hall of fame. He ought to make it next year.

Jim Thorpe Wants His Trophies Back

PHILADELPHIA, March 7. — (INS)—Jim Thorpe, the legendary Indian of Carlisle football fame, wants the return of the Olympic medals he won in 1912 and the personal trophies he received from King Gustav of Sweden and the czar of Russia.

Thorpe was stripped of the trophies when he returned from the Olympics on a charge that he received money for summer baseball. Thorpe admitted playing for money, but contended he never realized he was violating his amateur status.

Morella All-Stars And East Brook Boosters Will Meet For Title

Prepare For Largest Crowd Of Year To See Finals

East Brook Boosters and Morellas, winners in last night's semi-final games, meet tonight for the Optimist tournament championship—and mythical county championship—at the George Washington Junior high school gym.

Mt. Jackson Indies and the Hank A.C., losers in last night's games meet in a consolation game at 7:30. The championship game is scheduled for 8:30.

East Brook Boosters defeated the Mt. Jackson Indies 62-46 and Morellas topped the Hank A.C. 61-41 in last night's action.

The Boosters took over the lead early in the first period and never gave it up. At the end of the first quarter they led 17-11 and by the end of the first half they stretched it to 35-18.

The Indies held their own in the second half but the damage had already been done.

Bill Emery opened the ball game with a one handed bucket from the right of the bankboard to give Mt. Jackson a temporary 2-0 lead. Two foul shots by Carl Jameson evened it up and another by Norb Borowicz put East Brook out in front.

Another fielder by Emery put Mt. Jackson in the lead 4-3—for the last time. George Wright swished one for the Boosters to put them back into the lead, where they stayed for the rest of the game.

The entire East Brook team played good basketball and all shared in the scoring. Fran Webster and Bill Emery were again best for the Indies.

Morellas Down Hanks

Morella All-Stars downed the Hank A.C. 61-41 in the second game of the evening. The Hank's were badly off their game and mid-way in the second period Morellas pulled out in front by a good margin.

The first quarter was close with the lead changing hands several times and the Hank's finally leading at the end of the frame 13-12.

Kenny Cathcart, lanky ex-New Wilmington high school ace, started the second quarter off with a fielder to put Morellas back into the lead 14-13, but Chuck Rea followed up for the Hank's to make it 15-14.

This was the last time the Hank A.C. was in the lead as Don Reed evened the score with a foul shot and Chuck Tanner put Morellas out in front with a field goal. At the end of the half it was 35-23 in favor of Morellas.

"Rags" Gennock played an important part in the win for the Morellas with his fine all around play. He finished the evening off in fine fashion by sinking a field goal from over half the length of the floor as the final buzzer sounded.

"Buck" Kerr was best for the Hank's, but was forced out on fouls early in the final frame.

Press Box Mutterings

THE ALSO RANS

In every league, whether it be basketball, football, baseball or what have you, there is only one champion and six or seven times as many also rans.

Sometimes the also rans are just about as good as the league champions and more often they are not quite as good—but always they are just as important to the welfare of the league and to sports.

Now as it usually turns out about the end of the season of every sport these also rans are pretty well forgotten and attention is focused on the league champion, who in many cases enters a playoff tournament with the champions of other leagues.

Such is the case in WPIAL circles, recreation circles, church, industrial and other such leagues.

Among the also rans in Lawrence county this year is the East Brook high school basketball team that finished second to Wampum in Section 24 play.

.750 Percentage

In the 1950 Section 24 race East Brook won nine games and lost three for a .750 percentage. In the ten years previous to this season East Brook teams had won 29 games while dropping 98 for a .228 percentage.

In this ten-year period, only twice—in 1941 and 1942—did an East Brook team have a .500 or better percentage and in both of those seasons they just hit it on the nose. In 1948 they came close with a 6-8 record.

In the other seven years in the '40's, however, the Eagles either finished in the basement or the nearest position to the basement.

But this year made up for all of those lean years of East Brook basketball. The people of East Brook and vicinity are proud of this year's team and rightfully so. It is a terrific team.

One of the reasons for the success of the Eagles this year is the fact that they had six capable performers — Bud Mayberry, Bob Smith, Bill Pontius, Ralph Manzo, Darrell Rung and Clyde McCummins.

Of this group Bud Mayberry was voted center on the all-section first team and Bob Smith and Bill Pontius won positions on the second team.

Kid Wins Split Decision In Philadelphia Ring

PHILADELPHIA, March 7. — (INS)—The name of Gerardo (Kid) Gavilan loomed brighter in welterweight circles today after the Cuban's 10-round decision over Otis Graham last night at the Philadelphia Arena.

The Kid was a bit disappointed by the decision, nevertheless. It was a split one—with two judges giving Gavilan six rounds and Referee Zack Clayton casting a 5-4-1 for Graham. Spectator reaction indicated agreement with Clayton.

Strong Finish

Graham got going in the fourth with hard rights to the head and maintained his pace with good lefts and rights in the sixth. The seventh was the fiercest frame for both.

Gavilan gathered steam in the eighth with power socks to the body of his Philadelphia opponent. In the last two rounds, Gavilan poured it on with the help of his characteristic shift and bull rushes.

Gavilan weighed 148 and Graham 149½.

City Circuit Meets Tonight

Managers of City Baseball League teams will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at Carm's place, West Washington street, according to Loop Secretary Arthur Alexander. The meeting is important, he states.

Dick Kryhoski is being given the first base job with the Detroit Tigers. Art McConnell of Little Rock is rated a chance to win a position on the Tigers' brilliant pitching staff. He was a 17-game wnner last year.

V.F.W. 315 Defeats North Side, 68-40

VFW 315 defeated the North Side of Ellwood City 68-40 last night in a District Basketball league game at the Shelby gym in Ellwood City.

Tanner was high for the winners with 19, followed by Procopio with 18. Ellefson paced the losers in scoring with 11.

Titans Thrash F.&M., 108-76; Set Win, And Scoring Record

LANCASTER, March 7—Westminster's powerful Titans went on a scoring rampage here last night to defeat Franklin and Marshall 108-76 and set a new all-time record of wins in a single season, and also a new scoring record for Titan teams.

Not since basketball was organized on the campus in 1898 has a Westminster team equaled the present victory record of 23 games.

The Titans opened up a smashing offensive attack soon after the opening whistle and led all the way. They ran up a 28-13 lead in the initial period and were ahead 63-33 at the halfway mark.

Use Reserves

Eearly in the second period Coach Washabaugh pulled out his starting lineup and shoved in his reserves. The reserves accounted for 46 of the points accumulated. The first stringers saw service for a few minutes at the opening of the second half but watched from the sidelines for much of the game.

Bruce Wagner paced the Titan scorers with 26 points on 11 field goals and four free throws. Eleven Titans hit the scoring column and six accummulated 10 or more points. Hartman was high for the losers with 26 points followed closely by Zink with 22 markers.

Tonight the high flying Titans will be out to strengthen their lead in tri-state district standings when they meet Millersville State Teachers at Millersville.

McCullough Injured

The Titans will enter the contest tonight with two men on the injured list. Allen McCullough, all-state center and workhorse for the Titan outfit, who suffered an injured ankle in the Carnegie Tech game, may not be able to go the distance tonight. Washabaugh used him sparingly last night in an effort to condition his ankle for tonight's game. Gerald Sybert, reserve guard, is definitely out of the contest due to a badly swollen ankle.

Following tonight's game the Titans will take on their third foe in three consecutive nights when they move up to Lewisburg Wednesday to close out the regular season in a tilt with Bucknell.

Wampum Juniors Lose; Runners-Up In Tournament

Wampum junior high school lost to Youngstown Hayes 59-45 Monday night in the championship game of the Struthers Junior High tournament.

The Little Indians got off to an 8-6 lead in the first period but were outscored 22-9 in the second to give Hayes its margin of victory. Wampum played on even terms with the winners for the third and fourth frames but the damage was done in the second.

Both teams played good basketball, with Hayes' height playing an important part in the outcome of the game. The winners had a big and experienced squad and the Little Indians earned the respect of the packed Struthers field house in spite of losing.

The Wampum team was presented with a nice trophy for being runner-up in the tournament and each member of the squad was presented with a jewel medal for his play.

Wampum defeated some of the best junior high school basketball teams in the district in fighting its way into the finals—including Niles Washington, Salem and Mahoning.

This is the first week that the title did not change hands. Den Walker was runnerup with an 86 card.

Manager Jack Onslow of the Chicago White Sox believes his best rookies are pitchers Ken Holcombe and Bob Cain and shortstop Al Carrasquel.

Penn Seeking Mike Milligan

Penn Offers Deposed Pitt Coach Job As Assistant To Munger

PHILADELPHIA, March 7. — (INS)—The possibility of Mike Milligan, former University of Pittsburgh head football coach, may join George Munger's staff at the University of Pennsylvania was heightened today.

The Penn coach admitted yesterday that the university would like to obtain "a man of Milligan's ability" to enlarge its current staff.

"However, I am not sure that the university can make an offer large enough to attract a coach of Milligan's caliber," Munger added.

Could Use Mike

Munger said that under the platoon system he believed Penn needed another coach to augment its staff consisting of Rae Crowther, Paul Riblett and Jackie Welsh.

Milligan's Pitt team defeated Penn, 22-21, in the final minute at Franklin Field last fall. He resigned at Pitt last January 27 rather than accept a one-year contract.

Milligan has been reported under consideration for jobs at Alliance college at Cambridge Springs, Pa., and Penn State and Amherst.

Button Retains Skating Crown

The 20-year-old Olympic champion, undefeated since winning the world skating title in 1948, piled up a big margin yesterday in the compulsory section of championships.

He scored 824.71 points to 778.86 for Ed Kirley of Hungary.

Philly Pitcher Suffers Injury

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 7.—(INS) — Steve Ridzik, promising Phillie's righthander, suffered a fractured kneecap and is en route today to Philadelphia for treatment.

Ridzik, who won 15 and lost 12 for Utica in the Eastern League last season and then went to Toronto, broke the kneecap while pitching to Bill Nicholson in Sunday's intra-squad game.

Citizens Baseball Inc., Will Meet Wednesday

New Castle Citizens Baseball Inc., stockholders will be introduced to the man who will guide their team this year in the Mid-Atlantic league, Wednesday evening in the Hotel New Penn at 8 o'clock.

The newly appointed playing-manager Charles "Chuck" Cronin will come here from his home in Tiffin, Ohio, to greet the stockholders and outline what he expects to do here this summer.

Will Be Formally Signed

As a climax to the meeting tomorrow night President Al Scarazzo and the officers of the Citizens Baseball, Inc., will sign Cronin to a formal contract for the 1950 season.

Cronin comes here with a record in baseball of some years, dating back to his entrance into organized baseball with Tiffin, in the Ohio State league in 1936 and 1937. In 1938 Cronin was with Johnstown in the Mid-Atlantic league, in 1939 and 1940 with Springfield, Illiois, in 1941 with Fostoria in the Ohio State League, the next four years were spent in the army, then in 1946 was with Wenatchee, Washington in the Western International league, a Class B loop, as a pitcher winning 15 and losing 11 with a championship team, in 1947, he started with Sacramento in the Pacific Coast league and in midseason was sent to manage Wenatchee the rest of the season, was manager at Wenatchee in 1948 and 1949 managed Raleigh, North Carolina to a third place finish after taking over in June.

Pleasing Personality

Cronin a right-hand pitcher, is 32 years old, and possesses a pleasing personality and a most likeable disposition. He is very good at developing young ball players, and comes here highly recommended.

Cronin has stated unless somebody can beat him out of a job on the mound that he will take his regular turn as a starting hurler,

CHARLES CRONIN

and most certainly will be a handy relief man, something New Castle has lacked for the past two years.

Scarazzo Urges Turnout

Scarazzo has invited all stockholders to meet Cronin tomorrow night and any others who care to attend.

Shares of stock are still being sold, at $10.00 per share, no more than 100 shares to an individual, group or faction.

It is hoped that several hundred baseball fans will be on hand Wednesday to meet Cronin, and show him that New Castle is back of him as he takes over the Senators.

Avalon Won Title In Previous Years

Wampum high school's foe tonight in the WPIAL Class B eliminations is not a newcomer to tournament basketball. Avalon copped the Class B crown in 1944, and again in 1946.

Wampum won the sectional title both of those years but didn't advance far enough in the tourney to meet the Section 13 champions.

One team will halt advancing tonight after the contest on the Dormont high gym beginning at eight o'clock.

Coach Butler Hennon's boys confidently expect to give the Avalon club a good ball game, but the local Redmen also know that they will be facing one of the tourney favorites that is considered a better team than won the WPIAL tournament centender in 1944 and 1946.

Wampum staged its last practice yesterday for the big game and is prepared to go all out. A large delegation of county fans will accompany the Indians to Dormont and many more that do not make the game will be rooting for the locals to come through.

23 Cars Entered In Speedway Race

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 7. —(INS)—The entry list for the 34th annual 500-mile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway next May 30 was boosted to 23 today by addition of four more cars.

Myron Fohr of Milwaukee, Wis., will pilot the same racer he drove to fourth place for the Marchese Brothers Engineering Co., of Milwaukee last year. Duke Dinsmore, of Dayton, O., will be at the wheel of a new car entered by Verlin Brown of the Brown Motor Co., Richmond, Ind.

The other racers entered today are a six-cylinder, super-charged model owned by Ray Brady of Morristown, Pa., and a conventional, four-cylinder special owned by Milt Marion of Jericho, N. Y.

HAM SHOOT THURSDAY

New Wilmington American Legion No. 728 will hold a ham shoot Thursday evening from seven to twelve at the Old Forge grounds in New Wilmington. There will be free coffee, it is announced.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

WHILE STROLLING through the rural district, drinking in Sunday's pre-spring air, Here & There met the Harlansburg outdoorsman, Jim Hodge, who will be an octogenarian within the next few years. Had he not shouted a cheerful greeting he would have been passed by as a stranger, because his face was covered with a hirsute 'foliage' grown during cold weather months. In fact, his beard reposed on his chest. However, his eyes are yet eagle-like and there's yet a lot of 'zip' in his legs.

"See anything unusual around here recently?" he was asked.

"I noticed seven deer up yonder yesterday," replied Hodge, pointing to an orchard atop a hill.

Just then he nudged the ground with the 'toe' of his rubber boot. The movement turned up what appeared a caterpiller, which proved a 'hairy' worm.

"Appears spring is not far off when you see those things," he stated.

From his pocket he fetched forth a jaw-bone.

"Ever see the teeth of a deer?" he asked, after which he explained: "The front teeth are inter-locked, and at each end, is a large tooth which explains why a deer can chew off a limb.

After a pause he recalled:

"Saw a gray fox while going over the farm a little while ago."

Later, met Sam Campbell, Volant farmer.

Sam has a Collie which is a hunter.

"Although he's no hunting dog, he get ground-hogs. One day he brought in five and laid 'em in the front yard," said Campbell.

"How does he do it?"

"He goes out into a field where he knows there are holes, lays down, then when a ground-hog comes along, he beats 'em to the hole," he explained.

"'Tis nothing for me to take him with me squirrel hunting. He's good on squirrels," the farmer replied.

A few hours later Here & There heard a story, which was humorous to him, but not so to the owner of a lot of chickens.

It seems the man, who resides in Mercer county, was awakened at night by a strange noise in his chicken coop.

Not waiting to fully dress, he seized a twin-barrel shotgun, went outside and, unknowingly, was trailed by his dog.

He opened the door of the coop, and pointing the shotgun, peered into the darkness of the coop.

Just then the dog nudged his nose against the man's body, and being in a highly nervous state, his fingers became trigger-happy.

The twin blast killed 26 chickens.

Fiz Rodenbaugh, who years ago cavorted as a pitcher and short-stop, recalls that as yet no Youngstown hurler has ever equalled his record of pitching 41 consecutive innings without being scored on. He accomplished the record while with the Bartram White Trucks in 1922. . . . ## Rick Rollers Schedule Match

The J. R. Rick roller-hockey team will battle the Elliotts of Pittsburgh at The Arena floor Saturday night at 8 o'clock, it was announced today by Coach Lee Stoops who also announced that there wil be a meeting of the team at The Arena tonight at 8 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the Saturday night game and to have a workout.

Rough Matches Here Friday

Gypsy Joe And Pierre In Main

Indications point to a rough night for wrestlers in The Arena, Friday night, and it behooves those with qualms about rough stuff to carry along a handkerchief with which they may cover their eyes to black out rough going.

The main bout is between Gypsy Joe, who is said by those who have seen him in televized bouts to be one of the roughest of the rough while the Flying Frenchman, Pierre LaBelle, who is short in stature, is also a rough grappler.

The Gypsy wears all of the ornaments so fond to a Nomad. He will be accompanied by his wife, who attires her lobes with huge ear-rings, fingers with rings and wears vari-colored, and decidedly vivid attire.

In the tag match, or brawl, Walter Palmer, ex-light-heavyweight champion and the rough Benito Gardini tangle with Bobby Ford, Youngstown, who looks very promising and Bull Montana, another non-angelic grappler.

Pancho Valentino who has also exhibited a lot of unethical stuff in The Arena will take on Tom Bradley, in a 30-minute match, the main bout being docketed for one hour unless it is abruptly ended by a fall.

Owing to the appearance of Gypsy Joe, Gardini, Palmer and Montana in televised matches, the Jefferson A. C. efforts to pack the place may prove successful Friday night.

Gustine Quits At Waynesburg

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 7.—(INS)—Frankie Gustine last night resigned his head basketball coaching job at Waynesburg college because he thought the strain of two separate sports careers was too much.

Gustine, a third baseman with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs and now with the St. Louis Browns, guided Waynesburg to 45 victories and 22 losses in three years.

He was traded from the Philadelphia Athletics to the Browns this winter.

Gustine has not yet come to terms with the St. Louis nine but claims he is not a holdout—just resting after a tough basketball campaign.

Pettit Joins New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, March 7. — (INS)—Baseball's $100,000 prize rookie, Paul Pettit, starts workout today with eighteen other pitchers and four catchers of the New Orleans club.

Pettit flew into the Crescent City from San Bernardino, Calif., "feeling fine." He said he made three trips to the mound for three innings each at the Pittsburgh Pirates' spring camp on the west coast. The smiling 18-year-older conceded he "didn't do too badly."

John Joe Barry Wins Mile Race

MONTREAL, March 7.—(INS)—John Joe Barry, young Irish distance runner enrolled at Villanova college, won the Canadian Legion mile last night in the slow time of 4:19.1.

Horace Ashenfelter, formerly of Penn State, was second, Bob Weaver of Syracuse third and F. Schoeffler of Tufts fourth.

Tom Wright won the American Association batting crown with a .368 average a year ago and is the number one candidate to join Ted Williams and Domenic DiMaggio in the Boston outfield.

Mel Orr hit more home runs than any other player in National league history and holds several slugging records to be a bona fide hall of fame. He ought to make it next year.

Campaign On Subversive Literature

HARRISBURG ,March 7.—(INS)—A campaign to root out "subversive literature" from school libraries was ordered today by Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas.

In a directive to public school administrators, Haas suggested establishment of advisory committees to analyze libraries and to make annual recommendations for selection of material.

Copies of the letter to public school officials were sent to diocesan superintendents and bishops as well as principals of private and parochial schools. Haas' order, however, binds only public school officials.

Haas said the directive was prompted by reports that "a few attempts" have been made to introduce subversive literature into school libraries. Some of the literature was mailed directly to school librarians and through other channels, he explained.

Direct Responsibility

Control over the kind of reading material placed in the public school library through purchase or donation is a direct responsibility of the board of school directors of the local school district," Haas said.

He cautioned against violation of the traditional "spirit of American fair play" and said public school children should be presented all the facts on controversial issues "consistent with their ability to comprehend" the issues.

"Safeguards must be developed to prevent the spreading of false and misleading information," Haas declared.

Magazines, papers and pamphlets exalting the economic and social patterns of countries having forms of government differing from ours indirectly discredit our form of government, Haas said.

"Obviously such publications would not be on the approved list of periodicals purchased by the school district and therefore may be correctly classified as gifts or donations," he added.

Haas did not specifically identify any of the publications.

Charge 96,000 Have Perished In Russian Concentration Camps

BERLIN, Marchh 7.—(INS)—The anti-Communist German organization known as "fighters against inhumanity" charged today that 96,000 persons have perished in Soviet concentration camps in eastern Germany since 1945.

The organization said two Americans, Otto Von Koerkeritz and Charles Nobies, and 13 other foreigners were among the death victims.

Organization leaders said at a news conference that 185 thousand persons were imprisoned in the Soviet zone camps since end of the war and of these 37,000 were departed to the Soviet Union and 37,500 were released.

They said four Americans are among those still held.

BOY SCOUTS

Girl Scout Troop 21

Girl Scouts of troop 21 held their meeting at the Walmo school recently. President Wilma Aiken conducted the short business meeting.

Suggestions were given as to how the troop could raise money for their yearly dues. Further plans will be discussed later.

The troop then practiced for a candlelight installation service for the new members, which will be given at a future meeting. The group is sponsored by the Walmo Parent-Teachers Association.

Says 14,000 Have Access To Loyalty Files

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 7—(INS)—Senate GOP Leader Wherry said today he is informed that 14,000 government employes have access to the federal loyalty files which President Truman has announced he will not release to Congress.

The Nebraska Republican declared that public demand will force the president to make the records available to the special foreign relations subcommittee investigating charges that Communists or red sympathizers are in the State department.

The Senate public hearings open Wednesday with Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., who brought the charges, scheduled as the first witness. Sen. Tydings (D) Md., heads the five-man subcommittee.

Wherry said:

Why Not Senate?

"I'm told that 14,000 people see those files. What's wrong then with letting a Senate committee see them.

"The American people are going to demand that where a definite charge is made, we should see the files. This is no fishing expedition."

The Republican leader took issue with the warning of Sen. Anderson (D) N. M., that forcing the release of the files might compel the FBI to disclose "long trained" undercover agents it has working in the government.

Wherry said he believed Senate members could be entrusted with any information the FBI might have.

Campaign On Subversive Literature

HARRISBURG ,March 7.—(INS)—A campaign to root out "subversive literature" from school libraries was ordered today by Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas.

In a directive to public school administrators, Haas suggested establishment of advisory committees to analyze libraries and to make annual recommendations for selection of material.

Copies of the letter to public school officials were sent to diocesan superintendents and bishops as well as principals of private and parochial schools. Haas' order, however, binds only public school officials.

Haas said the directive was prompted by reports that "a few attempts" have been made to introduce subversive literature into school libraries. Some of the literature was mailed directly to school librarians and through other channels, he explained.

Direct Responsibility

Control over the kind of reading material placed in the public school library through purchase or donation is a direct responsibility of the board of school directors of the local school district," Haas said.

He cautioned against violation of the traditional "spirit of American fair play" and said public school children should be presented all the facts on controversial issues "consistent with their ability to comprehend" the issues.

"Safeguards must be developed to prevent the spreading of false and misleading information," Haas declared.

Magazines, papers and pamphlets exalting the economic and social patterns of countries having forms of government differing from ours indirectly discredit our form of government, Haas said.

"Obviously such publications would not be on the approved list of periodicals purchased by the school district and therefore may be correctly classified as gifts or donations," he added.

Haas did not specifically identify any of the publications.

Charge 96,000 Have Perished In Russian Concentration Camps

BERLIN, Marchh 7.—(INS)—The anti-Communist German organization known as "fighters against inhumanity" charged today that 96,000 persons have perished in Soviet concentration camps in eastern Germany since 1945.

The organization said two Americans, Otto Von Koerkeritz and Charles Nobies, and 13 other foreigners were among the death victims.

Organization leaders said at a news conference that 185 thousand persons were imprisoned in the Soviet zone camps since end of the war and of these 37,000 were departed to the Soviet Union and 37,500 were released.

They said four Americans are among those still held.

BOY SCOUTS

Girl Scout Troop 21

Girl Scouts of troop 21 held their meeting at the Walmo school recently. President Wilma Aiken conducted the short business meeting.

Suggestions were given as to how the troop could raise money for their yearly dues. Further plans will be discussed later.

The troop then practiced for a candlelight installation service for the new members, which will be given at a future meeting. The group is sponsored by the Walmo Parent-Teachers Association.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES

Washington Teens

Seventh Grade Y-Teens of the George Washington junior high school met on a recent afternoon in the recreation room of the school with 16 present. Following a short business meeting, games were played, after which Harriet Smith led in song. The next meeting is March 15 and will be in the form of a talent show.

ON DIVORCE

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — A feminine member of the Philadelphia Marraige Council thinks divorces will decrease when the individual "outgrows apron strings." Mrs. Virginia K. Henderson claims the attitudes of the prospective bride and groom determine the success of their marriage.

Says 14,000 Have Access To Loyalty Files

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 7—(INS)—Senate GOP Leader Wherry said today he is informed that 14,000 government employes have access to the federal loyalty files which President Truman has announced he will not release to Congress.

The Nebraska Republican declared that public demand will force the president to make the records available to the special foreign relations subcommittee investigating charges that Communists or red sympathizers are in the State department.

The Senate public hearings open Wednesday with Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., who brought the charges, scheduled as the first witness. Sen. Tydings (D) Md., heads the five-man subcommittee.

Wherry said:

Why Not Senate?

"I'm told that 14,000 people see those files. What's wrong then with letting a Senate committee see them.

"The American people are going to demand that where a definite charge is made, we should see the files. This is no fishing expedition."

The Republican leader took issue with the warning of Sen. Anderson (D) N. M., that forcing the release of the files might compel the FBI to disclose "long trained" undercover agents it has working in the government.

Wherry said he believed Senate members could be entrusted with any information the FBI might have.

Hundreds Will Have Check-Up

Health Inspections Will Start Soon; City Hall News

Hundreds of persons engaged in serving foodstuffs and beverages in hotels, restaurants and cafes, will be required in April to undergo a physical check-up, according to City Health Superintendent Dr. W. A. Womer.
Such examinations are conducted twice annually.
When a person is found in good health he or she is given a health card which must be kept available.
Before any person may be employed in such a capacity he or she must first undergo a health examination.
Cleanliness of such places is looked after by J. K. Heess.
Daily he makes an inspection of restaurants, bar-rooms and cafes.
He examines conditions under which food and drinks are served and also inspects utensils.

Joseph O'Leary, who was elected as city commissioner of highways yesterday by members of council, will assume his new duties, March 15.
Heretofore, the duties have been performed by members of the department, working under the jurisdiction of the director of streets.
Two road machines were in operation this morning, scraping streets.

City Electrician Rex Hughes, and assistant, Monday afternoon, installed a new police alarm box at the corner of North Mill and North streets.
Traffic Policeman Ray Richards is stationed at the intersection during daylight hours because of the heavy traffic flow.
On several occasions his duty has required him to use a police box but he has had to use a private telephone, or walk blocks to use a city police call box.

City Assessor George Patterson has placed on the assessment books all new properties which are under roof ,and as a result the city will received several hundred dollars in taxation for the year 1950.
Up until the time the roof is put on, the places are partly assessed.

Several speeders were arrested by city police in various districts yesterday. According to a check of parking tickets distributed there has been apparently no letup in police efforts to control the parking situation.
The drive against speeders and parking meter violators is yet on.

Several days after March 15, the city finance officers will learn how much money in wage tax the city has collected for the past 12 months. According to a statement issued some time ago, the city will realize the amount estimated by surveyors of the Local Institute of Municipal Government of Penn State College.

So far no word as to what Martin P. Berger, Youngstown, owner of the old city building at East and East Washington street, proposes to do with the structure has been forthcoming. Parking meters have been installed along the building in East street.

Watchmen employed by the city to protect sled-riders from accident, have had an easy year—with very little pay, because there has been only a few snowfalls which afforded sledding. The ice at Mahoning rink is also unsafe. The Scott street "rink" was not used throughout the past winter.

Should present moderate weather continue, it is probable that Parks Director Joseph F. Medure will assign several laborers to begin a clean-up of Cascade Park—which is an annual task. As yet the park commission has not visited the city's recreation center.

Clean up week will come in April, according to Health Director Richard I. Davis. He said today he will announce the week in the near future. It is anticipated that property-owners, and renters, will celan away debris which collected during cold months. The city will only haul tin cans away.

QUAKE SHOCK RECORDED
CLEVELAND, March 7.— (INS) —A "moderate" earthquake about 5,540 miles south of Cleveland was recorded by the John Carroll University seismograph at 9':28:32 p. m. (EST) last night.
Rev. Henry F. Birkenhauer, head of the university's seismology department, said that the two-hour quake was probably off the coast of Chile.

It is estimated that 28 per cent of all accidents happen to leg and foot.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was created in 1908.

New York Stocks

Stock Trading Is Light Today

NEW YORK, March 7.—(INS)—Stock prices declined a point or so in forenoon trading today. Though trading was light, thinness on the bid side widened declines.
Airplane shares were among the heavier issues. Lockheed reacted 17⅛ to 26⅞. Douglas Aircraft and Boeing eased a point. Martin Airplane was individually higher, aided by news it has a $35,000,000 order for commercial air transports.
Steels reacted large fractions. Chrysler and General Motors trailed about a half point each. Rails drifted lower in dull trading.
First hour volume totaled 350,000 shares.
Chicago grains opened fractionally higher. N. Y. cotton was mixed. Railroad liens as well as U. S. government securities followed a minor downtrend.

Woman Is Barred From Duty On Jury

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—(INS) —A criminal court judge ruled today in Pittsburgh that a woman identified by an FBI undercover agent as a member of the communist party cannot serve on the Allegheny county grand jury.
Judge Michael A. Musmanno dismissed Mrs. Alice C. Roth, 35, of East Pittsburgh as a grand juror on the grounds that she is a communist.
The judge read a scathing denunciation of communism in announcing the dismissal. Spectators in the courtroom stood and applauded when he finished.
Matt Cvetic, who revealed himself as an undercover agent for the FBI and gave considerable testimony on Red activities to the House un-American activities committee, identified Mrs. Roth as "an active communist" after flying to Pittsburgh from Washington at the request of Judge Musmanno.

Business School Thanks Firemen

In addition to the many fine expression of thanks received by the New Castle fire department for their work at the Dean block fire February 25 is one from the New Castle Business college.
The letter from the school follows:
Herman F. Steinbrink, Fire Chief, Central Fire Station.
Dear Chief Steinbrink:
I wish to sincerely thank you and your men for the exceptionally fine job done here at the Dean block when, on the night of February 25, a fire broke out on the second floor. Only through prompt efficient action of the New Castle fire department was a major disaster averted.
For myself and for all the occupants of the Dean block, I say, "Thank You".

Hundreds Will Have Check-Up

Health Inspections Will Start Soon; City Hall News

Hundreds of persons engaged in serving foodstuffs and beverages in hotels, restaurants and cafes, will be required in April to undergo a physical check-up, according to City Health Superintendent Dr. W. A. Womer.
Such examinations are conducted twice annually.
When a person is found in good health he or she is given a health card which must be kept available.
Before any person may be employed in such a capacity he or she must first undergo a health examination.
Cleanliness of such places is looked after by J. K. Heess.
Daily he makes an inspection of restaurants, bar-rooms and cafes.
He examines conditions under which food and drinks are served and also inspects utensils.

Joseph O'Leary, who was elected as city commissioner of highways yesterday by members of council, will assume his new duties, March 15.
Heretofore, the duties have been performed by members of the department, working under the jurisdiction of the director of streets.
Two road machines were in operation this morning, scraping streets.

City Electrician Rex Hughes, and assistant, Monday afternoon, installed a new police alarm box at the corner of North Mill and North streets.
Traffic Policeman Ray Richards is stationed at the intersection during daylight hours because of the heavy traffic flow.
On several occasions his duty has required him to use a police box but he has had to use a private telephone, or walk blocks to use a city police call box.

City Assessor George Patterson has placed on the assessment books all new properties which are under roof ,and as a result the city will received several hundred dollars in taxation for the year 1950.
Up until the time the roof is put on, the places are partly assessed.

Several speeders were arrested by city police in various districts yesterday. According to a check of parking tickets distributed there has been apparently no let-up in police efforts to control the parking situation.
The drive against speeders and parking meter violators is yet on.

Several days after March 15, the city finance officers will learn how much money in wage tax the city has collected for the past 12 months. According to a statement issued some time ago, the city will realize the amount estimated by surveyors of the Local Institute of Municipal Government of Penn State College.

So far no word as to what Martin P. Berger, Youngstown, owner of the old city building at East and East Washington street, proposes to do with the structure has been forthcoming. Parking meters have been installed along the building in East street.

Watchmen employed by the city to protect sled-riders from accident, have had an easy year—with very little pay, because there has been only a few snowfalls which afforded sledding. The ice at Mahoning rink is also unsafe. The Scott street "rink" was not used throughout the past winter.

Should present moderate weather continue, it is probable that Parks Director Joseph F. Medure will assign several laborers to begin a clean-up of Cascade Park—which is an annual task. As yet the park commission has not visited the city's recreation center.

Clean up week will come in April, according to Health Director Richard I. Davis. He said today he will announce the week in the near future. It is anticipated that property-owners, and renters, will celan away debris which collected during cold months. The city will only haul tin cans away.

QUAKE SHOCK RECORDED

CLEVELAND, March 7. — (INS) —A "moderate" earthquake about 5,540 miles south of Cleveland was recorded by the John Carroll University seismograph at 9':28:32 p. m. (EST) last night.
Rev. Henry F. Birkenhauer, head of the university's seismology department, said that the two-hour quake was probably off the coast of Chile.

It is estimated that 28 per cent of all accidents happen to leg and foot.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was created in 1908.

New York Stocks

Stock Trading Is Light Today

NEW YORK, March 7.—(INS)—Stock prices declined a point or so in forenoon trading today. Though trading was light, thinness on the bid side widened declines.
Airplane shares were among the heavier issues. Lockheed reacted 1⅞ to 26⅞. Douglas Aircraft and Boeing eased a point. Martin Airplane was individually higher, aided by news it has a $35,000,000 order for commercial air transports.
Steels reacted large fractions. Chrysler and General Motors trailed about a half point each. Rails drifted lower in dull trading.
First hour volume totaled 350,000 shares.

Woman Is Barred From Duty On Jury

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—(INS)—A criminal court judge ruled today in Pittsburgh that a woman identified by an FBI undercover agent as a member of the communist party cannot serve on the Allegheny county grand jury.
Judge Michael A. Musmanno dismissed Mrs. Alice C. Roth, 35, of East Pittsburgh as a grand juror on the grounds that she is a communist.
The judge read a scathing denunciation of communism in announcing the dismissal. Spectators in the courtroom stood and applauded when he finished.
Matt Cvetic, who revealed himself as an undercover agent for the FBI and gave considerable testimony on Red activities to the House un-American activities committee, identified Mrs. Roth as "an active communist" after flying to Pittsburgh from Washington at the request of Judge Musmanno.

Unification Operations Of Joint Chiefs Is Success

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 7—Unification of the Army, Navy and Air Force is a complete success today at the highest level—in the operations of the joint chiefs of staff.

Top defense officials say the joint chiefs are conducting their planning for an atom-bomb war on a more friendly basis and with more mutual confidence than ever before in service history.

The joint chiefs are: Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman; Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army; Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, Navy; and Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force.

Secure Cooperation

Officials say the appointment of Adm. Sherman as Navy Chief of Operations—which placed him on the joint staff—has worked wonders in securing cooperation at the highest military level. Sherman succeeded Adm. Louis Denfeld, who was ousted during a row with civilian defense heads over the Navy's part in future military operations.

All four members of the staff are combat veterans of the second World War. Collins incidentally was associated with Sherman in the early days of the Pacific war while Bradley and Vandenberg all saw service together in the European war. This may account in part for their ability to "play ball" together on the joint staff.

The recent tour of the Pacific by the joint chiefs is said to have done a lot to improve their mutual confidence in each other. All four rode in the same plane and stayed at the same bases.

Bradley is praised for his judicial attitude and his ability to iron out differences. The other three leaders respect his great integrity and boast of his personal friendship.

New Unification

The new "unification" at the top has produced important results. The outstanding agreement was recahed only recently on the "basic concept for the defense of Alaska."

This problem had been a bone of contention for a long time before sherman joined the staff.

Now the joint chiefs are in complete accord on Alaskan defense plans.

One phase is an agreement on construction priorities. Of this it is said, there really is accord when rival services can agree on who will spend how much on what.

Another important decision was reached on control of U. S. warships, while cruising in Japanese waters in event of trouble. Both the Navy's Pacific Commander-in-Chief and Gen Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander in Japan, desired this control. Adm. Sherman conferred with MacArthur and later recommended to the joint chiefs that the General be given that control. It was ordered.

Unification disagreements continue in lower echelons of the Army, Navy and Air Force. These lesser lights are referred to by the joint chiefs as "pick and shovel men" or as Indians." But there is real hope for complete unification in the armed services with the joint chiefs of staff leading the way in "unity."

The kitchen commodity that has increased most in price since prewar years is pepper. Price has increased about 13 times.

Million Dollar Primary Campaign Looming In State

HARRISBURG, March 7.—(INS)—A million dollar primary campaign is shaping up today in Pennsylvania.

Two Republican factions shooting for victory each will have to ante up an estimated quarter million dollars while Democrats will have to dredge up a similar sum.

It's the considered opinion among money raisers of both Republican and Democratic stripe that $250,000 is a "nice round figure" to set when raising money for primary election fights such as are promised in both camps.

The balance of the million dollars will be put up by insurgents bucking slated candidates and by the major parties to settle post election debts which always are on hand at the conclusion of a campaign.

The money is needed to finance not only campaign expenses including the cost of establishing headquarters and employing personnel but for paying the debts incurred by candidates in statewide tours and for retaining party workers.

Six State Areas Have Large Amount Of Unemployment

By ED HAUCK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, March 7.—Unemployment is critical in six major Pennsylvania industrial areas, the state employment service reported today.

Job shortages affect Altoona, the latest addition; Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Schuylkill county, Greensburg and Johnstown.

These areas are emergency because more than 16 per cent of the potential labor force is jobless. Under federal order, sections in the critical class are the first to be granted government work contracts if they have the facilities.

Coal Strike Blamed

The soft coal strike was blamed for part of the job slow-down in several districts but Irvin Wingeard, an analyst for the SES, said "regardlses of the most recent soft coal strike these areas would be in tough shape anyway".

"For example, the anthracite region for about the past 20 years has had less and less need for miners," he said. "Some coal mines have been mined dry while the increased use of other fuels for domesitc use has decreased the demand for hard coal."

The miners' walkout hit Altoona a sharp blow. The brisk upswing in employment early in the year was arrested by the coal strike. More than 5,000 railroad workers were thrown out of work as a secondary result of the coal shortage.
